Vietnamese Pupils Call For Strike

Spearhead Growing Protest Of Diem In Viet Nam Crisis

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Vietnamese students acted today to spearhead a growing protest move against President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime, now functioning on a strongly military basis.

With most Buddhist leaders under arrest, the students took over leadership of the anti-government campaign. They called for a general student strike in the capital and backed up the call with two demonstrations at Saigon University.

Students in Hue, where the Buddhist crisis exploded May 8 with raids on a Buddhist temple, went on strike last week.

Today's demonstrations in the capital violated martial law in effect since Wednesday.

The students acclaimed ex-Foreign Minister Vu Van Mau as their hero in one jostling, cheering display by more than 1,000 demonstrators at the law faculty building, a demonstration with which police did not interfere.

But nearly a score of trucks carrying police poured into the area as 500 students gathered at the science faculty to urge their dean to resign. The meeting was broken up without incident when soldiers, secret police, city police and firemen moved onto the campus.

Mau, who shaved his head like a Buddhist monk's and resigned in protest against government policies toward Buddhists, told his hearers that a faculty delegation called on President Ngo Dinh Diem Friday to demand the release of more than 1,000 Buddhist monks, nuns and students arrested since martial law was proclaimed.

For more than an hour, the

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—The 12-inch escape hole to two of the three trapped miners was enlarged to 26 inches for 30 feet today. The giant drilling rig was halted then briefly while a 30-foot extension bit was added.

When the drill reaches a level around 45 feet it will be stopped again, as planned in advance, while experts decide whether to go the rest of the way with a 24-inch drill or finish with a 17-inch.

The best estimates of those in charge of the rescue work was that it would be early Sunday night—assuming there are no delays—before Henry Throne, 28, and David Fellin, 58, can be brought the 331 feet to the surface.

They and Louis Bova, 42, have been trapped for 11 days—since a cave-in at 9 a.m. Aug. 13. Bova, last reported heard from on Tuesday, is separated from the others by about 25 feet of debris.

A four-inch hole is being drilled in his direction simultaneously with the enlargement of the escape hole.

The 24-inch drill is driven by metal shafts, each 30-feet long. After the drill goes the 30 feet, it is halted while a new extension is screwed in. This takes about 20 to 30 minutes.

The drill reached the 30-foot

2 Miners Keep Up Spirits By Singing

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—David Fellin and Henry Throne, trapped in a mine cave-in 331 feet underground, have been keeping up their spirits by singing songs.

Rescue workers monitoring a communications system that links them with the two men say they have added a new number to their repertoire. The song is the familiar Negro spiritual, "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground."

Auto Hurtles Out End Of Garage And Plunges Into Creek

Three persons were hospitalized early Friday night with injuries suffered in separate West End accidents timed 22 minutes apart, police reported.

A LaCroft woman and a North Canton man are in the Osteopathic Hospital with injuries from collision at 6:12 p.m. at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. and a West End motorist is in City Hospital with injuries suffered when his car ran through the rear end of his garage and dropped about 30 feet into a small creek.

Those hurt and their injuries were:

Treva Goodballet, 45, of Sherwood Ave., "fair" condition at Osteopathic Hospital with a possible skull fracture.

Jack D. Lawrence, 50, of North Canton, "good" at the Osteopathic Hospital with multiple bruises and shock.

Orville Brewer, 53, of 335 W. 9th St., "fair" condition at City Hospital with lacreations of the right eyebrow, left side of the forehead and behind the right ear and abrasions of the left arm. He also was X-rayed for possible skull and chest injuries.

The woman and Lawrence both were being X-rayed this morning at the Osteopathic.

Robert J. Wagner, 26, of 1326 N. River Ave., Toronto, was charged with reckless driving and Lawrence was cited for driving without an operator's license after the collision, police said.

Lawrence told officers he was headed south on Lisbon St. about 25 miles an hour and started to pull onto the freeway ramp with a green signal when he saw Wagner's approaching eastbound auto. The Stark County resident in whose car the woman was a passenger said he attempted to turn out of the path but was unable to avoid Wagner.

The Toronto man told police he glanced up at the signal and when he looked down saw Lawrence's 1962 sedan. Wagner said he applied his brakes but skidded into the other car.

The entire front of Wagner's 1961 sedan was damaged along with the right front panel and door of Lawrence's car, police said.

Officers said they were unable to question Brewer about the accident in which he was injured.

The investigation showed his 1957 station wagon went through the rear of the garage and plunged about 30 feet into a small run, police said.

Three East Berliners Make Escape To West

BERLIN (AP) — Three East Berliners overpowered two Communist border guards, stripped them of their submachine guns and escaped to West Berlin, reliable sources said today.

One of the Red guards recovered his weapon and fired after the refugees, but missed. The escape was made Friday night.

As far as can be determined, this was the first time that refugees had attacked guards before scaling the Berlin Wall.

3 Proposals Made

Alternative Plan Due For St. Clair

State Highway Department officials were asked to provide cost estimates on three alternative proposals for reconstruction of St. Clair Ave. at a conference Friday in Columbus between two deputy highway directors and a delegation of city officials.

Two of the proposals on which the state is expected to forward estimates next week call for reconstruction from Riverview Cemetery to the north city limits, a reduction of about 1,800 feet from the original plan to begin the project at Princeton Ave.

THE DEPUTY directors agreed to provide the cost estimates on both a 36-foot pavement and a 28-foot roadway for the new length, which would be approximately 6,700 feet.

They also were asked to estimate the cost of a 28-foot pavement for the original length of 8,500 feet starting at Princeton Ave.

The highway department will prepare the estimated costs after Glaus, Pyle & Schomer of Youngstown, consulting engineers for the city, who prepared the original estimate, submit a revision of the quantities of materials required for both the shorter length and the narrower width of the roadway.

The estimates will be forwarded so Council and the administration can explore possibilities to revive the project, which was stalled because of an increase of nearly $250,000 in the state's estimate for the original plan and its insistence that the city guarantee that its 50 per cent share —$423,393—is available.

THE CONFERENCE brought together Ross Schultz, deputy director of design and construction, and M. R. Wilson, deputy director for planning and programming in the central office, and Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Safety - Service Director Robert Owen, City Engineer George S. Bloomgren and Councilmen Kenneth Berg, chairman, and Floyd Murray of Council's streets committee. Representatives of Glaus, Plye & Schomer also attended.

In discussing the wide variance between the state's estimate of $846,780 and the $604,000 figure estimated by the city's consulting engineers, the two highway officials cited several items in which estimates varied widely.

The state estimated concrete paving would cost about $37,000 more than the city's estimate with the two directors pointing out the city figured the cost at $6.07 per square yard while state estimated concrete at about a dollar more.

THE DEPARTMENT also estimated the cost of excavation at $1.30 per cubic yard against the city estimate of 75 cents, the officials said.

There also was about a 25 per cent increase in the cost of larger-size pipe to be used in the complete storm sewer system to be installed, they pointed out.

As an example, the city figured 27-inch pipe at $11.89 a foot while the state estimated the cost between $15 and $16.

The state also estimated construction engineering at $69,000, a figure which city officials said they believe is too high.

If Council and the administration decide on a 28-foot pavement, it would mean new approval from the Federal Bureau of Public Roads would be required.

AND THE FEDERAL agency indicated several months ago that it would not participate in any project calling for less than a 36-foot roadway.

Crock With $655 In Gold Coins Unearthed In Salem

SALEM — "It got dark and we had to quit. We plan to go back and dig some more tomorrow."

That's what Mrs. Owen Glassburn, a minister's wife, said after a crock containing gold coins with a face value of $655 was unearthed Friday on her husband's property here.

The coins—$5, $10 and $20 denominations—were found with the aid of a bulldozer belonging to a neighbor of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Hutchinson, who rent the property.

The site of the cache was a shed that the Rev. Glassburn had torn down.

The coins were in a rusty metal box inside the crock, about a foot underground.

"The book price of the coins is a minimum of $2,175," said Mrs. Glassburn, a coin collector. "The oldest coin is a $20 gold piece—with an 1850 date on it. The latest is a $5 gold piece dated 1905."

"It was a thrilling experience," said the Rev. Glassburn, who is minister of the First Friends' Church in Alliance. "But it didn't compare with the thrill I got 30 years ago when I discovered Jesus Christ as my Lord and Saviour."

The coins were turned over to the custody of police, temporarily.

It was the second unearthing of treasure in Ohio in a week. A total of $638.592 in U. S. currency was dug up at the Altman Mills feed plant near Troy. It belonged to R. S. Altman, late owner of the plant.

"When we bought the house," Mrs. Glassburn said, "the owner said kind of quiet-like that a man who used to live there had buried gold in the barn and gone to California. When he came back, the seller said, he lost his bearings and couldn't find the gold. The man told a relative about it on his death bed, according to the seller."

The Rev. Glassburn is scheduled to preach his farewell sermon Sunday. He will move to Marion, Ind. Monday to do public relations work for the World Gospel Mission there.

News stories of the big find of buried cash in Troy, Ohio, earlier in the week prompted the Glassburns to look for the hidden coins, Mrs. Glassburn said.

Retired Navy Officer Backs Test Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. George W. Anderson Jr., recently retired chief of naval operations, has given qualified support to the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

Like his former colleagues on the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Anderson, now ambassador to Portugal, conditioned his approval on certain safeguards.

"He said we must remain vigilant, strong and maintain our system of military alliances and bases," Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., reported after Anderson testified Friday in secret to the Senate Preparedness subcommittee. The testimony will be made public after Pentagon censorship.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, meanwhile, completed two weeks of hearings on the proposed ban on all but underground blasts, and Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said testimony may be completed next week. "But I'm not certain this can be done," he said.

Jackson, who presided at the preparedness subcommittee hearing, has been demanding a blueprint on safeguards. He said in an

Dirksen Sees Senate Okay Of Aid Slash

President Assails $585 Million Cut Approved By House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois predicted today the Senate may sustain a $585-million foreign aid cut voted by the House, a slash President Kennedy called "short-sighted, irresponsible and dangerously partisan."

Kennedy spoke out grimly at a special White House news conference Friday shortly after a coalition of House Republicans and conservative Democrats rolled up a 222-188 vote to slice that amount out of what had been a $4.1-billion authorization measure.

The House then quickly passed the bill on a 224-186 vote and sent it to the Senate with a $3.5-billion ceiling. This was $1 billion short of the amount Kennedy requested.

Asserting that House Republicans had abandoned bipartisanship, Kennedy appealed to both parties in the Senate to boost the authorization so that the House will have a chance to reconsider its "irresponsible, unwarranted and unwise action" when it is offered a compromise.

Dirksen said in an interview the temper of the country is such that he thinks the Senate may sustain the cut.

"The overriding thing behind the House's action is that we have been giving assistance of some kind for 19 years at an investment of more than $100 billion and the country is getting fed up on foreign aid," the Illinois senator said.

"The country is vocal on this matter and when it is coupled with reckless federal spending, it is doubly vocal. Members of Con-

Showers Due To End Tonight, Then Cooler

Wouldn't you know it—only a couple more weekends before Labor Day and this one is to start out with showers then turning cooler.

The forecast is for scattered thundershowers today and ending tonight, followed by partial clearing. Sunday will be partly cloudy and cool.

The day's high temperature will range between 68 and 77 and tonight's will be in the low 50's, quite a comedown from the 64 registered in the downtown at 6 a.m.

Labor Day Sept. 2 traditionally ends the summer season although autumn doesn't arrive officially until Sept. 23.

Homeworth Boy Repeats As Champ Steer Owner

LISBON — James Steed, 16, of Homeworth, earned $768 for his grand champion 1,200-pound Black Angus Steer Friday night at the annual 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America steer auction at the Columbiana County Fair.

The heaviest steer of the 59 sold, it brought 64 cents a pound.

It was a repeat performance for Jim, whose 1962 champion brought a record 78 cents per pound.

Second in line was Jim's brother, Robert Steed, 15, whose 900-pound reserve champion lifted the bidding to 65 cents to the delight of the owner and spectators. His steer brought $585.

Superior Packing Co. bought the champion for Billingsley's Foodland at Calcutta, and Sugardale Provision bought the reserve champ for Mason's IGA Foodliner at Wellsville.

Both steers were from the herd of Frank Mills of Pattersonville, who had a check for both boys. They received other honors. Jim won the rate of gain trophy—a rare thing for the grand champ, which gained 2.33 pounds per day, and Bob placed second in beef showmanship earlier in the day. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steed of S. Bandy Rd., and are juniors at West Branch High School.

The total sales for the steers raised by the 4-H and FFA members in the past year amounted to $15,804 for an average price of 29.4 cents per pound, compared to 30.6 cents last year. Last year's total was $15.417 for 56 steers. Glenn Shreve of Damascus was sales manager and Hubert Amos of Scio auctioneer.

In the horse and pony judging yesterday, winners were:

Draft Ponies — John Checkak, North Jackson, four firsts; Dale R. Burt, Columbiana R. D. 2, one first; James H. Mine Owner Ignores Cost Of Drilling

OLD FORGE, Pa. (AP) — The voice was deep, firm, sincere, modest.

"We have no idea what it's going to cost. We don't know who's going to pay. We don't care. No one ever talks money. The only thing at stake is the men."

Louis Pagnotti, 69, who rose from a mule driver in the mines in 1910 to become president of Pagnotti Enterprises Inc., and the Sullivan Trail Coal Co., was talking.

Pagnotti is underwriting the cost of a massive drilling operation to rescue Dave Fellin and Hank Throne, two of three miners trapped 331 feet underground in nearby Sheppton. The fate of the third miner, Louis Bova, who is separated from the other two, remains uncertain.

Helping people is nothing new to Pagnotti, who has moved his equipment into towns to help in snowstorms and other emergencies without reimbursement.

"It isn't only me," he says modestly. "Everyone does it.

Vietnamese Pupils Call For Strike

Spearhead Growing Protest Of Diem In Viet Nam Crisis

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Vietnamese students acted today to spearhead a growing protest move against President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime, now functioning on a strongly military basis.

With most Buddhist leaders under arrest, the students took over leadership of the anti-government campaign. They called for a general student strike in the capital and backed up the call with two demonstrations at Saigon University.

Students in Hue, where the Buddhist crisis exploded May 8 with raids on a Buddhist temple, went on strike last week.

Today's demonstrations in the capital violated martial law in effect since Wednesday.

The students acclaimed ex-Foreign Minister Vu Van Mau as their hero in one jostling, cheering display by more than 1,000 demonstrators at the law faculty building, a demonstration with which police did not interfere.

But nearly a score of trucks carrying police poured into the area as 500 students gathered at the science faculty to urge their dean to resign. The meeting was broken up without incident when soldiers, secret police, city police and firemen moved onto the campus.

Mau, who shaved his head like a Buddhist monk's and resigned in protest against government policies toward Buddhists, told his hearers that a faculty delegation called on President Ngo Dinh Diem Friday to demand the release of more than 1,000 Buddhist monks, nuns and students arrested since martial law was proclaimed.

Asserting that House Republicans had abandoned bipartisanship, Kennedy appealed to both parties in the Senate to boost the authorization so that the House will have a chance to reconsider its "irresponsible, unwarranted and unwise action" when it is offered a compromise.

Dirksen said in an interview the temper of the country is such that he thinks the Senate may sustain the cut.

"The overriding thing behind the House's action is that we have been giving assistance of some kind for 19 years at an investment of more than $100 billion and the country is getting fed up on foreign aid," the Illinois senator said.

"The country is vocal on this matter and when it is coupled with reckless federal spending, it is doubly vocal. Members of Con-

Showers Due To End Tonight, Then Cooler

Wouldn't you know it—only a couple more weekends before Labor Day and this one is to start out with showers then turning cooler.

The forecast is for scattered thundershowers today and ending tonight, followed by partial clearing. Sunday will be partly cloudy and cool.

The day's high temperature will range between 68 and 77 and tonight's will be in the low 50's, quite a comedown from the 64 registered in the downtown at 6 a.m.

Labor Day Sept. 2 traditionally ends the summer season although autumn doesn't arrive officially until Sept. 23.

Animal's Sale Brings $768

Homeworth Boy Repeats As Champ Steer Owner

LISBON — James Steed, 16, of Homeworth, earned $768 for his grand champion 1,200-pound Black Angus Steer Friday night at the annual 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America steer auction at the Columbiana County Fair.

The heaviest steer of the 59 sold, it brought 64 cents a pound.

It was a repeat performance for Jim, whose 1962 champion brought a record 78 cents per pound.

Second in line was Jim's brother, Robert Steed, 15, whose 900-pound reserve champion lifted the bidding to 65 cents to the delight of the owner and spectators. His steer brought $585.

Superior Packing Co. bought the champion for Billingsley's Foodland at Calcutta, and Sugardale Provision bought the reserve champ for Mason's IGA Foodliner at Wellsville.

Both steers were from the herd of Frank Mills of Pattersonville, who had a check for both boys. They received other honors. Jim won the rate of gain trophy—a rare thing for the grand champ, which gained 2.33 pounds per day, and Bob placed second in beef showmanship earlier in the day.

They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steed of S. Bandy Rd., and are juniors at West Branch High School.

The total sales for the steers raised by the 4-H and FFA members in the past year amounted to $15,804 for an average price of 29.4 cents per pound, compared to 30.6 cents last year. Last year's total was $15,417 for 56 steers. Glenn Shreve of Damascus was sales manager and Hubert Amos of Scio auctioneer.

In the horse and pony judging yesterday, winners were:

Draft Ponies — John Checkak, North Jackson, four firsts; Dale R. Burt, Columbiana R. D. 2, one first; James H. Fries, New Waterford, one first; Clarence Cope, New Waterford, two firsts; Burkett Pony Farm, Canfield three firsts; James W. McLaughlin, Salem R. D. 2, one first, and Wayne M. Shaft Being Enlarged At One Section

Caution Prevails; Fate Of Third Man Remains Uncertain

By JAMES V. LAMB
Associated Press Staff Writer

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—The 12-inch escape hole to two of the three trapped miners was enlarged to 26 inches for 30 feet today. The giant drilling rig was halted then briefly while a 30-foot extension bit was added.

When the drill reaches a level around 45 feet it will be stopped again, as planned in advance, while experts decide whether to go the rest of the way with a 24-inch drill or finish with a 17-inch.

The best estimates of those in charge of the rescue work was that it would be early Sunday night—assuming there are no delays—before Henry Throne, 28, and David Fellin, 58, can be brought the 331 feet to the surface.

They and Louis Bova, 42, have been trapped for 11 days—since a cave-in at 9 a.m. Aug. 13. Bova, last reported heard from on Tuesday, is separated from the others by about 25 feet of debris.

A four-inch hole is being drilled in his direction simultaneously with the enlargement of the escape hole.

The 24-inch drill is driven by metal shafts, each 30-feet long. After the drill goes the 30 feet, it is halted while a new extension is screwed in. This takes about 20 to 30 minutes.

The drill reached the 30-foot

2 Miners Keep Up Spirits By Singing

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—David Fellin and Henry Throne, trapped in a mine cave-in 331 feet underground, have been keeping up their spirits by singing songs.

Rescue workers monitoring a communications system that links them with the two men say they have added a new number to their repertoire. The song is the familiar Negro spiritual, "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground."

Mine Owner Ignores Cost Of Drilling

OLD FORGE, Pa. (AP) — The voice was deep, firm, sincere, modest.

"We have no idea what it's going to cost. We don't know who's going to pay. We don't care. No one ever talks money. The only thing at stake is the men."

Louis Pagnotti, 69, who rose from a mule driver in the mines in 1910 to become president of Pagnotti Enterprises Inc., and the Sullivan Trail Coal Co., was talking.

Pagnotti is underwriting the cost of a massive drilling operation to rescue Dave Fellin and Hank Throne, two of three miners trapped 331 feet underground in nearby Sheppton. The fate of the third miner, Louis Bova, who is separated from the other two, remains uncertain.

Helping people is nothing new to Pagnotti, who has moved his equipment into towns to help in snowstorms and other emergencies without reimbursement.

"It isn't only me," he says modestly. "Everyone does it.

Parade Tuesday To Open Hancock Centennial Fair

The Hancock County Centennial Fair, sponsored jointly by the New Cumberland Lions Club and the County Centennial Committee, will open Tuesday night with a parade in the county seat at 6.

Featuring exhibits, entertainment and fair activities, the event will run through Labor Day, Sept. 2.

The parade will form in the upper part of New Cumberland and proceed down Chester St. to Ridge Ave. and 2nd Ave., then to the athletic field for ribbon-cutting ceremonies marking the official opening.

Miss Myrna McSwegin, county centennial queen, will cut the ribbon. She was chosen queen last November at Weirton, from among 29 participants.

The newly - organized Oak Glen High School Band will lead the parade, appearing in New Cumberland for the first time.

The Lions Club has arranged a varied program, including rides, music, entertainment and food. Workers at the fair will dress in old-fashioned costumes of 100 years ago to call attention to the state's 100th anniversary.

The fairgrounds will not be open Sunday, but a community hymn sing will be held at the Trinity Methodist Church on Ridge Ave., sponsored jointly by the fair committee and the Ministerial Association.

Here is the schedule of activities:

Tuesday, dedicated to industry, parade at 6:45 p. m., performance by the Weirton Steel Male Chorus at 8:30.

Wednesday, dedicated to education, concert by the Weir High School Band at 8, talks on education by representatives of Bethany and West Liberty State Colleges between 9 and 10, and guitar music by Park Hill at 9:30.

Thursday, dedicated to youth, teen - time featuring "Mr. J," disc jockey at 8 p. m., the "Princeton's" at 9, and the "Continental's" of Chester at 10.

Friday, dedicated to government, performance by the American Federation of Musicians at 8, and the Evans Sisters at 9:30.

Saturday, Aug. 31, dedicated to homecoming and agriculture, a pet show at 2, square dance with the Hilltoppers providing music at 8, opening of an art exhibit at Swaney Memorial Library at 8 and a "Gay Nineties Revue" at 9:30.

Sunday, Sept. 1, dedicated to religion and art, art exhibit of "Nine West Virginians" from 2 to 5, and a community hymn sing at Trinity Methodist Church at 8.

Monday, Sept. 2, dedicated to labor, doll show at 1:30, art exhibit open from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9, field meet at 2, concert by the Oak Glen Band at 8, pantomime acts by Nila Jo Bailey of Newell at 9, and the "Best of Weirton" talent show at 10.

On exhibit during the fair will be antiques, vegetables and fruits, farm antiques, wildlife of West Virginia, telephones of the future, flowers and industrial displays.

The antique exhibit in the library will be from Tuesday to Aug. 31, inclusive, while the telemobile progress of telephone to Telstar satellite exhibit will be on display from Tuesday to Aug. 30, inclusive. The other exhibits will be open the entire fair.

The "Fun With Flowers" booth will be open for the third year in a row. Many dried and fresh flower arrangements will be displayed. Anyone in the area may bring arrangements for the display at any time, sponsors said. Two prizes will be given each night.

Lions Club Seeks 2 More Bowlers

Two more bowlers are needed before East Liverpool can enter a team in a proposed Lions Bowling League, Donald T. Duke, chairman, reported at the local club's meeting Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

Duke said the league would be composed of clubs in area communities and would bowl at the Terrace Lanes near Chester.

John T. Smith, president, announced a zone meeting will be held Sept. 10 in Lisbon. Because of Labor Day, the monthly Board of Directors meeting will be held Sept. 3 at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. office, he said.

Jack Gilbert of Athens, secretary of the Ohio University Alumni Association, was unable to address the club as planned, his father-in-law, Lloyd E. Gille, program chairman, announced.

Ohio Man Is Sought In Chicago Bank Loss

CHICAGO (AP) — A former Ohioan is being sought in connection with the possible loss of $200,000 at the National Bank of Hyde Park on Chicago's South Side.

He is Estley Maglott, 32, assistant vice president in charge of the consumer loan division. He formerly worked for the Richland Trust Co. in Mansfield, Ohio.

John F. McKnight, president of the Chicago bank, said irregularities were found in Maglott's accounts and added that the exact amount of the loss has not been determined.

Bank officials said, however, that a loss as high as $200,000 is a possibility. The FBI has joined in the search for Maglott.

Bowling is the No. 1 participant sport indoors, without doubt, and it is fast closing in on fishing and boating.

Conference OKs Resolution On U.S. Amendments

HONOLULU (AP) — Southern and Midwestern delegates to the National Legislative Conference pushed through a middle-of-the-road resolution on proposed U.S. constitutional amendments Friday night. They hailed it as a means to avoid a breakup of the organization.

The resolution at the closing session neither supported nor opposed the three proposed amendments aimed at curbing federal powers. It left it up to individual states to act on them as they see fit.

The resolution had the effect of beating down strong attempts to put the conference on record against the amendments. State Sen. Frank King of Ohio, a Democrat, was a leader of the unsuccessful faction.

The Ohio delegation was in the minority as the middle-road resolution passed, 26-16.

Many Ohio Jobless Seen Lacking Training

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Many of some 40,000 unemployed Ohioans are high school graduates with a potential for success in fields for which they lack training, the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation says.

The BUC's Employment Service Division reports its records show 23,016 men and 16,832 women in the so-called "entry occupation" group. Many of these are high school graduates and should be successful in specified types of jobs if given the opoprtunity, the report says.

Other figures showed 155,786 Ohioans seeking employment through the six facilities of the division, 97,300 men and 58,486 women.

861 Traffic Deaths Listed In 6 Months

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Department of Highway Safety says traffic deaths in Ohio the first six months of this year totaled 831 compared with 861 a year ago.

But there were more accidents and injuries during the period, the department reports.

There were 75,932 accidents compared to 68,626 last year and 42,273 persons hurt compared with 39,545 injured in the first six months of 1962.

Police Hunt Train Loot In Girl's Home

LONDON (AP)—Police searched the home of a blonde beauty queen today and held one of her boy friends for questioning in their hunt for loot from Britain's great train robbery.

The boy friend, a 32-year-old London hairdresser whose name has been withheld, was picked up in a Leicester hotel, questioned for several hours, then taken to Aylesburz, the Buckinghamshire town which is headquarters for the search.

He is the eighth person held since a smooth-working gang ambushed a Glasgow-to-London night mail train on Aug. 8 and made off with more than 2,600,000 pounds ($7,280,000).

Police searched the home of Margaret Perkins, a blue-eyed 19-year-old, after she had spent an evening celebrating with the man now held.

On Wednesday she won a beauty competition in Manchester.

Meanwhile, a nationwide hunt was on for 28-year-old Roy John James, auto racing driver known as "The Weasel."

James's car was entered for events at Goodwood circuit south of London. On Thursday he put up the fastest practice lap of 95 miles an hour but he failed to show for final practice Friday.

Scotland Yard's flying squad seized one of James's racing cars and questioned staff at the south London garage where his cars were kept.

U.S. Envoy Cited For Mingling In Argentina Affairs

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A powerful Preonist labor union and a Socialist congressman have accused U. S. Ambassador Robert McClintock of meddling in Argentina's internal affairs.

The attack was prompted by McClintock's comments about the controversial oil contracts between Argentina and foreign governments. Many Argentines want the contracts voided or revised.

Asked by newsmen to comment on the contracts after he conferred with president-elect Arturo Illia, the ambassador said "I believe that any contracts between American companies and the Argentine government, or for that matter between our two governments, to be lasting, must contain the essential element of benefit to both sides."

Socialist congressman Alfredo Palacios conferred with Illia Friday night, then told newsmen "the petroleum question is none of his (McClintock's) business."

Harassments Cited By Owner Of Plant

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — D. Glenn Kirkpatrick, manager of the strikebound Zanesville plant of Gould National Batteries, Inc., called the smashing of windows at his home Friday "the latest in a series of harassments."

Vandals threw pieces of concrete through four windows at Kirkpatrick's home but no one was injured. He estimated damage at $150.

Kirkpatrick did not elaborate on what he meant by a series of harassments. Pickets have been at the plant since the walkout started 10 weeks ago, but no violence had been reported officially.

Members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers struck to support their demands for a new contract in Gould plants in several cities.

The committee already has voted to reduce by $300 million Kennedy's $4.5-billion request. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., has demanded reconsideration of these cuts in an effort to make a 25 per cent over-all reduction.

Kennedy blamed the Republicans for the House action. Noting he had supported foreign aid as a senator during the Republican administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower, he said: "This year is the first time that the leadership of one party led the attack on it."

Republican House leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and other GOP chieftains supported the cut. On the roll call, 66 Democrats and 156 Republicans wielded the ax. On the losing side were 172 Democrats and 16 Republicans.

Kennedy's original foreign aid authorization request was $4.9 billion. He trimmed the figure to $4.5 billion after reductions were suggested by a presidential advisory committee headed by retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee pared the authorization to $4.1 billion.

Ohio Elks Make $3,600 Awards In Scholarships

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Elks Association, holding its fall conference here today, announced an additional $3,600 in scholarships to Ohio students.

Sharing in the awards were Jeffrey Paul Kalin, Painesville; Marilyn Ruth Heistand, Hillsboro; Dennis Donald Phillips, Warren; Lawrence Donald Gall, Lakewood; Robert Lee Moats, Lima, and Diana Elizabeth Bosley of Parma.

Each received a $600 grant to attend the college of their choice. The gifts were made through the Elks National Foundation. Ohio Elks previously had granted $10,000 in scholarship and youth leadership awards in April.

In other activities, the Elks set the dates for the association's annual golf tournament for Sept. 21-22 at Oakhurst and Stoney Creek country clubs in Columbus.

Women's Journalism Group Sets Election

CLEVELAND (AP) — Theta Sigma Phi, national organization for women in journalism, elects officers today at its 31st annual convention, which ends with a banquet tonight.

Two delegates to the convention talked with two women in London Friday via Telstar II. The transatlantic conversation was one of the highlights of the three-day convention.

Following the 15-minute conversation, marred by static, Claude M. Blair of New York, vice president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., told the convention delegates that satellite communications hold out promise for what he called the new look in communications.

No. 1 Police Problem Seen As Drunkenness

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Arrests for drunkenness and drunken driving have become the nation's No. 1 police and law enforcement problem, an official of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union declared today.

Mrs. H. F. Powell of Evanston, Ill., the National WCTU's treasurer, told delegates to the union's 89th convention that 1,809,821 arrests on the two charges last year exceeded those in any other single or related classification.

Driver, Wife, Child Injured

Weirton police charged a New Cumberland area father with driving while intoxicated after his car overturned on State Route 2 Friday night, injuring the driver, his wife, and a 6-month-old son.

Three other young children escaped unhurt in the mishap at 10:53 north of Weirton.

Robert E. Nally, 31, of R. D. 1 told officers the brakes of his auto locked as he drove north on State Route 2 near the Kings Creek Bridge. The car crossed the highway, struck an embankment and overturned.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Nally, 26, suffered lacerations of the forehead and left leg and thigh, while a son, Kenneth, 6-months, sustained abrasions and bruises. Both were in "good" condition today at Weirton General Hospital.

Nally was treated at the hospital for a lacerated eyebrow and released.

The three other children, Robert, 3; Deborah, 5, and Ronald 1, were examined at the hospital but found unhurt.

A passing motorist spotted the overturned auto and took the injured to the hospital.

Actress Denies She Attempted To Kill Herself

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress-singer Joan O'Brien, trying to regain custody of her two children, has denied claims she tried three times to commit suicide.

The alleged attempts were described in affidavits filed by two former husbands who now have custody of the children.

Miss O'Brien testified in Superior Court Friday that in alleged suicide attempts last April 16 in Las Vegas and in 1957 she took only tranquilizers and "did what appeared to look like an attempted suicide, but was not."

She also denied a suicide attempt when she cut her wrist with a razor after being hospitalized in Las Vegas.

She said she faked the attempts to gain sympathy.

Miss O'Brien's first husband, singer William Strange, 32, now has custody of their son, Russell Glenn, 7. Her second husband, television executive John F. Myer, 41, has custody of their daughter, Melissa Ann, 5.

In a separate action, Miss O'Brien, 27, is seeking a divorce from her third husband, actor Harvey Allen, 31. The couple married five months ago in Las Vegas.

Actress On Probation In Narcotics Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Marie McDonald has been placed on three years' probation on charges of forging prescriptions for a pain-killing drug.

Her attorneys described her in court Friday as "an average housewife and said that she used the drug—percodan—only to kill the pain of an ulcer.

She was arrested after narcotics agents said they found that she had forged a doctor's name to two prescriptions for the drug, which is classified as dangerous and possibly habit forming, but not a narcotic. The sentence also covered a charge of illegal possession of the drug.

Superior Judge Donald R. Wright also fined Miss McDonald $250.

Comedian, 30, Gets Released From Jail

CHICAGO (AP) — Comedian Dick Gregory, who spent 12 days in jail because he refused to sign his name to a recognizance bond on a disorderly conduct charge, Aug. 12, was released Friday by Municipal Court Judge Ben Schwartz.

The 30-year-old Negro comedian and several other men were arrested on the south side where Negroes and whites were picketing the site of mobile classrooms.

Gregory said he refused to sign a recognizance bond because he would not "sign a bond for a crime I didn't commit."

"That's in the business," he said. "It's all right. Like anything else in the business you got to pay if anything happens."

Indonesia Fund Given OK Over Leftist Protest

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesia's parliament has approved over leftist opposition a record 700 billion rupiah two-year budget that preserves the government's crash economic stabilization program.

The sum represents $15.5 billion at the official rate or $777.7 million of the free-market rate of 900 rupiahs to the dollar.

After parliamentary approval Friday night the official Antara News Agency said economic reform regulations adopted May 26 will be carried out. These included a 300 to 500 per cent increase in public utility rates, a relaxation of rigid price controls to give producers more leeway, and an indirect devaluation of the rupiah to 315 for $1 to provide incentives to producers and exporters.

Red Terrorists Shoot Venezuela Policeman

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) —Pro - Communists terrorists, stepping up direct attacks against the police mowed down a policeman with a machine gun from a speeding car Friday.

The assassination followed the slaying of a policeman Thursday.

Terrorists also were reported to have kidnaped three national police agents in Barquisimeto, a mount village in western Venezuela.

Ohioan Crash Victim

TROY, Kan. (AP)—An Ohioan was among three persons killed in a head-on auto crash west of here Friday. He was Norman C. Worthington, 33, of Rt. 1, St. Paris. His wife, Janet, about 30, and children Dennis, 11, Darlene 10, and Terry, 4, were injured.

Child Injured In Play Fall

A Wellsville child was admitted to City Hospital Friday with injuries received in a fall and six other youngsters were treated.

Venessa Brown, 11-month-old daughter of Donald Brown, 505 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, was in "fair" condition today from injuries received when she fell down steps at home.

Judy Barnett, 13, daughter of Mrs. Mary Barnett, 1118 White St., Wellsville, was treated for injuries in a fall from her bicycle and Christopher Jacobs, 3, son of Homer Jacobs of Madison Heights, was treated for a laceration of the tongue when hit by a swing at play at home.

Timothy Duke, 2, son of Robert Duke, 243 W. 7th St., and Mark Collins, 3, son of Edward Collins, 721 Campbell Rd., Wellsville, had foreign objects removed from the nose.

David Albaneso, 8, son of Joseph Albaneso, 412 Grant St., was treated for a laceration of the left thumb caught in a car door, and Raymond Weyand, 16, son of Glenn Weyand of R. D. 2 injured his left hand.

Frank Jackson, 43, of 1727 Chester Ave., Wellsville, was treated for an injury to the back, which he injured while at work with the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The "Fun With Flowers" booth will be open for the third year in a row. Many dried and fresh flower arrangements will be displayed. Anyone in the area may bring arrangements for the display at any time, sponsors said. Two prizes will be given each night.

Lions Club Seeks 2 More Bowlers

Two more bowlers are needed before East Liverpool can enter a team in a proposed Lions Bowling League, Donald T. Duke, chairman, reported at the local club's meeting Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

Duke said the league would be composed of clubs in area communities and would bowl at the Terrace Lanes near Chester.

John T. Smith, president, announced a zone meeting will be held Sept. 10 in Lisbon. Because of Labor Day, the monthly Board of Directors meeting will be held Sept. 3 at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. office, he said.

Jack Gilbert of Athens, secretary of the Ohio University Alumni Association, was unable to address the club as planned, his father-in-law, Lloyd E. Gille, program chairman, announced.

Ohio Man Is Sought In Chicago Bank Loss

CHICAGO (AP) — A former Ohioan is being sought in connection with the possible loss of $200,000 at the National Bank of Hyde Park on Chicago's South Side.

He is Estley Maglott, 32, assistant vice president in charge of the consumer loan division. He formerly worked for the Richland Trust Co. in Mansfield, Ohio.

John F. McKnight, president of the Chicago bank, said irregularities were found in Maglott's accounts and added that the exact amount of the loss has not been determined.

Bank officials said, however, that a loss as high as $200,000 is a possibility. The FBI has joined in the search for Maglott.

Bowling is the No. 1 participant sport indoors, without doubt, and it is fast closing in on fishing and boating.

Conference OKs Resolution On U.S. Amendments

HONOLULU (AP) — Southern and Midwestern delegates to the National Legislative Conference pushed through a middle-of-the-road resolution on proposed U.S. constitutional amendments Friday night. They hailed it as a means to avoid a breakup of the organization.

The resolution at the closing session neither supported nor opposed the three proposed amendments aimed at curbing federal powers. It left it up to individual states to act on them as they see fit.

The resolution had the effect of beating down strong attempts to put the conference on record against the amendments. State Sen. Frank King of Ohio, a Democrat, was a leader of the unsuccessful faction.

The Ohio delegation was in the minority as the middle-road resolution passed, 26-16.

Ohio's Members In Congress On Recent Voting

WASHINGTON (AP)—How Ohio members of Congress were recorded as voting on recent roll calls:

Many Ohio Jobless Seen Lacking Training

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Many of some 40,000 unemployed Ohioans are high school graduates with a potential for success in fields for which they lack training, the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation says.

The BUC's Employment Service Division reports its records show 23,016 men and 16,832 women in the so-called "entry occupation" group. Many of these are high school graduates and should be successful in specified types of jobs if given the opoprtunity, the report says.

Other figures showed 155,786 Ohioans seeking employment through the six facilities of the division, 97,300 men and 58,486 women.

861 Traffic Deaths Listed In 6 Months

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Department of Highway Safety says traffic deaths in Ohio the first six months of this year totaled 831 compared with 861 a year ago.

But there were more accidents and injuries during the period, the department reports.

There were 75,932 accidents compared to 68,626 last year and 42,273 persons hurt compared with 39,545 injured in the first six months of 1962.

Driver Fatally Hurt In Stock Car Race

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — A stock car catapulted out of a pile-up at the South Bend Motor Speedway Friday night, fatally injuring the driver.

Police Hunt Train Loot In Girl's Home

LONDON (AP)—Police searched the home of a blonde beauty queen today and held one of her boy friends for questioning in their hunt for loot from Britain's great train robbery.

The boy friend, a 32-year-old London hairdresser whose name has been withheld, was picked up in a Leicester hotel, questioned for several hours, then taken to Aylesburz, the Buckinghamshire town which is headquarters for the search.

He is the eighth person held since a smooth-working gang ambushed a Glasgow-to-London night mail train on Aug. 8 and made off with more than 2,600,000 pounds ($7,280,000).

Police searched the home of Margaret Perkins, a blue-eyed 19-year-old, after she had spent an evening celebrating with the man now held.

On Wednesday she won a beauty competition in Manchester.

Meanwhile, a nationwide hunt was on for 28-year-old Roy John James, auto racing driver known as "The Weasel."

James's car was entered for events at Goodwood circuit south of London. On Thursday he put up the fastest practice lap of 95 miles an hour but he failed to show for final practice Friday.

Scotland Yard's flying squad seized one of James's racing cars and questioned staff at the south London garage where his cars were kept.

U.S. Envoy Cited For Mingling In Argentina Affairs

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A powerful Preonist labor union and a Socialist congressman have accused U. S. Ambassador Robert McClintock of meddling in Argentina's internal affairs.

The attack was prompted by McClintock's comments about the controversial oil contracts between Argentina and foreign governments. Many Argentines want the contracts voided or revised.

Asked by newsmen to comment on the contracts after he conferred with president-elect Arturo Illia, the ambassador said "I believe that any contracts between American companies and the Argentine government, or for that matter between our two governments, to be lasting, must contain the essential element of benefit to both sides."

Socialist congressman Alfredo Palacios conferred with Illia Friday night, then told newsmen "the petroleum question is none of his (McClintock's) business."

Harassments Cited By Owner Of Plant

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — D. Glenn Kirkpatrick, manager of the strikebound Zanesville plant of Gould National Batteries, Inc., called the smashing of windows at his home Friday "the latest in a series of harassments."

Vandals threw pieces of concrete through four windows at Kirkpatrick's home but no one was injured. He estimated damage at $150.

Kirkpatrick did not elaborate on what he meant by a series of harassments. Pickets have been at the plant since the walkout started 10 weeks ago, but no violence had been reported officially.

Members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers struck to support their demands for a new contract in Gould plants in several cities.

gress have been hearing from their people."

The committee already has voted to reduce by $300 million Kennedy's $4.5-billion request. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., has demanded reconsideration of these cuts in an effort to make a 25 per cent over-all reduction.

Kennedy blamed the Republicans for the House action. Noting he had supported foreign aid as a senator during the Republican administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower, he said: "This year is the first time that the leadership of one party led the attack on it."

Republican House leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and other GOP chieftains supported the cut. On the roll call, 66 Democrats and 156 Republicans wielded the ax. On the losing side were 172 Democrats and 16 Republicans.

Kennedy's original foreign aid authorization request was $4.9 billion. He trimmed the figure to $4.5 billion after reductions were suggested by a presidential advisory committee headed by retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee pared the authorization to $4.1 billion.

Ohio Elks Make $3,600 Awards In Scholarships

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Elks Association, holding its fall conference here today, announced an additional $3,600 in scholarships to Ohio students.

Sharing in the awards were Jeffrey Paul Kalin, Painesville; Marilyn Ruth Heistand, Hillsboro; Dennis Donald Phillips, Warren; Lawrence Donald Gall, Lakewood; Robert Lee Moats, Lima, and Diana Elizabeth Bosley of Parma.

Each received a $600 grant to attend the college of their choice. The gifts were made through the Elks National Foundation. Ohio Elks previously had granted $10,000 in scholarship and youth leadership awards in April.

In other activities, the Elks set the dates for the association's annual golf tournament for Sept. 21-22 at Oakhurst and Stoney Creek country clubs in Columbus.

Women's Journalism Group Sets Election

CLEVELAND (AP) — Theta Sigma Phi, national organization for women in journalism, elects officers today at its 31st annual convention, which ends with a banquet tonight.

Two delegates to the convention talked with two women in London Friday via Telstar II. The transatlantic conversation was one of the highlights of the three-day convention.

Following the 15-minute conversation, marred by static, Claude M. Blair of New York, vice president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., told the convention delegates that satellite communications hold out promise for what he called the new look in communications.

No. 1 Police Problem Seen As Drunkenness

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Arrests for drunkenness and drunken driving have become the nation's No. 1 police and law enforcement problem, an official of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union declared today.

Mrs. H. F. Powell of Evanston, Ill., the National WCTU's treasurer, told delegates to the union's 89th convention that 1,809,821 arrests on the two charges last year exceeded those in any other single or related classification.

Driver, Wife, Child Injured

Weirton police charged a New Cumberland area father with driving while intoxicated after his car overturned on State Route 2 Friday night, injuring the driver, his wife, and a 6-month-old son.

Three other young children escaped unhurt in the mishap at 10:53 north of Weirton.

Robert E. Nally, 31, of R. D. 1 told officers the brakes of his auto locked as he drove north on State Route 2 near the Kings Creek Bridge. The car crossed the highway, struck an embankment and overturned.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Nally, 26, suffered lacerations of the forehead and left leg and thigh, while a son, Kenneth, 6-months, sustained abrasions and bruises. Both were in "good" condition today at Weirton General Hospital.

Nally was treated at the hospital for a lacerated eyebrow and released.

The three other children, Robert, 3; Deborah, 5, and Ronald 1, were examined at the hospital but found unhurt.

A passing motorist spotted the overturned auto and took the injured to the hospital.

Actress Denies She Attempted To Kill Herself

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress-singer Joan O'Brien, trying to regain custody of her two children, has denied claims she tried three times to commit suicide.

The alleged attempts were described in affidavits filed by two former husbands who now have custody of the children.

Miss O'Brien testified in Superior Court Friday that in alleged suicide attempts last April 16 in Las Vegas and in 1957 she took only tranquilizers and "did what appeared to look like an attempted suicide, but was not."

She also denied a suicide attempt when she cut her wrist with a razor after being hospitalized in Las Vegas.

She said she faked the attempts to gain sympathy.

Miss O'Brien's first husband, singer William Strange, 32, now has custody of their son, Russell Glenn, 7. Her second husband, television executive John F. Myer, 41, has custody of their daughter, Melissa Ann, 5.

In a separate action, Miss O'Brien, 27, is seeking a divorce from her third husband, actor Harvey Allen, 31. The couple married five months ago in Las Vegas.

Actress On Probation In Narcotics Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Marie McDonald has been placed on three years' probation on charges of forging prescriptions for a pain-killing drug.

Her attorneys described her in court Friday as "an average housewife and said that she used the drug—percodan—only to kill the pain of an ulcer.

She was arrested after narcotics agents said they found that she had forged a doctor's name to two prescriptions for the drug, which is classified as dangerous and possibly habit forming, but not a narcotic. The sentence also covered a charge of illegal possession of the drug.

Superior Judge Donald R. Wright also fined Miss McDonald $250.

Comedian, 30, Gets Released From Jail

CHICAGO (AP) — Comedian Dick Gregory, who spent 12 days in jail because he refused to sign his name to a recognizance bond on a disorderly conduct charge, Aug. 12, was released Friday by Municipal Court Judge Ben Schwartz.

The 30-year-old Negro comedian and several other men were arrested on the south side where Negroes and whites were picketing the site of mobile classrooms.

Gregory said he refused to sign a recognizance bond because he would not "sign a bond for a crime I didn't commit."

we have. No one ever mentioned who is going to pay. No one ever asked."

The giant, electrically-operated drilling rig owned by Pagnotti is valued at $160,000. It weighs 65 tons and stands 10 stories high.

Does he consider himself wealthy?

Pagnotti smiled and replied: "No, I am not. I'm poorer than my workers, not all, some of them."

How will he pay for the operation if he's not reimbursed?

"That's in the business," he said. "It's all right. Like anything else in the business you got to pay if anything happens."

Indonesia Fund Given OK Over Leftist Protest

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesia's parliament has approved over leftist opposition a record 700 billion rupiah two-year budget that preserves the government's crash economic stabilization program.

The sum represents $15.5 billion at the official rate or $777.7 million of the free-market rate of 900 rupiahs to the dollar.

After parliamentary approval Friday night the official Antara News Agency said economic reform regulations adopted May 26 will be carried out. These included a 300 to 500 per cent increase in public utility rates, a relaxation of rigid price controls to give producers more leeway, and an indirect devaluation of the rupiah to 315 for $1 to provide incentives to producers and exporters.

Red Terrorists Shoot Venezuela Policeman

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) —Pro - Communists terrorists, stepping up direct attacks against the police mowed down a policeman with a machine gun from a speeding car Friday.

The assassination followed the slaying of a policeman Thursday.

Terrorists also were reported to have kidnaped three national police agents in Barquisimeto, a mount village in western Venezuela.

Ohioan Crash Victim

TROY, Kan. (AP)—An Ohioan was among three persons killed in a head-on auto crash west of here Friday. He was Norman C. Worthington, 33, of Rt. 1, St. Paris. His wife, Janet, about 30, and children Dennis, 11, Darlene 10, and Terry, 4, were injured.

Child Injured In Play Fall

A Wellsville child was admitted to City Hospital Friday with injuries received in a fall and six other youngsters were treated.

Venessa Brown, 11-month-old daughter of Donald Brown, 505 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, was in "fair" condition today from injuries received when she fell down steps at home.

Judy Barnett, 13, daughter of Mrs. Mary Barnett, 1118 White St., Wellsville, was treated for injuries in a fall from her bicycle and Christopher Jacobs, 3, son of Homer Jacobs of Madison Heights, was treated for a laceration of the tongue when hit by a swing at play at home.

Timothy Duke, 2, son of Robert Duke, 243 W. 7th St., and Mark Collins, 3, son of Edward Collins, 721 Campbell Rd., Wellsville, had foreign objects removed from the nose.

David Albaneso, 8, son of Joseph Albaneso, 412 Grant St., was treated for a laceration of the left thumb caught in a car door, and Raymond Weyand, 16, son of Glenn Weyand of R. D. 2 injured his left hand.

Frank Jackson, 43, of 1727 Chester Ave., Wellsville, was treated for an injury to the back, which he injured while at work with the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Mrs. Willia Roush

Services for Mrs. Willia Roush of Canton, widow of Edgar Roush, and a former resident of East Liverpool, were held Friday afternoon at the Schneeberger Funeral Home in Canton with burial there.

Mrs. Roush died Tuesday at a nursing home in Canton after a long illness.

Survivors include a son, Robert Roush, and a sister, Mrs. Katherine Davenport, both of Canton.

Loophole Should Be Closed

The tense struggle to rescue the entombed miners at Hazleton has won heartfelt sympathy and prayers throughout the whole nation, but even more so in areas such as the tri-state district where there are so many coal and clay shafts and where the danger is more familiar.

Safety precautions and government regulations in mine operations have helped to reduce the terrible toll which used to be inflicted on workers years ago. But men still enter the earth and die.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette in an editorial today points out a loophole in the Federal Mine Safety Law of 1952 which prevents federal mine inspectors from closing down small mines where hazardous conditions are found.

The editorial says "a small mine is defined as one with 14 or fewer employes. Rigid safety standards are not common in these 'doghole' operations, which exploit the willingness of men to work under hazardous conditions in a depressed industry of high unemployment".

The editorial continues:

"The 1952 law has been instrumental in reducing the number of lives lost in coal mines from as many as 1,500 a year before the law to only 287 last year. But the contribution to the death rate from the 'dogholes' is disproportionate, running usually to about one-third of the annual toll.

"This indicates the need of more stringent regulation of the small mines. It will be argued, of course, that small operations are not financially capable of providing the same sort of safety precautions required in the large mines . . . But public interest considerations outweigh economic arguments."

The Review joins with the Post-Gazette in urging that the loophole in the federal mine safety law be closed.

Too Much To Hope For?

Feeding The Red Dragon

There's a paradox in the Western fight against communism that finds the United States in a lonesome and unhappy position.

While the U.S. continues to pour money and men into trouble spots like South Viet Nam to block Red China's advance, some of our close allies are helping to keep Peking alive economically.

The examples are everywhere in reports out of Washington. To name a few:

The British Council for Promotion of International Trade announced early this month sales of $5.6 million in steel and $2.8 million in machine tools to Red China so far this year. Other items going regularly from Britain to Peking include metal tubing, power tools, copper and a few Viscount airplanes.

JAPAN inaugurated a five-year trade pact with Red China this year, calling for the sale of steel, farm implements and fertilizer. Japanese sales to the Chinese Communists in 1962 totaled $38 million.

That same year, France sold $43 million in food, chemicals and other goods to Peking, and West German sales to China totaled $31 million.

Canada has just signed a second three-year agreement with Red China which includes shipment of up to 186 million bushels of wheat before July 1966. And the Reds have received 190 million bushels of wheat and some wool from Australia since 1960.

The significance of the Canadian and Australian wheat shipments is that they began about the time and bad weather and the harsh commune system had brought about such severe food shortages that a condition of near revolt existed in Red China in late 1960 and early 1961.

The shipments helped the Red regime cool off the boiling interior and maintain political stability.

IN THE WORDS of Roger Hilsman, assistant U.S. secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, this Western trade with credit terms for Red China is a form of "disguised foreign aid" that is helping to shore up Peking's faltering economy.

President Kennedy has termed Communist China "a growing menace" to world peace and has committed the U.S. to an all-out effort to keep it from spreading further.

Would it be too much to ask our free world allies to get into the act and stop feeding the Red Dragon?

Venezuela Shows Democratic Assets

By Victor Riesel

CARACAS

To get into the gardens and gracious home of Romulo Betancourt, president of Venezuela, the other morning, I passed through a check point at the outside wall. It was manned by five machine-gun-carrying soldiers.

Victor Riesel

The president and I walked through the otherwise unguarded Spanish-style house to the breakfast table. There we talked of Communist Cuba's greatest political and military failure — Fidel Castro's inability to frighten the people of Venezuela with terror, arson, killing of police and abortive guerrilla "warfare" out in the countryside.

The guards were outside the house because my friend Romulo Betancourt is president and the Communists recently tried to kill him. Otherwise the city and the nation are calm, prosperous, enjoying absolute democracy and the highest income and wages in South America.

AND WHAT particularly chagrins the small Castro terror band — now working with underworld types — is the fact that $3 billion worth of U.S. investments also are safe, despite the few raids.

Furthermore, American corporations, which have put more money into Venezuela than into any other country in the world except Canada, intend to increase their business activity and more firms are coming in.

How was Castro frustrated in a nation whose capital, Caracas, was in the hands of Communist terrorists for three days during the fall of 1960 — three days during which the underground Cuban squads set fire to buses, destroyed valuable property, assaulted civilians, as well as soldiers and police, and then converted the Central University of Venezuela into a fort from which the Communist street action units turned heavy fire on the people and the military.

First, the government had the courage to stand up, fight back and not try to compromise with the Castro mystiques.

Then, the unions also fought back. The Communists failed to maneuver into control of the oil workers, transport unions, waterfront and the campesinos (farm hands), as they have in other South American nations.

I HAVE JUST talked to Jose Gonzalez Navarro, head of the Confederation of Venezuelan Workers (CTV).

We sat in his headquarters, along with the entire CTV high command, in the Edificio Planchert It is on the Puente Mohedano, prctically across from the Communist-controlled university grounds on which there are several high mounds.

From those hillocks, the Communists used to shoot at the labor headquarters with high-powered rifles.

Mr. Gonzalez Navarro sent word that if a single anti-Communist labor leader was killed, two Communists would be killed in turn. The shooting has virtually stopped. No one has been killed in the union ranks.

Furthermore, the anti-Communist Venezuelan workers just show no fear of Castro's terror squads. The factory people, Gonzalez Navarro told me, have organized shock brigades in the plant to make certain no Communists raid them.

There also are anti-Communist political units to counter propaganda from Cuba, the Soviet Union, or mainland China, which pours tons of literature in Spanish into South America.

Fidel Castro has had no more luck in the countryside than in the big cities. During 1960, his guerrilla bands tried to hit the hinterland. But they ran up against the anti-Communist union of campesinos. The CTV had gotten there first with the most.

THE ANTI-COMMUNISTS have some 750,000 campesinos organized. Not only did they refuse to support the Castro guerrillas, the campesinos also prevented the raiders from living off the countryside as Mao's and Che Guevara's jungle and mountain fighters do in Asia and such parts of Latin America as Peru.

In the words of Gonzalez Navarro, a guerrilla who can't live off the rural people or frighten them into handing over ransoms of food, is like chicken and rice without chicken.

Swiftly the guerrillas were beaten back except in one small sector where a tiny band still makes rare hit-and-run raids on small police stations manned by two or three guards.

What has impressed the workers in rural areas as well as in the big cities is the fact that the government and the big United States investors level with them.

There was a strike in a Venezuela-owned steel mill not too far from here because the workers on their way to the plant passed a U.S. Steel Corp. installation and wanted conditions as favorable as those in the American enterprise.

THE AMERICAN firms, the oil companies, the industrial ones such as General Electric, are living evidence that American capitalism is no man-eating monster. Thus the unions unlike those in other countries do not scream for nationalization — but are for private ownership.

Some of this I discussed with President Betancourt. When time came to go and he gave me a bear hug in Latin fashion, I asked him what he would do when he retired from the presidency.

He said he was a poor man and would try to write for a living. I told him he would not get rich that way.

And I left knowing that Venezuela had another asset — a president who does not steal. Rare, indeed, in that nation.

Fear In Washington

By David Lawrence

A Look At Another 'Aspect' Of The March

Millions of dollars will be lost to merchants of retail goods and to businesses of various kinds on Aug. 28 in Washington because of the fear of area residents to come downtown that day during the "demonstration" which will bring from 100,000 to 250,000 persons to the streets of the national capital. Who is to pay these losses? Why should innocent citizens be penalized?

David Lawrence

The mayor of a city usually decides whether a permit to parade or demonstrate will interfere with a city's normal operations, and a permit is granted or refused on the basis of what the impact will be on the commerce of the community. Washington has no mayor because the residents are not permitted to vote for their local government.

A commission of three is appointed by the president to manage the affairs of the District of Columbia. So, for all practical purposes, the president is virtually the mayor there. The responsibility, therefore, for the losses incurred by private citizens rests with the federal government.

Will Congress now pass a bill permitting all businesses to claim not just a deduction but a tax credit for the entire loss incurred?

Most corporations pay a 52 per cent tax rate, which means that the company itself bears 48 per cent of a loss. Why shouldn't the government take care of 100 per cent of the loss when the government is responsible entirely for the granting of an official permit which allows a "demonstration" to be held that frightens the populace and causes it to avoid the stores that day?

MANY COMPANIES will find that their employes will be too scared to come to work. The leaders of the demonstration have been engaging in a wind of double-talk. While promising that there will be no violence, they speak in terms that cause apprehension.

The advance publicity, for instance, issued from the office of the "March on Washington," quotes A. Phillip Randolph, director of the "March," as saying:

"Negroes will no longer submit to humiliation even if it costs them their lives."

The people of the Washington area are, moreover, being told not to go downtown if they can possibly avoid it. Traffic conditions, particularly at the entrances to the city, will be difficult.

Many employes who live in the suburbs have been asking their employers what they should do. Unquestionably, thousands will stay home. Who is to bear all this expense?

It will be argued that this demonstration is for a good cause. But the government provides that charitable contributions to worthy causes are deductible for income-tax purposes.

No such provision, however, has been made to cover "contributions" to the demonstration made involuntarily by employes as well as employers.

Since Congress is virtually the Board of Aldermen for the District of Columbia, it is contended that Congress should take care of the losses incurred by innocent bystanders.

THE GOVERNMENT already is spending a good deal of money to provide extra police, to handle traffic and for other expenses incidental to the Washington demonstration.

This is being paid for by the taxpayers of the country.

Some members of Congress are closing their offices for the day and giving their staff the day off, and it's being urged that this be done throughout the government, with employes given "administrative leave" — all at the taxpayers' expense.

It would appear that the generosity of the taxpayers who are thus footing the bills might at least cover compensation to the citizens there who actually incur financial losses.

Whether the demonstration will be peaceful is anybody's guess. There are church organizations of white people in different parts of the country which are sending so many of their members by buses and special trains to participate that it looks as if the demonstration will be only partly composed of Negroes.

The odds would seem to be in favor of its being a peaceful affair but, as the time for the march approaches, the fears of local residents have by no means been dispelled.

No matter how peaceful it turns out to be, the demonstration will set a significant precedent. How can the District of Columbia government now refuse a permit to any organization, no matter how unpopular its cause may be, to carry on a demonstration involving 100,000 or more persons?

THE CONSTITUTION, of course, recognizes the "right of petition," but this can be exercised as effectively by 60,000 people seated in a football stadium, with a television broadcast of the speeches made there, as it can be by a street parade or gathering of mobs.

There is nothing in the Constitution which says that the "right of petition" includes the right to disturb somebody's business, even for one day, but there is a clause in the Constitution which says that no person "shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation."

New Words, Old Refrain

The old refrain, "Brother can you spare a dime?" has been updated to: "Who has change for a buck?"

The plaintive wail is heard across the land. Everyone, including Uncle Sam, is running short of change.

Why this is so, when the average life of a U.S. coin is 25 years, is explained by Miss Eva Adams, director of the U.S. Mint. Here are some of reasons given by Miss Adams before a House committee considering a bill to authorize more buildings and equipment for the various mints:

Our population is soaring and there are more pockets to fill with change.

Coin machines are increasing in variety and number. These machines may keep change out of circulation for many days.

In some places such as school cafeterias, patrons are required to have the exact change, usually in odd amounts, and that means families store more change at home.

Some eight million coin collectors put a dent in the limited supplies.

Costs of some items require use of a multiple number of small coins.

Then there are street parking meters, plus sales and federal taxes on practically every purchase.

Which brings us right back where we started: "Brother can you change a buck?"

Back From Rome

By Ann Geracimos

Love Italian Style is as much a farce as Divorce Italian Style, Carolyn Gaiser decided after two years in Rome. Two years of trading gossip along the Via Veneto, of parading intellectual patter in the cafes, and she came home. She had had it. "I'd exhausted all the possibilities," she says, blonde curls shaking at her cheekbones.

"The greatest display of tenderness shown you by a man is over how you wind your spaghetti. Women are decorative objects taken to restaurants to pat their lovers' elbows and look as much like the Mona Lisa as possible. Silently.

"If you tell an Italian at dinner you feel sad, he will say 'please do not interrupt this pleasant occasion by bringing up an unpleasant emotion.' If you say you have a problem that you wish to discuss with him, he will invite you to have some more sauce. A woman does not impose herself on male conversation, no matter what."

Rome is getting a fair share of starry-eyed post-college strays these days.

Once Paris was the glittering magnet to which expatriates flocked for temporary transfusions of the spirit. Now it's Rome. Credit the Italian filmmakers.

THEIR STORIES of la dolce vita in present-day Italy, ironic or not, are irresistible publicity.

After Swarthmore and after the Yale Drama School, Carolyn was convinced fields looked greener and fresher in Italy, so she got herself a Fulbright scholarship in cinematography and took off.

She was supposed to study Italian film techniques. Her specialty was scriptwriting. This, she says, consisted of "standing around movie sets, drinking coffee and being treated like royalty." She traveled with film companies to Sicily, to Milan and around Rome, meeting the directors Fellini, Pasolini, Rossellini and others.

In Rome she made the acquaintance, if that's the word, of as many artistic folks like, Alberto Moravia. "I met him in a bookshop. 'I am Alberto Moravia,' he said. 'Have you read my books?'"

She found Italian women very difficult to get close to. They suspect a foreigner will take away their men. Men are very precious there. Men are to marry. A married woman gets much more respect. And once she's married, a woman immediately relaxes into her domestic role.

"It was a long time before I was invited home by an Italian girl. I soon found out why. The apartment was dreary, the food almost unbearable. Yet the girl was strikingly well-dressed and she owned her own car. Appearances count for everything. The Italian idea of dignity is one of putting your best face to the world."

"And if the Italian woman isn't beautiful, she might as well forget it. Charm won't help her at all."

WOMEN HAVE ways of retaliating, too. "Two men told me their fiances had dropped them for men with more money."

"At least there is no sense of failure in Italy," she says, "No anxiety neurosis about not working up to one's level. An exalted sense of ego prevents it."

But if the romantic life in Rome isn't altogether ideal, it's always around and always interesting.

"Being a foreigner abroad is pretty much carte blanche. You always feel something is about to happen to you." But being a native in New York, she's found, is like getting out of the bathtub to answer the 'phone.

"In New York you always feel a little off-center and out of things."

This 'n That

Card playing is of ancient origin. It has been recorded that cards were played in Egypt during the days of Joseph and that their use extended as far east as Hindustan and China at a period long before their introduction into Europe.

A mile square is a square with each side a mile long. A square mile has the same area, but can be of any shape. Two square miles, of course, contain only half the area of a two-mile square.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

U.S. citizens in high and low places need to open their dictionaries; also re-read the Preamble to the Constitution and some of the articles under the amendments to the Constitution.

One of the clauses of the Preamble reads: "In order to . . . insure domestic tranquillity."

Under Article 14, Sec. 3: Our high officials are under oath to support the Constitution and shall be removed from office for rebellion against the same, or "giving aid and comfort" to those who do.

Article 1: Freedom of Religion: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

The dictionary defines: "Religion, any system of faith or worship; piety."

The dictionary defines: "Atheist, one who denies the existence of God."

The atheists and Mrs. Murray are planning a test case in a couple of weeks in Baltimore, Md., to test the legality of tax exemptions for churches. Are they trying to "insure domestic tranquility" or upset it? If they succeed in upsetting it, then under Article 14, Section 3, officials also will be guilty.

The mayor of Stockton, Kan., is doing his best to "insure domestic tranquillity" when he doubts they have need of an atheistic college near Stockton.

Should the college be established, it should be under the regulations of all U.S. colleges and not under the assumed title of an atheistic "religion", since the atheist denies any religion.

Should they secure their desired radio station, they should broadcast under the rights, "Freedom of Speech", not using the term their "Religion".

Floating Trade Fairs

Israel Bids To Boost Exports

Israel plans a permanent floating trade fair, which is to ply continuously between key ports in the Far East.

The fair is part of an Israeli drive to break into growing Oriental markets, where its exports are negligible. It will be set up on board a ship, yet to be built or converted, by the government-sponsored Israeli Fairs and Exhibitions Company.

Behind the project is an urgent campaign to sell more and widen markets. Israel's exports — fruit, diamonds, chemicals and a growing number of other industrial goods — are already doing well.

In 1962, they increased by almost 15 per cent, and this year look like growing another 20 per cent or more. But the International Monetary Fund, the world's financial watchdog, has this month warned the Israelis to keep a closer eye on things at home — or they may risk inflation.

A symptom of this is the persistent rise of Israeli imports. Israel has to spend more than twice as much as it earns abroad on foreign supplies of machinery and raw materials it does not produce itself. Imports crept up 5 per cent last year, and are likely to increase even faster this year.

The IMF has warned Israel to control run-away wages and so cut down consumption of costly imports. To help this drive, Israel must also export even more.

The trouble here is that the bulk of Israeli exports — nearly three-fifths — goes in one direction, to the European Common Market, with the rest more or less equally divided between the United States and Britain.

Israel's need to export more comes at a time when common market protectionism seems to be increasing. Israel's own efforts to associate itself with the market have been shelved; and exports to America are in some doubt.

AND WHAT particularly chagrins the small Castro terror band — now working with underworld types — is the fact that $3 billion worth of U.S. investments also are safe, despite the few raids.

Furthermore, American corporations, which have put more money into Venezuela than into any other country in the world except Canada, intend to increase their business activity and more firms are coming in.

How was Castro frustrated in a nation whose capital, Caracas, was in the hands of Communist terrorists for three days during the fall of 1960 — three days during which the underground Cuban squads set fire to buses, destroyed valuable property, assaulted civilians, as well as soldiers and police, and then converted the Central University of Venezuela into a fort from which the Communist street action units turned heavy fire on the people and the military.

First, the government had the courage to stand up, fight back and not try to compromise with the Castro mystiques.

Then, the unions also fought back. The Communists failed to maneuver into control of the oil workers, transport unions, waterfront and the campesinos (farm hands), as they have in other South American nations.

I HAVE JUST talked to Jose Gonzalez Navarro, head of the Confederation of Venezuelan Workers (CTV).

We sat in his headquarters, along with the entire CTV high command, in the Edificio Planchert It is on the Puente Mohedano, prctically across from the Communist-controlled university grounds on which there are several high mounds.

From those hillocks, the Communists used to shoot at the labor headquarters with high-powered rifles.

Mr. Gonzalez Navarro sent word that if a single anti-Communist labor leader was killed, two Communists would be killed in turn. The shooting has virtually stopped. No one has been killed in the union ranks.

Furthermore, the anti-Communist Venezuelan workers just show no fear of Castro's terror squads. The factory people, Gonzalez Navarro told me, have organized shock brigades in the plant to make certain no Communists raid them.

There also are anti-Communist political units to counter propaganda from Cuba, the Soviet Union, or mainland China, which pours tons of literature in Spanish into South America.

Fidel Castro has had no more luck in the countryside than in the big cities. During 1960, his guerrilla bands tried to hit the hinterland. But they ran up against the anti-Communist union of campesinos. The CTV had gotten there first with the most.

THE ANTI-COMMUNISTS have some 750,000 campesinos organized. Not only did they refuse to support the Castro guerrillas, the campesinos also prevented the raiders from living off the countryside as Mao's and Che Guevara's jungle and mountain fighters do in Asia and such parts of Latin America as Peru.

In the words of Gonzalez Navarro, a guerrilla who can't live off the rural people or frighten them into handing over ransoms of food, is like chicken and rice without chicken.

Swiftly the guerrillas were beaten back except in one small sector where a tiny band still makes rare hit-and-run raids on small police stations manned by two or three guards.

What has impressed the workers in rural areas as well as in the big cities is the fact that the government and the big United States investors level with them.

There was a strike in a Venezuela-owned steel mill not too far from here because the workers on their way to the plant passed a U.S. Steel Corp. installation and wanted conditions as favorable as those in the American enterprise.

THE AMERICAN firms, the oil companies, the industrial ones such as General Electric, are living evidence that American capitalism is no man-eating monster. Thus the unions unlike those in other countries do not scream for nationalization — but are for private ownership.

Some of this I discussed with President Betancourt. When time came to go and he gave me a bear hug in Latin fashion, I asked him what he would do when he retired from the presidency.

He said he was a poor man and would try to write for a living. I told him he would not get rich that way.

And I left knowing that Venezuela had another asset — a president who does not steal. Rare, indeed, in that nation.

Fear In Washington

By David Lawrence

A Look At Another 'Aspect' Of The March

Millions of dollars will be lost to merchants of retail goods and to businesses of various kinds on Aug. 28 in Washington because of the fear of area residents to come downtown that day during the "demonstration" which will bring from 100,000 to 250,000 persons to the streets of the national capital. Who is to pay these losses? Why should innocent citizens be penalized?

David Lawrence

The mayor of a city usually decides whether a permit to parade or demonstrate will interfere with a city's normal operations, and a permit is granted or refused on the basis of what the impact will be on the commerce of the community. Washington has no mayor because the residents are not permitted to vote for their local government.

A commission of three is appointed by the president to manage the affairs of the District of Columbia. So, for all practical purposes, the president is virtually the mayor there. The responsibility, therefore, for the losses incurred by private citizens rests with the federal government.

Will Congress now pass a bill permitting all businesses to claim not just a deduction but a tax credit for the entire loss incurred?

Most corporations pay a 52 per cent tax rate, which means that the company itself bears 48 per cent of a loss. Why shouldn't the government take care of 100 per cent of the loss when the government is responsible entirely for the granting of an official permit which allows a "demonstration" to be held that frightens the populace and causes it to avoid the stores that day?

MANY COMPANIES will find that their employes will be too scared to come to work. The leaders of the demonstration have been engaging in a wind of double-talk. While promising that there will be no violence, they speak in terms that cause apprehension.

The advance publicity, for instance, issued from the office of the "March on Washington," quotes A. Phillip Randolph, director of the "March," as saying:

"Negroes will no longer submit to humiliation even if it costs them their lives."

The people of the Washington area are, moreover, being told not to go downtown if they can possibly avoid it. Traffic conditions, particularly at the entrances to the city, will be difficult.

Many employes who live in the suburbs have been asking their employers what they should do. Unquestionably, thousands will stay home. Who is to bear all this expense?

It will be argued that this demonstration is for a good cause. But the government provides that charitable contributions to worthy causes are deductible for income-tax purposes.

No such provision, however, has been made to cover "contributions" to the demonstration made involuntarily by employes as well as employers.

Since Congress is virtually the Board of Aldermen for the District of Columbia, it is contended that Congress should take care of the losses incurred by innocent bystanders.

THE GOVERNMENT already is spending a good deal of money to provide extra police, to handle traffic and for other expenses incidental to the Washington demonstration.

This is being paid for by the taxpayers of the country.

Some members of Congress are closing their offices for the day and giving their staff the day off, and it's being urged that this be done throughout the government, with employes given "administrative leave" — all at the taxpayers' expense.

It would appear that the generosity of the taxpayers who are thus footing the bills might at least cover compensation to the citizens there who actually incur financial losses.

Whether the demonstration will be peaceful is anybody's guess. There are church organizations of white people in different parts of the country which are sending so many of their members by buses and special trains to participate that it looks as if the demonstration will be only partly composed of Negroes.

The odds would seem to be in favor of its being a peaceful affair but, as the time for the march approaches, the fears of local residents have by no means been dispelled.

No matter how peaceful it turns out to be, the demonstration will set a significant precedent. How can the District of Columbia government now refuse a permit to any organization, no matter how unpopular its cause may be, to carry on a demonstration involving 100,000 or more persons?

THE CONSTITUTION, of course, recognizes the "right of petition," but this can be exercised as effectively by 60,000 people seated in a football stadium, with a television broadcast of the speeches made there, as it can be by a street parade or gathering of mobs.

There is nothing in the Constitution which says that the "right of petition" includes the right to disturb somebody's business, even for one day, but there is a clause in the Constitution which says that no person "shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation."

New Words, Old Refrain

The old refrain, "Brother can you spare a dime?" has been updated to: "Who has change for a buck?"

The plaintive wail is heard across the land. Everyone, including Uncle Sam, is running short of change.

Why this is so, when the average life of a U.S. coin is 25 years, is explained by Miss Eva Adams, director of the U.S. Mint. Here are some of reasons given by Miss Adams before a House committee considering a bill to authorize more buildings and equipment for the various mints:

Our population is soaring and there are more pockets to fill with change.

Coin machines are increasing in variety and number. These machines may keep change out of circulation for many days.

In some places such as school cafeterias, patrons are required to have the exact change, usually in odd amounts, and that means families store more change at home.

Some eight million coin collectors put a dent in the limited supplies.

Costs of some items require use of a multiple number of small coins.

Then there are street parking meters, plus sales and federal taxes on practically every purchase.

Back From Rome

By Ann Geracimos

Love Italian Style is as much a farce as Divorce Italian Style, Carolyn Gaiser decided after two years in Rome. Two years of trading gossip along the Via Veneto, of parading intellectual patter in the cafes, and she came home. She had had it. "I'd exhausted all the possibilities," she says, blonde curls shaking at her cheekbones.

"The greatest display of tenderness shown you by a man is over how you wind your spaghetti. Women are decorative objects taken to restaurants to pat their lovers' elbows and look as much like the Mona Lisa as possible. Silently.

"If you tell an Italian at dinner you feel sad, he will say 'please do not interrupt this pleasant occasion by bringing up an unpleasant emotion.' If you say you have a problem that you wish to discuss with him, he will invite you to have some more sauce. A woman does not impose herself on male conversation, no matter what."

Rome is getting a fair share of starry-eyed post-college strays these days.

Once Paris was the glittering magnet to which expatriates flocked for temporary transfusions of the spirit. Now it's Rome. Credit the Italian filmmakers.

THEIR STORIES of la dolce vita in present-day Italy, ironic or not, are irresistible publicity.

After Swarthmore and after the Yale Drama School, Carolyn was convinced fields looked greener and fresher in Italy, so she got herself a Fulbright scholarship in cinematography and took off.

She was supposed to study Italian film techniques. Her specialty was scriptwriting. This, she says, consisted of "standing around movie sets, drinking coffee and being treated like royalty." She traveled with film companies to Sicily, to Milan and around Rome, meeting the directors Fellini, Pasolini, Rossellini and others.

In Rome she made the acquaintance, if that's the word, of as many artistic folks like, Alberto Moravia. "I met him in a bookshop. 'I am Alberto Moravia,' he said. 'Have you read my books?'"

She found Italian women very difficult to get close to. They suspect a foreigner will take away their men. Men are very precious there. Men are to marry. A married woman gets much more respect. And once she's married, a woman immediately relaxes into her domestic role.

"It was a long time before I was invited home by an Italian girl. I soon found out why. The apartment was dreary, the food almost unbearable. Yet the girl was strikingly well-dressed and she owned her own car. Appearances count for everything. The Italian idea of dignity is one of putting your best face to the world."

"And if the Italian woman isn't beautiful, she might as well forget it. Charm won't help her at all."

WOMEN HAVE ways of retaliating, too. "Two men told me their fiances had dropped them for men with more money."

"At least there is no sense of failure in Italy," she says, "No anxiety neurosis about not working up to one's level. An exalted sense of ego prevents it."

But if the romantic life in Rome isn't altogether ideal, it's always around and always interesting.

"Being a foreigner abroad is pretty much carte blanche. You always feel something is about to happen to you." But being a native in New York, she's found, is like getting out of the bathtub to answer the 'phone.

"In New York you always feel a little off-center and out of things."

This 'n That

Card playing is of ancient origin. It has been recorded that cards were played in Egypt during the days of Joseph and that their use extended as far east as Hindustan and China at a period long before their introduction into Europe.

A mile square is a square with each side a mile long. A square mile has the same area, but can be of any shape. Two square miles, of course, contain only half the area of a two-mile square.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

U.S. citizens in high and low places need to open their dictionaries; also re-read the Preamble to the Constitution and some of the articles under the amendments to the Constitution.

One of the clauses of the Preamble reads: "In order to . . . insure domestic tranquillity."

Under Article 14, Sec. 3: Our high officials are under oath to support the Constitution and shall be removed from office for rebellion against the same, or "giving aid and comfort" to those who do.

Article 1: Freedom of Religion: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

The dictionary defines: "Religion, any system of faith or worship; piety."

The dictionary defines: "Atheist, one who denies the existence of God."

The atheists and Mrs. Murray are planning a test case in a couple of weeks in Baltimore, Md., to test the legality of tax exemptions for churches. Are they trying to "insure domestic tranquility" or upset it? If they succeed in upsetting it, then under Article 14, Section 3, officials also will be guilty.

The mayor of Stockton, Kan., is doing his best to "insure domestic tranquillity" when he doubts they have need of an atheistic college near Stockton.

Should the college be established, it should be under the regulations of all U.S. colleges and not under the assumed title of an atheistic "religion", since the atheist denies any religion.

Should they secure their desired radio station, they should broadcast under the rights, "Freedom of Speech", not using the term their "Religion".

Floating Trade Fairs

Israel Bids To Boost Exports

Israel plans a permanent floating trade fair, which is to ply continuously between key ports in the Far East.

The fair is part of an Israeli drive to break into growing Oriental markets, where its exports are negligible. It will be set up on board a ship, yet to be built or converted, by the government-sponsored Israeli Fairs and Exhibitions Company.

Behind the project is an urgent campaign to sell more and widen markets. Israel's exports — fruit, diamonds, chemicals and a growing number of other industrial goods — are already doing well.

In 1962, they increased by almost 15 per cent, and this year look like growing another 20 per cent or more. But the International Monetary Fund, the world's financial watchdog, has this month warned the Israelis to keep a closer eye on things at home — or they may risk inflation.

A symptom of this is the persistent rise of Israeli imports. Israel has to spend more than twice as much as it earns abroad on foreign supplies of machinery and raw materials it does not produce itself. Imports crept up 5 per cent last year, and are likely to increase even faster this year.

The IMF has warned Israel to control run-away wages and so cut down consumption of costly imports. To help this drive, Israel must also export even more.

The trouble here is that the bulk of Israeli exports — nearly three-fifths — goes in one direction, to the European Common Market, with the rest more or less equally divided between the United States and Britain.

Israel's need to export more comes at a time when common market protectionism seems to be increasing. Israel's own efforts to associate itself with the market have been shelved; and exports to America are in some doubt.

Hiring Of 4 Fills Lisbon School Staff

LISBON — The Lisbon Board of Education at a special session Friday evening hired four new teachers, completing the faculty for the opening of classes Sept. 4, according to Supt. Oliver Payne.

Harry Riser of Youngstown, a graduate of California State, with a master's degree from Duquesne University, will teach Biology and general science. He is married and has one child and has 10 years of teaching experience.

Miss Elaine Marshall of East Palestine, recent graduate of Youngstown University, was hired to teach seventh grade English. This is her first teaching position. She expects to marry in the near future and reside in Boardman.

James Arth of Pittsburgh, a graduate of Capitol University now attending summer classes at Ohio State University, was hired to teach social studies at the high school.

Dean L. Hancock of Phillipsburg, Pa., a graduate of Otterbien College, will teach industrial arts in the high school. He has four years teaching experience in Pennsylvania and four in Ohio.

Teachers will meet with their building principals the morning of Sept. 3. All school employes and board members will attend a noon luncheon at the McKinley School. In the afternoon, teachers will prepare their rooms for the full opening day of school Sept. 4, Supt. Payne said.

GOP Council To Meet

LISBON — The Republican Advisory Council will meet Monday noon at the Wick Hotel and Atty. Charles Pike, county chairman, will preside.

Red China Hit By Pravda About Herding People

MOSCOW (AP) — Red China's past attempts to herd millions of peasants into giant agricultural communes were hotly criticized today by Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper.

"Time has shown," Pravda said, "that the propaganda about the communes as being 'the ladder to paradise' was premature. The communes did not justify themselves.

"Having changed their policy in the countryside and having in effect abandoned the communes, the Chinese leaders continue — contrary to almost unanimous opinion — to proclaim the slogan of the 'peoples commune' which has brought only harm...

"Without having completed the building of socialism, leaders of the Communist party have advanced the slogan of transition to communism..."

Pravda claimed that the Soviet party program is the correct blueprint for communism, and it denounced the Chinese for criticizing the program.

Ohio Development Unit Set For Business

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's new Development Financing Commission—created to help finance business expansions—is ready for business. Wilbur D. Fulton of Cleveland, commission chairman, said Friday that 10,000 loan applications have been distributed throughout the state and that the commission is ready to start receiving them.

Up to 100 per cent financing is available with up to 50 per cent coming from conventional sources on a first mortgage basis and the second 50 per cent from the commission on a second mortgage basis.

Three Kettering Boys Innocent In Fireworks Case

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Three Kettering youths have been found innocent of discharging fireworks without a permit last May 30 when the explosion of an aerial bomb seriously injured 14-year-old Mark Wilkus, also of Kettering.

Kettering Municipal Court Judge Kenneth J. Fogt made the ruling Friday. He explained there was no doubt the boys had set the bomb to explode, but it was possible Wilkus caused the explosion while handling the bomb.

Defendants in the trial, which ended July 30, were Donald Lee Calihan, Thomas Graham and William J. Malone. They and four other Kettering youths also have been named in a $350,000 damage suit filed by the parents of Wilkus, who lost the use of his right eye and suffered other injuries in the accident.

The seven youths, graduating from Fairmont High School, rigged the bomb with a timing device and planned for it to go off at a certain point in the graduation exercises.

Testmony was given that Wilkus picked up the bomb and examined it, and that it exploded after he set it back on the ground.

Airman Of Chester To Serve In Tripoli

Airman 1C and Mrs. L. K. (Butch) Cunningham are spending a 30-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Cunningham of Chester R. D. 2, before he leaves Sept. 16 for Tripoli.

Airman Cunningham, stationed at Shaw Air Force Base at Sumpter, S. C., is to serve 30 months at Wheeler Air Force Base in Libya. He is a 1958 graduate of Chester High School and re-enlisted in January.

U.S. Officials Asked To Be At Rights March

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The National Catholic Social Action Conference has called for official government representation at the Washington civil rights demonstration Aug. 28.

The conference, holding four-day session here, approved a resolution encouraging people at the conference also to attend.

Three hundred Roman Catholic clergymen and laymen are attending the seventh annual convention on the University of Dayton campus. The theme is "Creating Community in American Life."

50th Anniversary

Church To Celebrate

REV. J. M. MARBREY

MRS. J. M. MARBREY

The First Baptist Church of Midland, of which the Rev. J. M. Marbrey has been pastor for 13 years, will observe its 50th anniversary Sunday at 3:30 p.m. with a special program.

The Midland High School Band will lead a march from 8th St. to the church at 5th St.

The anniversary sermon will be given by the Rev. A. A. Ward of Youngstown, who will be accompanied by his choir and congregation.

Mrs. Joyce Griffith will give the welcome address.

Remarks will be given by Mayor Eli G. Corak, Solicitor Robert J. Masters, James P. Mullen, assistant director of District 20 of the United Steelworkers; Glenn B. Roberts, superintendent of community relations at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., and Mrs. Magdalene Wyche, a member of the congregation. The welcome address will be given by Mrs. Joyce Griffith.

The history of the church will be presented by James H. Morrison, clerk of the church and president of the Midland Board of Education.

Participating in the memorial services will be Mrs. Robert Jones of the St. Paul African Methodist Episcopal Church of Midland, Mrs. Viola Hodges of the Mt. Olive Baptist Church of Midland and Mrs. J. G. Douglas of the Sheridan AME Church of East Liverpool.

Selections will be given by the choir of the Youngstown church. Organ selection will be presented by Arthur L. Roberts and John Cilli of East Liverpool.

Mrs. John Hosey will preside. Mrs. Marbrey is general chairman and Mrs. Rochell McCauley is co-chairman.

Religious Groups Will Play Large Role In Rights March

WASHINGTON (AP)—Religious groups will play a large role in Wednesday's civil rights march on Washington.

The ten chairmen of the march include three religious leaders: Mathew Ahmann, executive director of the National Catholic Conference for Interracial Justice; the Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, vice chairman of the Commission on Race and Religion of the National Council of Churches; and Rabbi Joachim Prinz, chairman of the American Jewish Congress.

In addition, a fourth chairman, like many other Negro civil rights leaders, is a minister—the Rev. Martin Luther King.

These four chairmen will meet with President Kennedy, have prominent places in the march, and address the demonstrators during afternoon ceremonies at the Lincoln Memorial.

In addition, many priests, ministers and rabbis, and religious groups will take part in the march from the Washington Monument to the Lincoln Memorial.

Roman Catholic prelates in the demonstration will include Archbishop Patrick O'Boyle of Washington, Archbishop Lawrence J. Shehan and Bishop Thomas H. Murphy of Baltimore, Bishops John J. Russell and Ernest L. Unterkoefler of Richmond, Va., Bishop Michael W. Hyle of Wilmington, Del., and Bishop Philip M. Hannan of Washington.

The Rev. Dr. Robert W. Spike, executive director of the Commission of Race Relations of the National Council of Churches, says that 30,000 to 40,000 Protestant churchmen will be among the marchers.

He said the march for some people would be "the beginning of a new commitment to work for racial justice with all their strength and wisdom."

Newell Teacher Who Visited Spain To Apply Experiences

The experiences gained from a six-week visit in Spain and Portugal this summer will be passed along to Spanish students at the Newell Jefferson School in the new term by the teacher.

Mrs. Helen Doane, 510 Grant St., visited the European countries from late June to July 29 to become better acquainted with Spanish background as a teacher of the foreign language.

The inclusion of Spanish in the curriculum of the elementary school in the Hancock County school system was started two years ago and is continuing on a permanent basis, rather than merely experimental.

Mrs. Doane taught first- and second-grade Spanish last year, and in the new term starting Sept. 4 will continue with last year's pupils in the second and third grades.

Her visit to the countries abroad was both business and pleasure. She brought back many souvenirs and pictures of Spanish cultural points and will utilize them in instructing the language at the Newell school.

While in Portugal, Mrs. Doane visited a brother, Dr. Marquis R. Huffman of Collares, retired physician. She traveled by car along the entire coastline of Portugal and made a 12-day trip into Northern Spain.

Born in Puerto Rico, Mrs. Doane has been familiar with the Spanish language for some time and a few years ago trained for eight weeks at Kent State University under the National Defense Act emphasizing the value of teaching foreign languages in elementary and secondary schools.

She made the trip abroad by jetliner and went alone. She has taught in the county system 10 years.

1 Killed, 8 Injured

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An automobile collision on Columbus' West Side Friday night killed Bernard Cecil, 30, of Columbus and injured eight other persons, four critically. Those injured included Cecil's pregnant wife, three small Cecil children and two other passengers in his auto.

Killed In Collision

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—A traffic collision at the intersection of U. S. 6 and Ohio 510 east of here Friday killed James Trinty, 38, of Fremont. The Highway Patrol said his car hit the rear of an auto driven by Lewis Goble, 35, of Tiffin.

Miners

level a little after 10 a.m. and resumed again a little before 10:30 a.m.

The first 33 feet of the shaft are mainly clay and loose rock, the next 173 feet sand rock — which breaks up into sand as the hole is bored. The remainder of the distance is through solid rock and coal.

Fellin and Throne consulted with rescue crews before the drilling started this morning, but after that were mainly silent. They are linked to the surface also by way of a six-inch lifeline hole, completed Sunday, through which food and supplies have been lowered.

Authorities said the most optimistic estimate for bringing the men, David Fellin, 58, and Henry Throne, 28, to the surface would be at least Sunday night.

Despite optimism, caution prevailed. H. B. Charmbury, Pennsylvania secretary of mines, said "The situation is just as dangerous now as it has ever been."

The fate of a third trapped miner, Louis Bova, 42, who has not been heard from since Tuesday night when Fellin reported he made contact with him, remained uncertain. He is separated from the other two men by a pile of debris and is believed to be about 25 feet away.

Charmbury said "we haven't given up on Bova."

A four-inch lifeline hole through which food and other supplies could be lowered was being drilled to the area where Bova is believed to be trapped, but this had progressed to only 40 feet shortly after midnight when the drilling rig lost its bit.

After trying for several hours to get the bit out, rescuers abandoned the hole and started shortly after dawn drilling another four-inch hole about a foot away from the one abandoned. The drill being used on this hole is much smaller.

As a preliminary step to enlarging the 12-inch escape hole for Fellin and Throne with a 10-story high, 65-ton, electrically operated drilling rig, workers began early today plugging the shaft with a cylinder made up of a stack of wooden plates surrounded with rubber gaskets to make a tight seal.

At dawn, the hole was plugged as the cylinder was forced down it with a ram to prevent dust and debris loosened by the giant drill from falling into the 14-foot long, 9-foot wide cubicle holding Fellin and Throne.

The plug was tested by pouring dust and water into the hole.

Fellin, who was awakened after a 3½ hour nap for the test, reported nothing was leaking into the chamber.

Concrete was poured on top of the plug to bond it to the walls of the hole. The plug was placed at a depth of 298 feet, some 25 feet short of the opening, in order to anchor it in solid rock instead of the softer coal below. Workers said it would take about an hour for the concrete to harden.

Timbers, planks and other shoring materials were lowered to Fellin and Throne during the night. They wedged the heavy boards and logs against the ceiling and walls of their chamber to brace it against the drilling.

Hammering could be heard over a microphone communications system which was lowered to Fellin and Throne when contact was first made with them Sunday night through a six-inch lifeline hole, after nearly being given up for dead. Fellin and Throne have been receiving food and other supplies through the lifeline hole, but Bova has been without food.

Shortly before midnight, a 3½ by 22 inch, specially-constructed television camera made by General Precision Corp. of Pleasantville, N.Y., which is used to inspect New York City sewers, was lowered into the cubicle.

Two television monitors on the surface picked up unclear images of the men, but still they were a fascinating and joyous sight to rescuers, relatives and spectators.

The purpose of the TV experiment was to check the shaft, examine the cubicle and permit a physician to examine the men, but it apparently was unsuccessful because of unclear pictures.

Plans for enlarging the shaft, outlined Friday night by Gordon Smith, deputy secretary of mines, called for drilling a 26-inch hole to a depth of 40-45 feet, then lining it with steel casing. Smith said this was expected to take about two hours.

After the 26-inch hole reached its destination, mostly through clay rather than hard rock, a conference was planned to determine whether to go the rest of the way at a 17-inch width or possibly 24 inches.

The 12-inch escape hole, drilled by the giant rig, finally hit its mark at 3:29 p.m., E.D.T., Friday after two previous failures.

"I can see the drill!" shouted Fellin. "Hold it! That's enough. It's through!"

It was first understood that the drill went through the top of the cubicle, but later Charmbury said the hole came down beside the chamber.

"The break's through! The break's through!!" Fellin kept shouting.

Watching on the surface, his wife, Anna, cried and rejoiced.

"It's wonderful," she said. "We prayed all the way, every minute."

The breakthrough climaxed more than an hour of waiting for the final few inches of hard rock to give way.

The rig was slowed to an agonizing pace as it neared the chamber to avoid the possibility of any cave-ins.

Earlier Friday, Gov. and Mrs. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania took time out from a New York vacation to visit the scene and converse with the men over the communications system.

"Hi, fellows! Hi, David! Hi, Hank! said the governor. "You're both wonderful guys. We're just as proud of you as we can be. We'll get through to you as soon as we can. You're doing a great job."

Fellin and Throne have kept up their spirits with an exchange of humor and singing during their entombment.

Rescuers monitoring the communications system linking them with the two men say they have had added a new number to their repertoire. The song, ironically, is the old Negro spiritual, "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground."

Wellsville Services Set

Church Will Observe Its 52nd Anniversary

The Rev. C. W. Goss of the Zion Hill Baptist Church of Youngstown will be guest speaker at the 52nd anniversary celebration of the Wellsville First Baptist Church Sunday at 3:30 p. m.

The program will open with devotions by the deacons, followed with welcome by Mrs. Fuller Snyder, reading by Mrs. Mary Pulliam, solo by Mrs. Carmen Spann and the history of the church by Mrs. Eva Hilton.

Rev. Goss' Church Choir will provide special music. Members of his congregation will accompany him.

Following the program, guests will be served refreshments by the diningroom committee.

The church was founded in 1911 by the Rev. John Williams and the Rev. William B. Woodson, both of MacDonald, Pa. The site of the organization was at 1300 Commerce St. In 1913, the church moved to Commerce St. between 12th and 13th Sts. The first church building was on the east side of Commerce St. near 12th St.

The Rev. George White was pastor when the structure was started and the Rev. William Ogelsby was in the pulpit when the building was finished. A few months after the dedication the building burned to the ground.

The present church at 13th and Center St., was built and dedicated while Rev. Ogelsby was pastor. The Rev. John H. Maiden of Youngstown now is pastor and the 11th to serve the charge.

Plans are underway for a general remodeling and refurnishing of the building.

Service U.P. Church Plans Annual Homecoming Fete

The historic Service United Presbyterian Church in Raccoon Township will hold its traditional homecoming Sunday and sponsors said this will be "further evidence of recovery by the church that refused to die." Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall are homecoming chairmen.

This little church, oldest in Beaver County, has survived receding tides of farm migration to the cities, a fire which destroyed the previous substantial sanctuary and near-flooding by Ambridge's Service Creek Reservoir and is now, its members are convinced, "again on the rise as an influence for good in this rural area."

Vsiitors will inspect shrubbery and tree plantings by the Youth Group of the church, and will note that a portion of the fence of the John Anderson Memorial Cemetery has been removed, making an uninterrupted sweep from graveyard to water's edge.

The Bible Study Hour will be from 11:30 to 12:30 under the leadership of Joseph Campbell of Beaver. Dinner will be served at 12:30 by the women of the church, cafeteria-style. This will be the second year in which the new basement, first step in the church's rebuilding program, has been in use.

Worship service will be at 2:30, conducted by Dr. John M. Bald, associate professor of Christian Ethics of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary. Collection proceeds will go, as usual, to the care of the cemetery, where many of Beaver County's pioneer settlers lie buried.

Church Will Discuss Synod's Race Action

A discussion on the theme, "Shall We Patronize Only Those Businesses Which Serve All Races and Creed?", will be held Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at the Chester First United Presbyterian Church.

The discussion was prompted by a resolution passed by the Synod of West Virginia, urging congregations to go on record to patronize only those restaurants, motels, hotels, and other business establishments which serve all persons regardless of race or creed.

Treaty

interview that Pentagon officials have promised a reply Monday to a request for specifications from Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee. "These get to the heart of the whole issue," Jackson said.

The safeguards include an aggressive program for improving and testing nuclear weapons underground as permitted by the treaty, emphasis on continued laboratory development and nuclear research, maintenance of facilities so that atmosphere testing can be resumed promptly if deemed necessary, and improvement of present methods for detection of cheating and monitoring of all Soviet nuclear activities.

Another underground nuclear blast—the third since agreement was reached with the Soviet Union and Britain on the treaty—was set off Friday at the Atomic Energy Commission's test site in Nevada. The explosion was described as low yield, meaning it had a force equivalent to less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

Viet Nam

milling students clustered around Mau, shouting and applauding, often drowning out his words.

Armed troops and police watched from a street outside the law faculty building but made no attempt to interfere. The demonstration wore itself out.

Meantime, Mau's status was complicated by Diem's refusal to accept the foreign minister's resignation.

Instead, Diem granted Mau three months' official leave, the official Viet Nam news agency said, and appointed Truong Cong Cuu to act as foreign secretary. Cuu has been coordinating secretary of state for cultural and social affairs.

Nguyen Huu Dong, a student leader who attends the architecture school, said a committee has been formed to spearhead the student protest movement.

He said appeals for aid were being dispatched to foreign capitals.

The official news agency said troops and police enforcing martial law in Binh Thuan province arrested 43 persons at the Binh Quang pagoda and the Buddhist Association chapter pagoda in Phan Thiet ciyt Wednesday night.

Diem's government announced Friday that while martial law remains in effect, all ministries will take orders from the military.

The State Department in Washington said Mau's resignation as foreign minister was one factor delaying Henry Cabot Lodge, the new U.S. ambassador, in presenting his credentials to Diem.

There had been no American contact with Diem since martial law was declared through Saturday morning, although U.S. authorities had talked with other Saigon officials, including Diem's brother Ngo Dinh Nhu, who is head of the secret police.

A statement by Richard I. Phillips, State Department press officer, said U.S. aid for Viet Nam in the fight against Communist guerrillas would continue. "There has been no change in our basic policy of assisting Viet Nam in its prosecution of the war against the Communist Viet Cong," he said.

6 County Attorneys Get State Bar Posts

Six Columbiana County attorneys are among those named to standing committees and sections of the Ohio State Bar Association.

Appointment to the committees follows the July changeover of officers of the association. Atty. Erle H. Bridgewater Jr. of Athens is new president.

Those named on standing committees include:

Atty. Francis H. Lang of East Liverpool, administrative law; Atty. Alfred L. Fitch of Salem, corporate counsel; Atty. Jack H. Cohen of East Palestine, law libraries; Atty. Robert S. Hartford of East Palestine, local government law; Atty. Lynn R. Riddle of Lisbon, traffic law, and Atty. Frank Springer of East Palestine, uniform state laws.

Group Elects In Hancock

Mrs. Kenneth Melvin and Mrs. Jesse Oyster have been elected officers of the Hancock County Home Demonstration Council.

A member of the Agathelian Farm Women's Club, Mrs. Melvin was named vice president. Mrs. Oyster is a member of the Rhododendron Farm Women's Club and was returned as treasurer.

The council is planning for the state leadership training meeting Sept. 23-27 at Jacksons Mill, the county program planning meeting Sept. 9 in New Cumberland, and the county program planning meeting Sept. 9 in New Cumberland, and the county education tour of the West Virginia University medical center and Morgantown Glassware Guild, Inc., in October.

Over 40 attended the council's picnic meeting Wednesday at Tomlinson Run State Park in Pughtown.

Shifting Sand Halted By The Pouring Of Oil

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The shifting sands of the world's deserts might be stopped by oil, according to a paper prepared by a team from Esso Research Ltd.

Desert areas now cover about 15 per cent of the earth's land and shifting sand dunes, driven by strong winds, are slowly covering more areas.

In a reforestation experiment in Libya, water - bearing sand dunes were planted with seedlings of acacia and eucalyptus trees and the dunes were sprayed with oil to prevent movement of the surface sand.

A year latre, many of the seedlings had grown into six - foot tall trees, the researchers reported.

Airman Cunningham, stationed at Shaw Air Force Base at Sumpter, S. C., is to serve 30 months at Wheeler Air Force Base in Libya. He is a 1958 graduate of Chester High School and re-enlisted in January.

U.S. Officials Asked To Be At Rights March

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The National Catholic Social Action Conference has called for official government representation at the Washington civil rights demonstration Aug. 28.

The conference, holding four-day session here, approved a resolution encouraging people at the conference also to attend.

Three hundred Roman Catholic clergymen and laymen are attending the seventh annual convention on the University of Dayton campus. The theme is "Creating Community in American Life."

50th Anniversary

Church To Celebrate

REV. J. M. MARBREY

MRS. J. M. MARBREY

The First Baptist Church of Midland, of which the Rev. J. M. Marbrey has been pastor for 13 years, will observe its 50th anniversary Sunday at 3:30 p.m. with a special program.

The Midland High School Band will lead a march from 8th St. to the church at 5th St.

The anniversary sermon will be given by the Rev. A. A. Ward of Youngstown, who will be accompanied by his choir and congregation.

Mrs. Joyce Griffith will give the welcome address.

Remarks will be given by Mayor Eli G. Corak, Solicitor Robert J. Masters, James P. Mullen, assistant director of District 20 of the United Steelworkers; Glenn B. Roberts, superintendent of community relations at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., and Mrs. Magdalene Wyche, a member of the congregation. The welcome address will be given by Mrs. Joyce Griffith.

The history of the church will be presented by James H. Morrison, clerk of the church and president of the Midland Board of Education.

Participating in the memorial services will be Mrs. Robert Jones of the St. Paul African Methodist Episcopal Church of Midland, Mrs. Viola Hodges of the Mt. Olive Baptist Church of Midland and Mrs. J. G. Douglas of the Sheridan AME Church of East Liverpool.

Selections will be given by the choir of the Youngstown church. Organ selection will be presented by Arthur L. Roberts and John Cilli of East Liverpool.

Mrs. John Hosey will preside. Mrs. Marbrey is general chairman and Mrs. Rochell McCauley is co-chairman.

Religious Groups Will Play Large Role In Rights March

WASHINGTON (AP)—Religious groups will play a large role in Wednesday's civil rights march on Washington.

The ten chairmen of the march include three religious leaders: Mathew Ahmann, executive director of the National Catholic Conference for Interracial Justice; the Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, vice chairman of the Commission on Race and Religion of the National Council of Churches; and Rabbi Joachim Prinz, chairman of the American Jewish Congress.

In addition, a fourth chairman, like many other Negro civil rights leaders, is a minister—the Rev. Martin Luther King.

These four chairmen will meet with President Kennedy, have prominent places in the march, and address the demonstrators during afternoon ceremonies at the Lincoln Memorial.

In addition, many priests, ministers and rabbis, and religious groups will take part in the march from the Washington Monument to the Lincoln Memorial.

Roman Catholic prelates in the demonstration will include Archbishop Patrick O'Boyle of Washington, Archbishop Lawrence J. Shehan and Bishop Thomas H. Murphy of Baltimore, Bishops John J. Russell and Ernest L. Unterkoefler of Richmond, Va., Bishop Michael W. Hyle of Wilmington, Del., and Bishop Philip M. Hannan of Washington.

The Rev. Dr. Robert W. Spike, executive director of the Commission of Race Relations of the National Council of Churches, says that 30,000 to 40,000 Protestant churchmen will be among the marchers.

He said the march for some people would be "the beginning of a new commitment to work for racial justice with all their strength and wisdom."

Newell Teacher Who Visited Spain To Apply Experiences

The experiences gained from a six-week visit in Spain and Portugal this summer will be passed along to Spanish students at the Newell Jefferson School in the new term by the teacher.

Mrs. Helen Doane, 510 Grant St., visited the European countries from late June to July 29 to become better acquainted with Spanish background as a teacher of the foreign language.

The inclusion of Spanish in the curriculum of the elementary school in the Hancock County school system was started two years ago and is continuing on a permanent basis, rather than merely experimental.

Mrs. Doane taught first- and second-grade Spanish last year, and in the new term starting Sept. 4 will continue with last year's pupils in the second and third grades.

Her visit to the countries abroad was both business and pleasure. She brought back many souvenirs and pictures of Spanish cultural points and will utilize them in instructing the language at the Newell school.

While in Portugal, Mrs. Doane visited a brother, Dr. Marquis R. Huffman of Collares, retired physician. She traveled by car along the entire coastline of Portugal and made a 12-day trip into Northern Spain.

Born in Puerto Rico, Mrs. Doane has been familiar with the Spanish language for some time and a few years ago trained for eight weeks at Kent State University under the National Defense Act emphasizing the value of teaching foreign languages in elementary and secondary schools.

She made the trip abroad by jetliner and went alone. She has taught in the county system 10 years.

level a little after 10 a.m. and resumed again a little before 10:30 a.m.

The first 33 feet of the shaft are mainly clay and loose rock, the next 173 feet sand rock — which breaks up into sand as the hole is bored. The remainder of the distance is through solid rock and coal.

Fellin and Throne consulted with rescue crews before the drilling started this morning, but after that were mainly silent. They are linked to the surface also by way of a six-inch lifeline hole, completed Sunday, through which food and supplies have been lowered.

Authorities said the most optimistic estimate for bringing the men, David Fellin, 58, and Henry Throne, 28, to the surface would be at least Sunday night.

Despite optimism, caution prevailed. H. B. Charmbury, Pennsylvania secretary of mines, said "The situation is just as dangerous now as it has ever been."

The fate of a third trapped miner, Louis Bova, 42, who has not been heard from since Tuesday night when Fellin reported he made contact with him, remained uncertain. He is separated from the other two men by a pile of debris and is believed to be about 25 feet away.

Charmbury said "we haven't given up on Bova."

A four-inch lifeline hole through which food and other supplies could be lowered was being drilled to the area where Bova is believed to be trapped, but this had progressed to only 40 feet shortly after midnight when the drilling rig lost its bit.

After trying for several hours to get the bit out, rescuers abandoned the hole and started shortly after dawn drilling another four-inch hole about a foot away from the one abandoned. The drill being used on this hole is much smaller.

As a preliminary step to enlarging the 12-inch escape hole for Fellin and Throne with a 10-story high, 65-ton, electrically operated drilling rig, workers began early today plugging the shaft with a cylinder made up of a stack of wooden plates surrounded with rubber gaskets to make a tight seal.

At dawn, the hole was plugged as the cylinder was forced down it with a ram to prevent dust and debris loosened by the giant drill from falling into the 14-foot long, 9-foot wide cubicle holding Fellin and Throne.

The plug was tested by pouring dust and water into the hole.

Fellin, who was awakened after a 3½ hour nap for the test, reported nothing was leaking into the chamber.

Concrete was poured on top of the plug to bond it to the walls of the hole. The plug was placed at a depth of 298 feet, some 25 feet short of the opening, in order to anchor it in solid rock instead of the softer coal below. Workers said it would take about an hour for the concrete to harden.

Timbers, planks and other shoring materials were lowered to Fellin and Throne during the night. They wedged the heavy boards and logs against the ceiling and walls of their chamber to brace it against the drilling.

Hammering could be heard over a microphone communications system which was lowered to Fellin and Throne when contact was first made with them Sunday night through a six-inch lifeline hole, after nearly being given up for dead. Fellin and Throne have been receiving food and other supplies through the lifeline hole, but Bova has been without food.

Shortly before midnight, a 3½ by 22 inch, specially-constructed television camera made by General Precision Corp. of Pleasantville, N.Y., which is used to inspect New York City sewers, was lowered into the cubicle.

Two television monitors on the surface picked up unclear images of the men, but still they were a fascinating and joyous sight to rescuers, relatives and spectators.

The purpose of the TV experiment was to check the shaft, examine the cubicle and permit a physician to examine the men, but it apparently was unsuccessful because of unclear pictures.

Plans for enlarging the shaft, outlined Friday night by Gordon Smith, deputy secretary of mines, called for drilling a 26-inch hole to a depth of 40-45 feet, then lining it with steel casing. Smith said this was expected to take about two hours.

After the 26-inch hole reached its destination, mostly through clay rather than hard rock, a conference was planned to determine whether to go the rest of the way at a 17-inch width or possibly 24 inches.

The 12-inch escape hole, drilled by the giant rig, finally hit its mark at 3:29 p.m., E.D.T., Friday after two previous failures.

"I can see the drill!" shouted Fellin. "Hold it! That's enough. It's through!"

It was first understood that the drill went through the top of the cubicle, but later Charmbury said the hole came down beside the chamber.

"The break's through! The break's through!!" Fellin kept shouting.

Watching on the surface, his wife, Anna, cried and rejoiced.

"It's wonderful," she said. "We prayed all the way, every minute."

The breakthrough climaxed more than an hour of waiting for the final few inches of hard rock to give way.

The rig was slowed to an agonizing pace as it neared the chamber to avoid the possibility of any cave-ins.

Earlier Friday, Gov. and Mrs. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania took time out from a New York vacation to visit the scene and converse with the men over the communications system.

"Hi, fellows! Hi, David! Hi, Hank! said the governor. "You're both wonderful guys. We're just as proud of you as we can be. We'll get through to you as soon as we can. You're doing a great job."

Fellin and Throne have kept up their spirits with an exchange of humor and singing during their entombment.

Rescuers monitoring the communications system linking them with the two men say they have had added a new number to their repertoire. The song, ironically, is the old Negro spiritual, "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground."

Wellsville Services Set

Church Will Observe Its 52nd Anniversary

The Rev. C. W. Goss of the Zion Hill Baptist Church of Youngstown will be guest speaker at the 52nd anniversary celebration of the Wellsville First Baptist Church Sunday at 3:30 p. m.

The program will open with devotions by the deacons, followed with welcome by Mrs. Fuller Snyder, reading by Mrs. Mary Pulliam, solo by Mrs. Carmen Spann and the history of the church by Mrs. Eva Hilton.

Rev. Goss' Church Choir will provide special music. Members of his congregation will accompany him.

Following the program, guests will be served refreshments by the diningroom committee.

The church was founded in 1911 by the Rev. John Williams and the Rev. William B. Woodson, both of MacDonald, Pa. The site of the organization was at 1300 Commerce St. In 1913, the church moved to Commerce St. between 12th and 13th Sts. The first church building was on the east side of Commerce St. near 12th St.

The Rev. George White was pastor when the structure was started and the Rev. William Ogelsby was in the pulpit when the building was finished. A few months after the dedication the building burned to the ground.

The present church at 13th and Center St., was built and dedicated while Rev. Ogelsby was pastor. The Rev. John H. Maiden of Youngstown now is pastor and the 11th to serve the charge.

Plans are underway for a general remodeling and refurnishing of the building.

Service U.P. Church Plans Annual Homecoming Fete

The historic Service United Presbyterian Church in Raccoon Township will hold its traditional homecoming Sunday and sponsors said this will be "further evidence of recovery by the church that refused to die." Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall are homecoming chairmen.

This little church, oldest in Beaver County, has survived receding tides of farm migration to the cities, a fire which destroyed the previous substantial sanctuary and near-flooding by Ambridge's Service Creek Reservoir and is now, its members are convinced, "again on the rise as an influence for good in this rural area."

Vsiitors will inspect shrubbery and tree plantings by the Youth Group of the church, and will note that a portion of the fence of the John Anderson Memorial Cemetery has been removed, making an uninterrupted sweep from graveyard to water's edge.

The Bible Study Hour will be from 11:30 to 12:30 under the leadership of Joseph Campbell of Beaver. Dinner will be served at 12:30 by the women of the church, cafeteria-style. This will be the second year in which the new basement, first step in the church's rebuilding program, has been in use.

Worship service will be at 2:30, conducted by Dr. John M. Bald, associate professor of Christian Ethics of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary. Collection proceeds will go, as usual, to the care of the cemetery, where many of Beaver County's pioneer settlers lie buried.

Church Will Discuss Synod's Race Action

A discussion on the theme, "Shall We Patronize Only Those Businesses Which Serve All Races and Creed?", will be held Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at the Chester First United Presbyterian Church.

The discussion was prompted by a resolution passed by the Synod of West Virginia, urging congregations to go on record to patronize only those restaurants, motels, hotels, and other business establishments which serve all persons regardless of race or creed.

interview that Pentagon officials have promised a reply Monday to a request for specifications from Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee. "These get to the heart of the whole issue," Jackson said.

The safeguards include an aggressive program for improving and testing nuclear weapons underground as permitted by the treaty, emphasis on continued laboratory development and nuclear research, maintenance of facilities so that atmosphere testing can be resumed promptly if deemed necessary, and improvement of present methods for detection of cheating and monitoring of all Soviet nuclear activities.

Another underground nuclear blast—the third since agreement was reached with the Soviet Union and Britain on the treaty—was set off Friday at the Atomic Energy Commission's test site in Nevada. The explosion was described as low yield, meaning it had a force equivalent to less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

milling students clustered around Mau, shouting and applauding, often drowning out his words.

Armed troops and police watched from a street outside the law faculty building but made no attempt to interfere. The demonstration wore itself out.

Meantime, Mau's status was complicated by Diem's refusal to accept the foreign minister's resignation.

Instead, Diem granted Mau three months' official leave, the official Viet Nam news agency said, and appointed Truong Cong Cuu to act as foreign secretary. Cuu has been coordinating secretary of state for cultural and social affairs.

Nguyen Huu Dong, a student leader who attends the architecture school, said a committee has been formed to spearhead the student protest movement.

He said appeals for aid were being dispatched to foreign capitals.

The official news agency said troops and police enforcing martial law in Binh Thuan province arrested 43 persons at the Binh Quang pagoda and the Buddhist Association chapter pagoda in Phan Thiet ciyt Wednesday night.

Diem's government announced Friday that while martial law remains in effect, all ministries will take orders from the military.

The State Department in Washington said Mau's resignation as foreign minister was one factor delaying Henry Cabot Lodge, the new U.S. ambassador, in presenting his credentials to Diem.

There had been no American contact with Diem since martial law was declared through Saturday morning, although U.S. authorities had talked with other Saigon officials, including Diem's brother Ngo Dinh Nhu, who is head of the secret police.

A statement by Richard I. Phillips, State Department press officer, said U.S. aid for Viet Nam in the fight against Communist guerrillas would continue. "There has been no change in our basic policy of assisting Viet Nam in its prosecution of the war against the Communist Viet Cong," he said.

Saudi Arabia's vast Empty Quarter is the earth's least populated area outside the polar regions.

Group Elects In Hancock

Mrs. Kenneth Melvin and Mrs. Jesse Oyster have been elected officers of the Hancock County Home Demonstration Council.

A member of the Agathelian Farm Women's Club, Mrs. Melvin was named vice president. Mrs. Oyster is a member of the Rhododendron Farm Women's Club and was returned as treasurer.

The council is planning for the state leadership training meeting Sept. 23-27 at Jacksons Mill, the county program planning meeting Sept. 9 in New Cumberland, and the county program planning meeting Sept. 9 in New Cumberland, and the county education tour of the West Virginia University medical center and Morgantown Glassware Guild, Inc., in October.

Over 40 attended the council's picnic meeting Wednesday at Tomlinson Run State Park in Pughtown.

Shifting Sand Halted By The Pouring Of Oil

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The shifting sands of the world's deserts might be stopped by oil, according to a paper prepared by a team from Esso Research Ltd.

Desert areas now cover about 15 per cent of the earth's land and shifting sand dunes, driven by strong winds, are slowly covering more areas.

In a reforestation experiment in Libya, water - bearing sand dunes were planted with seedlings of acacia and eucalyptus trees and the dunes were sprayed with oil to prevent movement of the surface sand.

A year latre, many of the seedlings had grown into six - foot-tall trees, the researchers reported.

Light Rain Hits East, West Areas

By The Associated Press

Light rain fell in scattered sections in the east and in the western half of the nation Friday, with generally fair weather in most other parts of the nation.

The rain belts covered areas in New England, Kansas, Idaho and Michigan. Thundershowers were reported in the Rockies and the Cascades.

Warm air from the Gulf spread far northward to the southern Great Lakes region and held temperatures in the 70s and 80s. Similar readings, but with less humidity, prevailed in the interior sections of the southwest.

Coolest spots, with temperatures near 60 degrees, were along the Pacific coastline and in the northern Midwest region. Cooler weather was indicated in the Central Plains and from northern Illinois and the upper Ohio Valley into New England.

Her Wedding Present To Be Asphalt Carpet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Helen Dougherty is getting married today and the city is sending her a special wedding present—an asphalt carpet.

Miss Dougherty, 21, lives on a block pitted with trenches for a new water main. When her mother complained that her daughter would have a terrible time getting to the automobile for the trip to the church, the city agreed to pave the path.

Barbecue Given For Lisbon Club

The Thursday Night Club of Lisbon was entertained with a barbecue and social time at the home of Mrs. Lester Culbertson of the Guilford Lake Rd.

Mrs. Rennie Perkins and Mrs. Pete Gallo received prizes for 500.

The club will meet Sept. 19 at the home of Mrs. Gallo of the Columbiana Rd.

Mrs. Robert Rauch and daughter, Lisa, of Tustin, Calif. are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perlee Bye of W. Chestnut St., and her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Rauch of E. Lincoln Way. They will be joined by Rauch the first of September.

Atty. and Mrs. George Kastrenakes and children John and Lisa, of Miami, Fla., returned Friday after visiting the past two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Earl Apple, of E. Lincoln Way.

Switzerland Set To Sign Treaty

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—The government has announced it will sign the Moscow test ban treaty, but reserves the right to acquire atomic weapons.

The decision, announced Friday after an extraordinary Cabinet meeting, was expected to be approved by Parliament at its session opening Sept. 16. The government said its envoys will sign the treaty next month in Washington, London and Moscow.

The government announcement said that Switzerland "of course retains its freedom of decision whether to arm with nuclear weapons. This decision will only be influenced by further developments."

Although there appears little chance in the foreseeable future for this small country to acquire nuclear weapons, most Swiss feel Switzerland should retain the possibility of acquiring the most effective weapons against an aggressor.

Merchants Start Christmas Plans

Despite the month and the weather, the East Liverpool Merchants Association has started preliminary plans for Christmas activities.

The committee headed by Harold Allison discussed purchase of some new Christmas lighting decorations and replacement of some other decorations.

Some changes in the lighting will result from the new downtown street lighting program expected to be completed by Nov. 1.

Installation Slated For Lisbon Minister

LISBON — An installation ceremony for the Rev. James E. Moxley, new minister of the First Christian Church, will be held Sunday evening at 7:30.

The Rev. Ray Bosh of Hiram College will have charge of the service and the sermon will be given by the Rev. Harold Doster of Bethany College. Elders of the church will assist.

A reception will follow in the church diningroom.

Adventist Parochial School Will Register

Registration for pupils entering the new parochial school of the Seventh-day Adventist Church will be conducted Sunday from 10 a. m. to noon.

Classes are scheduled to begin Sept. 3 at the new school, located on Route 45 about 2½ miles north of Lisbon, Pastor Lyle E. Euler, said.

Women's Day Event Planned At Midland

Mrs. J. J. Jackson of Detroit and Mrs. Mable Ford of Cleveland will be speakers for the Midland Church of the Living God's annual Women's Day observance.

Mrs. Vanable Samuels is chairman.

Mrs. Jackson will speak at the 11 a. m. worship and Mrs. Ford at the 3 p. m. service.

Dinner will be served in the diningroom following the morning worship.

Wins Majorette Title

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Margaret Fleming, 14, of Lincoln Park, Mich., won the title of "World Junior Majorette Queen" with her baton twirling Friday night at the majorette festival of the World Twirling Association. Runnerup was Joyce Murawski of Cleveland.

Jim didn't catch any fish today. Now, on the way home, he can't help casting an envious eye at Tim's haul. It isn't that he begrudges Tim his fish. It's just that, in his heart, he can't help wish that he had been the lucky one.

This is natural, and Jim is young. He's just beginning to learn that you can't always be a winner, but he still finds losing pretty hard to take in stride.

Fortunately, Jim is being given the advantage of Christian training in church during this all-important period in a boy's life when a sense of values is being formed. He is learning lessons which only the Church can give him.

True, Jim is envying a very small item — a string of fish. But envy and greed come to all of us on a larger scale many times throughout life. To meet this challenge squarely, it takes years of self-discipline. That is why religious training can never begin too early.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Light Rain Hits East, West Areas

By The Associated Press

Light rain fell in scattered sections in the east and in the western half of the nation Friday, with generally fair weather in most other parts of the nation.

The rain belts covered areas in New England, Kansas, Idaho and Michigan. Thundershowers were reported in the Rockies and the Cascades.

Warm air from the Gulf spread far northward to the southern Great Lakes region and held temperatures in the 70s and 80s. Similar readings, but with less humidity, prevailed in the interior sections of the southwest.

Coolest spots, with temperatures near 60 degrees, were along the Pacific coastline and in the northern Midwest region. Cooler weather was indicated in the Central Plains and from northern Illinois and the upper Ohio Valley into New England.

Her Wedding Present To Be Asphalt Carpet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Helen Dougherty is getting married today and the city is sending her a special wedding present—an asphalt carpet.

Miss Dougherty, 21, lives on a block pitted with trenches for a new water main. When her mother complained that her daughter would have a terrible time getting to the automobile for the trip to the church, the city agreed to pave the path.

Barbecue Given For Lisbon Club

The Thursday Night Club of Lisbon was entertained with a barbecue and social time at the home of Mrs. Lester Culbertson of the Guilford Lake Rd.

Mrs. Rennie Perkins and Mrs. Pete Gallo received prizes for 500.

The club will meet Sept. 19 at the home of Mrs. Gallo of the Columbiana Rd.

Mrs. Robert Rauch and daughter, Lisa, of Tustin, Calif. are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perlee Bye of W. Chestnut St., and her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Rauch of E. Lincoln Way. They will be joined by Rauch the first of September.

Atty. and Mrs. George Kastrenakes and children John and Lisa, of Miami, Fla., returned Friday after visiting the past two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Earl Apple, of E. Lincoln Way.

Switzerland Set To Sign Treaty

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—The government has announced it will sign the Moscow test ban treaty, but reserves the right to acquire atomic weapons.

The decision, announced Friday after an extraordinary Cabinet meeting, was expected to be approved by Parliament at its session opening Sept. 16. The government said its envoys will sign the treaty next month in Washington, London and Moscow.

The government announcement said that Switzerland "of course retains its freedom of decision whether to arm with nuclear weapons. This decision will only be influenced by further developments."

Although there appears little chance in the foreseeable future for this small country to acquire nuclear weapons, most Swiss feel Switzerland should retain the possibility of acquiring the most effective weapons against an aggressor.

Merchants Start Christmas Plans

Despite the month and the weather, the East Liverpool Merchants Association has started preliminary plans for Christmas activities.

The committee headed by Harold Allison discussed purchase of some new Christmas lighting decorations and replacement of some other decorations.

Some changes in the lighting will result from the new downtown street lighting program expected to be completed by Nov. 1.

Installation Slated For Lisbon Minister

LISBON — An installation ceremony for the Rev. James E. Moxley, new minister of the First Christian Church, will be held Sunday evening at 7:30.

The Rev. Ray Bosh of Hiram College will have charge of the service and the sermon will be given by the Rev. Harold Doster of Bethany College. Elders of the church will assist.

A reception will follow in the church diningroom.

Adventist Parochial School Will Register

Registration for pupils entering the new parochial school of the Seventh-day Adventist Church will be conducted Sunday from 10 a. m. to noon.

Classes are scheduled to begin Sept. 3 at the new school, located on Route 45 about 2½ miles north of Lisbon, Pastor Lyle E. Euler, said.

Women's Day Event Planned At Midland

Mrs. J. J. Jackson of Detroit and Mrs. Mable Ford of Cleveland will be speakers for the Midland Church of the Living God's annual Women's Day observance.

Mrs. Vanable Samuels is chairman.

Mrs. Jackson will speak at the 11 a. m. worship and Mrs. Ford at the 3 p. m. service.

Dinner will be served in the diningroom following the morning worship.

Wins Majorette Title

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Margaret Fleming, 14, of Lincoln Park, Mich., won the title of "World Junior Majorette Queen" with her baton twirling Friday night at the majorette festival of the World Twirling Association. Runnerup was Joyce Murawski of Cleveland.

Jim didn't catch any fish today. Now, on the way home, he can't help casting an envious eye at Tim's haul. It isn't that he begrudges Tim his fish. It's just that, in his heart, he can't help wish that he had been the lucky one.

This is natural, and Jim is young. He's just beginning to learn that you can't always be a winner, but he still finds losing pretty hard to take in stride.

Fortunately, Jim is being given the advantage of Christian training in church during this all-important period in a boy's life when a sense of values is being formed. He is learning lessons which only the Church can give him.

True, Jim is envying a very small item — a string of fish. But envy and greed come to all of us on a larger scale many times throughout life. To meet this challenge squarely, it takes years of self-discipline. That is why religious training can never begin too early.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ROSEMARY BECKWELL
Fiancee Of John F. Schulte.

Miss Beckwell's Wedding To Be November Event

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Beckwell, 485 Orchard Grove Ave., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Rosemary Beckwell, to John F. Schulte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Schulte, 832 Ohio Ave., Midland.

The bride-elect is a graduate of East Liverpool High School and has completed two years study at The College of St. Mary of the Springs, Columbus.

Her fiance is a graduate of Midland High School and of St. Francis College at Loretto, Pa., where he received a bachelor of arts degree in economics.

A November wedding is planned.

Fife-Demarest Wedding Held At Munhall Church

Miss Donna Lee Demarest carried a crescent cascade of white roses and English ivy when she became the bride of Karl Fife at 7:30 o'clock on Friday evening in the Messiah Lutheran Church of Munhall.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Demarest of Beaver and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fife, 1621 St. Clair Ave.

The Rev. Warren E. Upton, pastor, officiated for the double-ring, candlelight ceremony before an altar banked with palms, ferns and candelabra.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of ivory silk faced peau, fashioned with a portrait neckline and brief sleeves. Alencon lace accented the front of the controlled carriage skirt and was repeated at the back waistline. Unpressed pleats formed back fullness extending into a chapel train.

Her bouffant veil of imported silk illusion was held in place by a matching pillbox highlighted with the lace motifs.

Miss Marjorie Carpe was maid of honor and Miss Marcie Kuruc and Miss Marilyn Docherty, bridesmaids.

They wore pink georgette dresses designed with circlet necklines and elbow-length sleeves. Unpressed pleats and a small front bow set off the skirt. They wore matching headpieces and carried clutch bags topped with pink carnations and ivy.

MRS. KARL FIFE
Beaver Girl City Man's Bride.

A reception followed in the social rooms.

The bride is a 1959 graduate of Munhall High School and will be graduated in September from St. Frances Hospital School of Nursing in Pittsburgh. She has accepted a position with the Mt. Sinai Hospital at Cleveland.

Her husband was graduated from East Liverpool High School and Geneva College. In September he will enter his sophomore year at Western Reserve University School of Dentistry.

Following a honeymoon in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., the newlyweds will reside in Cleveland.

Next meeting is Sept. 5 with Mrs. Marian Reed of Grandview.

Prayer Retreat Of Presbyterial Will Be At Camp

A full schedule is planned for the annual 24-hour prayer retreat of the Steubenville Presbyterial Tuesday and Wednesday at the Beaver Creek Camp at Grimms Bridge.

Mrs. Lee Myers, chairman, announced a swimming period from noon will precede the opening session at 2:45 o'clock.

Five individual study groups will discuss the topic, "The Kingdom of God," which has been studied by all the missionary circles for the past season.

Sub-topics are "What Is It," "Here and Now," "At the End of Time," "The Imperative of the Kingdom—Go" and "The Stewards."

Following the dinner hour an early evening vesper service is planned. Principal speaker will be Mrs. Donald G. Phillips, missionary on furlough from the Philippines.

A funfest will follow, including group singing and skits.

Early Bible groups will be formed Wednesday morning when the annual "Walk to Emmaeus" will be featured. During this session the group will be divided into couples, who will relate their personal spiritual experiences as they walk through the woods.

The meeting will adjourn with a period of prayer following luncheon.

A Good Excuse

MIAMI (AP) — Attorney Seymour London failed to appear for a pretrial conference and Circuit Judge Henry Balaban angrily sent court aides looking for the lawyer. They found London in a courthouse elevator, stuck between floors.

More Studies Okayed By Ohio Service Unit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Legislative Service Commission, which gathers information for the General Assembly, has authorized studies in six additional areas, including Blue Cross and other hospital association services.

The commission, meeting Friday, also decided to look into Ohio's tuberculosis program, reciprocity with other states on truck and motor vehicle taxes, laws governing state printing and local legal advertising, annexation statutes, and regulations governing domestic relations and juvenile probation.

Ohio Couple Jailed In Shoplifting Spree

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A young Cincinnati couple were in jail today as detectives unraveled notes from a carefully kept ledger outlining a month-long shoplifting spree through 10 cities.

Don L. Harris, 25, and his wife, Judy Anne, 22, told Miami police they took hundreds of dollars worth of goods from major stores and mailed the items to a fence in Cincinnati.

Officers said the ledger, found in the couple's motel room, listed shoplifting in Cincinnati, Covington, Ky., and eight southern cities.

The two were arrested Thursday after detectives watched them lift $53 worth of men's shirts from a Miami department store.

Unexpected Turnout

PURDY, Mo. (AP) — Residents of a new school district had to hold two elections to choose a school board. The polls ran out of ballots in the first one.

Lions Great Lovers, Zoo Caretaker Says

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP)—Lions are great lovers, says George Booker, who has been taking care of them for more than a half century.

Booker, 71, recently retired as caretaker of the Groote Schuur Zoo on the slopes of Table Mountain.

"Lions," says Booker, "can teach us humans a lot. They are much kinder to their females than men are. They are more protective, more tolerant, more faithful, and, without exception, great lovers."

But lions also are the laziest animals in the world in Booker's view.

"I'm certain these chaps here don't even know they're in captivity. As long as they get their food they wouldn't dream of seeing what's on the other side of the fence. They just stay put."

Polltakers Move In Along With Space Age

ANDOVER, Maine (AP) — What happens to a town of 790 people when it gets an internationally known space-age installation? Well, for one thing, it is visited by polltakers.

Andover, site of the Telstar antenna system for overseas communication via satellite, had its pulse taken this summer by a University of Maine survey team.

Results are not complete but preliminary findings show that the townspeople have taken the whole thing in stride and the Telstar staff likes the place.

The town now has a school problem. But who hasn't?

ROSEMARY BECKWELL
Fiancee Of John F. Schulte.

Miss Beckwell's Wedding To Be November Event

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Beckwell, 485 Orchard Grove Ave., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Rosemary Beckwell, to John F. Schulte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Schulte, 832 Ohio Ave., Midland.

The bride-elect is a graduate of East Liverpool High School and has completed two years study at The College of St. Mary of the Springs, Columbus.

Her fiance is a graduate of Midland High School and of St. Francis College at Loretto, Pa., where he received a bachelor of arts degree in economics.

A November wedding is planned.

Fife-Demarest Wedding Held At Munhall Church

Miss Donna Lee Demarest carried a crescent cascade of white roses and English ivy when she became the bride of Karl Fife at 7:30 o'clock on Friday evening in the Messiah Lutheran Church of Munhall.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Demarest of Beaver and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fife, 1621 St. Clair Ave.

The Rev. Warren E. Upton, pastor, officiated for the double-ring, candlelight ceremony before an altar banked with palms, ferns and candelabra.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of ivory silk faced peau, fashioned with a portrait neckline and brief sleeves. Alencon lace accented the front of the controlled carriage skirt and was repeated at the back waistline. Unpressed pleats formed back fullness extending into a chapel train.

Her bouffant veil of imported silk illusion was held in place by a matching pillbox highlighted with the lace motifs.

Miss Marjorie Carpe was maid of honor and Miss Marcie Kuruc and Miss Marilyn Docherty, bridesmaids.

They wore pink georgette dresses designed with circlet necklines and elbow-length sleeves. Unpressed pleats and a small front bow set off the skirt. They wore matching headpieces and carried clutch bags topped with pink carnations and ivy.

William Steffen, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Tony Kostler and Robert Smith.

The mother of the bride chose a sheath of petal pink Doupioni silk styled with a jeweled bodice. Her corsage was of white gardenias. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige silk sheath with matching accessories and a yellow tearose corsage.

A reception followed in the social rooms.

The bride is a 1959 graduate of Munhall High School and will be graduated in September from St. Frances Hospital School of Nursing in Pittsburgh. She has accepted a position with the Mt. Sinai Hospital at Cleveland.

Her husband was graduated from East Liverpool High School and Geneva College. In September he will enter his sophomore year at Western Reserve University School of Dentistry.

Following a honeymoon in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., the newlyweds will reside in Cleveland.

MRS. KARL FIFE
Beaver Girl City Man's Bride.

Next meeting is Sept. 5 with Mrs. Marian Reed of Grandview.

The Friendship Class of the First Methodist Church will hold a coverdish picnic Monday night at Fox Lake near Laughlin's Corners. The group will meet at the church at 6 o'clock for transportation, Mrs. Charles Bennett said.

Midland Society

A. J. Nuzzo NE 4-2315

Mrs. Walter Steff of Midland View was hostess to the Chat and Chew Club Thursday night. Two tables of 500 were in play.

Prizes went to Mrs. Walter Schuffert, Mrs. Sam Presutti, who also won travel, and Mrs. John Girting.

Mrs. Girting will entertain the club Sept. 5 at her home in Meadowbrook Estates.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schlosser and daughter, Lillian, of Penn Ave. and Mrs. Steve Petrosky and daughter, Helen, of Virginia Ave. have returned home after a vacation in Atlantic City and Wildwood, N. J.

Pfc. Arthur Brown of Ft. Chaffee, Ark., is spending a 15-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown, of Ohio View. He is a graduate of Midland High School.

A U.S. president's term begins at noon on Jan. 20, every four years.

Prayer Retreat Of Presbyterial Will Be At Camp

A full schedule is planned for the annual 24-hour prayer retreat of the Steubenville Presbyterial Tuesday and Wednesday at the Beaver Creek Camp at Grimms Bridge.

Mrs. Lee Myers, chairman, announced a swimming period from noon will precede the opening session at 2:45 o'clock.

Five individual study groups will discuss the topic, "The Kingdom of God," which has been studied by all the missionary circles for the past season.

Sub-topics are "What Is It," "Here and Now," "At the End of Time," "The Imperative of the Kingdom—Go" and "The Stewards."

Following the dinner hour an early evening vesper service is planned. Principal speaker will be Mrs. Donald G. Phillips, missionary on furlough from the Philippines.

A funfest will follow, including group singing and skits.

Early Bible groups will be formed Wednesday morning when the annual "Walk to Emmaeus" will be featured. During this session the group will be divided into couples, who will relate their personal spiritual experiences as they walk through the woods.

The meeting will adjourn with a period of prayer following luncheon.

State's Fair Lures 101,227 On First Day

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thousands of Ohioans filled the fairgrounds in Columbus Friday to take in opening day of the state's 110th agricultural and industrial exposition.

Attendance figures listed 101,227 a record for opening day. Fair Manager E. J. Keirns said the turnout included about 82,000 nonpaying school children who took advantage of "Youth Day" invitations. Last year's opening day attendance record was 98,265.

Another big crowd was expected with more good weather today, and fair officials said that if the weather holds up Sunday, the opening weekend attendance may set a record.

The fair runs through Sept. 2.

Today was "Rural-Urban Day." Activities included 4-H and Future Farmers of America livestock judging and a number of agricultural and arts and crafts demonstrations. Scheduled as a highlight of the day was selection of the FFA queen.

Friday, 4-H and FFA livestock judging was conducted throughout the day in a dozen rings. Among the many other activities were baton twirling and 4 - H tractor driving contests and a Campfire Girls style show.

Bing Crosby Finds Mother's 90 Not 93

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Singer-golfer Bing Crosby, here to promote his "Beat Bing" golf contest, found out Friday his Minnesota-born mother isn't quite as old as he believed.

His mother, Catherine Harrigan Crosby, lives with Crosby in Beverly Hills, Calif. At a function connected with the golf tournament, Crosby mentioned "my 93-year-old mother."

Then, he was presented with copies of baptismal certificates from St. Michael's Catholic church in Stillwater, Minn., where Mrs. Crosby was born in 1873.

"She never told us her age," Crosby quipped. "Now that I know she's 90 I'll tell her she should feel much better."

Work On Fire Curb System Started Blaze

OAK HARBOR, Ohio (AP)—The owner of Myca Products Inc.'s plant, destroyed by fire, says work on a fire prevention system started Friday's blaze.

None of the 50 employes in the building was injured.

Owner James Kaine of Cleveland said the fire started while a water sprinkler system was being installed. The workman's drill went through a smoke stack and a spark ignited lacquer, Kaine said.

Firemen from Port Clinton, Oak Harbor, Fremont, Rock Ridge and Elmore fought the blaze. Several nearby business places and shops were scorched. No damage estimate was given.

Calls It Inadequate, Unfair

AFL-CIO Board Rejects Ohio's Bond Issue Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio AFL-CIO's executive board has rejected as inadequate and unfair a proposed $250 million bond issue for capital improvements, education, conservation, and recreation.

The board, meeting here Friday, gave unanimous approval to a statement denying support for the bond issue and attacking the governor and legislature for its conception.

Among other things, the labor organization said: "Passage of the bond issue would continue to place most of the state's tax burden on lower income groups and postpone the day of real tax reform in Ohio when everyone pays his fair share."

It added that the bond issue would cost $125 million in interest charges, "too exorbitant a price to pay . . . and a more expensive way of raising funds than if such money through legislation which would distribute the tax burden fairly."

The board called on Gov. James A. Rhodes and members of the legislature "to enact the necessary legislation to meet the needs of Ohio" instead of resorting to the bond issue and "passing the buck to the people."

The labor group labeled as deception the no new taxes claim of the administration and called the bond issue "something that cannot be interpreted as anything but continuance of a new tax . . . into the next century."

Calling the proposed bond issue inadequate, the AFL-CIO board said it would provide only $35 million for public schools when $48 million is needed in the next four years. It said state-supported colleges and universities would receive only $140 million when their needs for capital improvements in the 1962-72 decade total $217 million.

East Junior High Will Post Assignment Of Homerooms

Principal Clarence G. Means said East Junior High School homeroom assignments will be posted at the front entrance of the school beginning Monday, and remain posted until the opening of school Sept. 4.

Bus pass registration will be held Wednesday from 9 to 11:30 a. m. in the school lobby.

Eligible for free forenoon and afternoon transportation will be students from west of Patterson Foundry — south of the railroad tracks, 810 or under on Pennsylvania Ave., on or east of Elizabeth St., Dixonville area, and 870 and up on Price, Valley, Oakland, etc. They are to register Wednesday morning only, Means said.

Students desiring a noon bus pass for the first week of school should purchase them when they register for the other passes. The noon pass for the first week of school — three days — will be 45 cents.

Students who do not reside within the free transportation limits, but who want to buy a pass, should also register Wednesday morning.

No homeroom assignments or bus pass registrations will be given or accepted by phone, Means said.

Lisbon Man To Serve In West Indies Post

LISBON — William Minton is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Minton, of W. Washington St., prior to serving with the Peace Corps on the island of St. Lucia in the West Indies.

He was graduated in June from Youngstown University and just completed an eight-week training course at the University of Maine in preparation for his position as supervisor of adult education and recreation on the West Indies island for a 22-month tour of duty as a corpsman.

Rackets Figure Hurt When Bomb Explodes In Car

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jessie Williams, 39, identified by police as a numbers racket figure, was injured seriously Friday when a bomb exploded as he tried to start his car parked behind his Cleveland home.

It was the second bombing here in 10 days.

A night spot operated by William Seawright, also identified by police as a numbers racket figure, was bombed last week, but no one was injured.

Williams was taken to St. Vincent Charity Hospital, where surgeons were trying to save his right leg.

The blast hurled the hood of the car over the roofs of two houses and it landed a block away. Windows in the neighborhood were shattered.

Police said dynamite had been concealed under the hood and wired to the ignition.

State's Fair Lures 101,227 On First Day

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thousands of Ohioans filled the fairgrounds in Columbus Friday to take in opening day of the state's 110th agricultural and industrial exposition.

Attendance figures listed 101,227 a record for opening day. Fair Manager E. J. Keirns said the turnout included about 82,000 nonpaying school children who took advantage of "Youth Day" invitations. Last year's opening day attendance record was 98,265.

Another big crowd was expected with more good weather today, and fair officials said that if the weather holds up Sunday, the opening weekend attendance may set a record.

The fair runs through Sept. 2.

Today was "Rural-Urban Day." Activities included 4-H and Future Farmers of America livestock judging and a number of agricultural and arts and crafts demonstrations. Scheduled as a highlight of the day was selection of the FFA queen.

Friday, 4-H and FFA livestock judging was conducted throughout the day in a dozen rings. Among the many other activities were baton twirling and 4 - H tractor driving contests and a Campfire Girls style show.

Bing Crosby Finds Mother's 90 Not 93

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Singer-golfer Bing Crosby, here to promote his "Beat Bing" golf contest, found out Friday his Minnesota-born mother isn't quite as old as he believed.

His mother, Catherine Harrigan Crosby, lives with Crosby in Beverly Hills, Calif. At a function connected with the golf tournament, Crosby mentioned "my 93-year-old mother."

Then, he was presented with copies of baptismal certificates from St. Michael's Catholic church in Stillwater, Minn., where Mrs. Crosby was born in 1873.

"She never told us her age," Crosby quipped. "Now that I know she's 90 I'll tell her she should feel much better."

Work On Fire Curb System Started Blaze

OAK HARBOR, Ohio (AP)—The owner of Myca Products Inc.'s plant, destroyed by fire, says work on a fire prevention system started Friday's blaze.

None of the 50 employes in the building was injured.

Owner James Kaine of Cleveland said the fire started while a water sprinkler system was being installed. The workman's drill went through a smoke stack and a spark ignited lacquer, Kaine said.

Firemen from Port Clinton, Oak Harbor, Fremont, Rock Ridge and Elmore fought the blaze. Several nearby business places and shops were scorched. No damage estimate was given.

Calls It Inadequate, Unfair

AFL-CIO Board Rejects Ohio's Bond Issue Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio AFL-CIO's executive board has rejected as inadequate and unfair a proposed $250 million bond issue for capital improvements, education, conservation, and recreation.

The board, meeting here Friday, gave unanimous approval to a statement denying support for the bond issue and attacking the governor and legislature for its conception.

Among other things, the labor organization said: "Passage of the bond issue would continue to place most of the state's tax burden on lower income groups and postpone the day of real tax reform in Ohio when everyone pays his fair share."

It added that the bond issue would cost $125 million in interest charges, "too exorbitant a price to pay . . . and a more expensive way of raising funds than if such money through legislation which would distribute the tax burden fairly."

The board called on Gov. James A. Rhodes and members of the legislature "to enact the necessary legislation to meet the needs of Ohio" instead of resorting to the bond issue and "passing the buck to the people."

The labor group labeled as deception the no new taxes claim of the administration and called the bond issue "something that cannot be interpreted as anything but continuance of a new tax . . . into the next century."

Calling the proposed bond issue inadequate, the AFL-CIO board said it would provide only $35 million for public schools when $48 million is needed in the next four years. It said state-supported colleges and universities would receive only $140 million when their needs for capital improvements in the 1962-72 decade total $217 million.

East Junior High Will Post Assignment Of Homerooms

Principal Clarence G. Means said East Junior High School homeroom assignments will be posted at the front entrance of the school beginning Monday, and remain posted until the opening of school Sept. 4.

Bus pass registration will be held Wednesday from 9 to 11:30 a. m. in the school lobby.

Eligible for free forenoon and afternoon transportation will be students from west of Patterson Foundry — south of the railroad tracks, 810 or under on Pennsylvania Ave., on or east of Elizabeth St., Dixonville area, and 870 and up on Price, Valley, Oakland, etc. They are to register Wednesday morning only, Means said.

Students desiring a noon bus pass for the first week of school should purchase them when they register for the other passes. The noon pass for the first week of school — three days — will be 45 cents.

Students who do not reside within the free transportation limits, but who want to buy a pass, should also register Wednesday morning.

No homeroom assignments or bus pass registrations will be given or accepted by phone, Means said.

Lisbon Man To Serve In West Indies Post

LISBON — William Minton is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Minton, of W. Washington St., prior to serving with the Peace Corps on the island of St. Lucia in the West Indies.

He was graduated in June from Youngstown University and just completed an eight-week training course at the University of Maine in preparation for his position as supervisor of adult education and recreation on the West Indies island for a 22-month tour of duty as a corpsman.

Rackets Figure Hurt When Bomb Explodes In Car

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jessie Williams, 39, identified by police as a numbers racket figure, was injured seriously Friday when a bomb exploded as he tried to start his car parked behind his Cleveland home.

It was the second bombing here in 10 days.

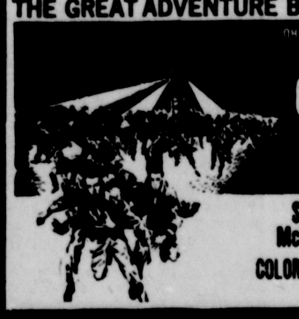

A night spot operated by William Seawright, also identified by police as a numbers racket figure, was bombed last week, but no one was injured.

Williams was taken to St. Vincent Charity Hospital, where surgeons were trying to save his right leg.

The blast hurled the hood of the car over the roofs of two houses and it landed a block away. Windows in the neighborhood were shattered.

Police said dynamite had been concealed under the hood and wired to the ignition.

The first straight-eight automobile engine offered in a production car was built by Duesenburg in 1921.

Yanks Stretch Lead To 11 On 7-2 Win Over White Sox

Cards, Giants Gain Ground; Phils Nip Bucs

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Graybeard Warren Spahn, suddenly turning into a bluebeard against Los Angeles, has taken another step toward his 13th 20-victory season while shaving the Dodgers' National League lead to 5½ games.

Given home run support by Eddie Mathews and Hank Aaron, the 42-year-old Milwaukee left-hander posted victory No. 16 Friday night, scattering nine hits in a 6-1 triumph over the Dodgers.

Time was when Spahn got a paid vacation when the Braves met the Dodgers. He went into the season with an 18-34 record against his worst tormentors, but has developed into a Dodger killer with a 4-0 record against the front-runners this year.

Second-place St. Louis gained a game with a 4-1 decision over Houston behind Bob Gibson's five-hitter.

Third-place San Francisco closed to within 6½ as Chuck Hiller and Tom Haller connected for homers and Willie Mays lashed a double and triple in an 11-3 victory over Cincinnati and 18-game winner Jim Maloney.

Fourth-place Philadelphia, only 7½ back, defeated Pittsburgh 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs snapped a three-game losing streak by edging the New York Mets 6-5.

The American League leading New York Yankees belted the Chicago White Sox 7-2, Baltimore crushed Minnesota in a twi-night doubleheader 14-4 and 6-2, Detroit walloped Kansas City in a pair 17-2 and 6-2, the Los Angeles Angels thumped Washington 17-0 and Boston defeated Cleveland 3-2 in 13 innings.

For a while at Los Angeles, it looked like father and son night, with Spahn making his 601st major league start against Dick Calmus, a 19-year-old Dodger rookie starting for the first time. Calmus lasted less than an inning as Mathews chased him with home run No. 19. Aaron connected in the ninth for his 33rd homer. Spahn, now 16-5, was touched for the Dodgers' only run in the first on a single by Maury Wills, an infield out and Tommy Davis' single.

GLENN HOBBIE, Cubs pitcher, is tagged along first base line after grounding to first baseman Tim Harkness in the 8th inning of Friday's game between the Cubs and Mets at Chicago. Harkness made the play unassisted. Cubs won 6-5. (UPI Telephoto)

White Sox Well-Laid Plans Foiled By Yanks

NEW YORK (AP)—The trouble with those Yankees, you can't trust 'em.

Al Lopez, the ever-optimistic manager of the Chicago White Sox had it all neatly planned.

His team was going to beat Ralph Houk's league leaders four straight right here at Yankee Stadium. The sweep would trim the Yankees' first place margin over the Sox from 10 to six games.

"Wouldn't that make Houk's stomach churn, though," chortled Lopez. "Now wouldn't it?"

It all sounded fine except for one thing. You can't trust the Yankees. They nipped Al's well-intended plans in the bud in their very first encounter, beating the White Sox Friday night, 7-2 and now lead Chicago by 11 games.

Things went all right for Lopez and the Sox for four innings. Chicago scored a run in the third against Jim Bouton and Hoyt Wilhelm with his baffling knuckleball held the Yankees hitless.

But hits by Joe Pepitone, Elston Howard, Hector Lopez and Phil Linz gave the Yankees two runs in the fifth and, after the White Sox had tied the score in the sixth, the Yankees came back with a run in their half of the inning on a double by Bobby Richardson and a single by Pepitone to regain the lead 3-2. With Jim Brosnan on the mound in the seventh, the Yankees tallied four times to put the game beyond reach.

Tigers, Birds Rip Athletics, Twins In Two

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

No race, but a lot of running.

That was it in the American League Friday night as Detroit, Baltimore and Los Angeles scored runs like they were going out of style while the New York Yankees routinely added another length to their already commanding lead.

The Tigers battered Kansas City 17-2 and 6-2, the Orioles clouted Minnesota 14-4 and 6-2, and the Angels smothered Washington 17-0. Meanwhile, the Yanks pushed 11 games ahead with a 7-2 victory over their nearest challenger, the Chicago White Sox.

In the AL's other game, Lu Clinton's 13th-inning homer gave Boston a 3-2 decision over Cleveland, pinning a tough loss on Pedro Ramos.

Milwaukee clipped Los Angeles 6-1 behind Warren Spahn, cutting the Dodgers' National League lead to 5½ games. St. Louis' second-place Cardinals whipped Houston 4-1; San Francisco clobbered Cincinnati 11-3; Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 4-2; and the Chicago Cubs nipped the New York Mets 6-5.

The Tigers collected 27 hits in the sweep over the Athletics, with Norm Cash the big belter. He had two homers in the opener, two singles in the second game, and finished with five runs batted in. Dick McAuliffe accounted for five Detroit hits, including a homer.

Baltimore broke loose for 30 hits against Minnesota and climbed over the Twins into third place, only two percentage points behind the White Sox.

Luis Aparicio and Jackie Brandt led the attack in the first game with four hits each as the Orioles knocked off left-hander Dick Stigman for the fifth straight time this season. Russ Snyder rapped a pair of homers and beat out a bunt single for Baltimore in the second game, chasing in four runs, and Jim Gentile also homered.

Milt Pappas and Robin Roberts each gained his 12th victory.

Ken McBride pitched six no-hit innings and wound up holding the Senators to three singles while the Angeles pounded a quartet of Washington pitchers for 19 hits. Felix Torres paced the winners with two doubles and two singles.

Joe Pepitone was the key man as the Yankees hung a loss on flutterball artist Hoyt Wilhelm in one of his infrequent starts. The knuckleballer went four perfect innings before Pepitone led off the fifth with a single, triggering a rally that produced two runs. Pepitone also singled in the clinching run after a double and stolen base by Bobby Richardson in the sixth, and banged a two-run single as the Yanks made it a breeze with four runs off Jim Brosnan in the seventh.

Only 6,865 See Chiefs Win; Packers Face Bears

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Looks like the same situation for the Kansas City Chiefs as they had when they were the Dallas Texans.

Lots of talent, not enough fans.

Only 6,865 turned up Friday night at their new rent-free diggings in Kansas City to see the defending American Football League champions rip the Denver Broncos 30-16 behind the eye-popping play of a couple of rookies and a bright sophomore quarterback.

In two home exhibition appearances, the Chiefs have drawn slightly more than 12,500—approximating the number of ticket requests the Green Bay Packers, the "other" champs, had to refuse for tonight's sell-out game with the Chicago Bears at Milwaukee.

Last week it was Eddie Wilson, the second-year quarterback from Arizona, with a 23 for 32 passing show in a 35-21 victory over Oakland. This time it was two lightning-fast rookies, former Olympic sprinter Stone Johnson of Grambling and Charlie Warner of Prairie View College in Texas.

With the Broncs leading 7-0 in the first quarter, Warner grabbed the Denver kickoff four yards deep in his end zone and flashed all the way for the matching touchdown. Then, after Gene Mingo's field goal had shoved Denver in front again, Wilson clicked with Johnson on a 32-yard pass play for the go-ahead Kansas City touchdown. By the time the Broncos scored again, there was one second left in the game and Kansas City had a 30-10 lead.

Action—and attendance—picks up tonight.

The National Football League, heading for a pre-season record with 507,697 already logged for 13 playing dates, has five games headed by the Bears-Packers showdown before 46,000 at Milwaukee's County Stadium.

Pott Leads In American Golf Event By 3 Strokes

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Lanky Johnny Pott, the only player to tie together sub-par rounds, hoped his red-hot putter would ward off the big-name challengers today in the third round of the $50,000 American Golf Classic.

The 27-year-old graduate of Louisiana State University, who has been on the tournament trail for seven years but has only three victories to show for his efforts, compiled a three-stroke lead over Bobby Nichols in the first two rounds of the 72-hole tournament.

Dropping birdie putts of 55 and 60 feet, Pott mastered the 7,165-yard Firestone Country Club course with a 32-36—68 Friday following an opening 67 for a five-under-par 135.

Miller Barber, who was tied with Pott for the first-round lead, had a 36-36—72 and dropped into a three-way tie for third place with Australian Bruce Crampton and 26-year-old Dave Hill.

Julius Boros, the U.S. Open champion, also in a tie for the lead after the first round, fell back with a 36-37—73 for a 140 total.

Jack Nicklaus, the PGA and Masters champion, could do no better than another par to tie Boros, Dave Marr and Gay Brewer Jr., while Arnold Palmer, still faced with putting problems, found himself six strokes off the pace with a 70-71—141.

The tournament's final two rounds will be televised nationally in part by ABC—today from 5 to 6 p.m., EDT, and Sunday from 4:30 to 6 p.m., EDT.

The leaders:
Johnny Pott 67-68—135
Bob Nichols 61-67—138
Miller Barber 67-72—139
Bruce Crampton 69-70—139
Dave Hill 69-70—139
Dave Marr 69-71—140
Jack Nicklaus 70-70—140
Julius Boros 67-73—140
Gay Brewer Jr. 69-71—140
Arnold Palmer 70-71—141

Bucks Open Grid Drills On Sept. 1

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—King Football returns to Ohio State University Sunday, Sept. 1, as the Buckeyes open four weeks of fall practice sessions. The season opens Sept. 28 with Texas A & M.

W. W. (Woody) Hayes, launching his 13th year as head coach faces his biggest rebuilding job since coming to Ohio State in 1951.

Only three regulars from last year's offensive unit are among the 72 players, including 19 lettermen, who report Sept. 1, principally for news photographers to get individual pictures of the players.

They are end Ormonde Ricketts, Guard Tom Jenkins and speedy halfback Paul Warfield, an All-America hopeful.

Hayes probably will pin his hopes for a successful season on a strong defensive corps.

Returning from the 1962 squad that won six and lost three are ends Matt Snell and Bill Spahr, tackles Ed Orazen and Dan Porretta and backs Arnie Chonko and Steve Dreffer.

Hayes says the Bucks are green "up the middle," having lost all their centers, quarterbacks and fullbacks.

Highly touted Tom Barrington, being counted on at either quarterback or fullback, is recovering from an industrial accident suffered in his home city of Lima.

Barrington, considered the No. 1 player from last fall's freshman team, may be available for duty.

Hayes figures sophomores will play a prominent role on the 1963 team with 27 of the 72 candidates making their first bid for a varsity spot.

Giants Won't Say Die; Hitting Ball Hard Now

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Battered but finally batting with some authority, the San Francisco Giants refuse to be counted out of this National League pennant.

Twenty-six hits in their last two games, including 16 Friday night in an 11-3 whipping of Cincinnati, gave an indication the Giants are awake at the bat.

Tom Haller and Chuck Hiller each homered while Willie Mays and Felipe Alou contributed triples in the assault against starter Jim Maloney, the loser, and his reliever, Jim Coates.

The two victories parlayed with losses by the Los Angeles Dodgers left the Giants 6½ games behind the league leaders and one in back of the second-place St. Louis Cardinals.

Hiller's hitting the past two games has been the best of the season for him with five hits in eight official trips, including his fifth homer of the campaign.

Royal Mac Spencer Wins Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Royal Mac Spencer came from seventh at the half-mile pole Friday night and won the featured $1,500 handicap pace at Scioto Downs. The 6-year-old black stallion owned by Roy Butt of Columbus finished a head in front of Meadow Dean and paid $16.60.

Wampum, a bay mare owned and driven by Herman Scott of Xenia, won the co-featured seventh race, a $1,500 handicap trot, and returned $7.

Ohio Girl Loses

OTTAWA (AP)—Connie Capozzi, the U. S. and Canadian 12-and-under tennis champion from Middletown, Ohio, has been defeated in the singles finals of the U. S.-Canadian championships, 14-and-under division. Vickey Rodgers of Rye, N. Y., defeated Connie Friday, 6-4, 6-0.

Dan-D-Bar Tops Osborn Team In Softball Event

Dan-D-Bar eliminated Osborn's Barber Shop from the Thompson Park Slow-Pitch tournament Friday, scoring a 10-1 victory behind Frannie (Golden Arm) Wise.

The winners advance in the double - elimination tournament against Midland tonight at 6. Victor of tonight's battle meets Ohio Valley for the championship Sunday at 5.

Pease collected three hits, Alex Cunningham tripled and Ed Pack bombed a homer to lead Dan-D-Bar last night. John Martin, ex-Wellsville grid star just returned from training in the Canadian Football League, made the conversion to another sport with ease in belting a triple, double and single for Osborn's.

Tim Wolfe was the losing pitcher. Wise limited Osborn's to about five hits.

Chester Softball Tourney To Open On Monday Night

The Chester fast-pitch double elimination softball tournament will get underway Monday night at City Park.

Spahn Sidetracks Dodgers' Express With 6-1 Victory

Yanks Stretch Lead To 11 On 7-2 Win Over White Sox

Cards, Giants Gain Ground; Phils Nip Bucs

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Graybeard Warren Spahn, suddenly turning into a bluebeard against Los Angeles, has taken another step toward his 13th 20-victory season while shaving the Dodgers' National League lead to 5½ games.

Given home run support by Eddie Mathews and Hank Aaron, the 42-year-old Milwaukee left-hander posted victory No. 16 Friday night, scattering nine hits in a 6-1 triumph over the Dodgers.

Time was when Spahn got a paid vacation when the Braves met the Dodgers. He went into the season with an 18-34 record against his worst tormentors, but has developed into a Dodger killer with a 4-0 record against the front-runners this year.

Second-place St. Louis gained a game with a 4-1 decision over Houston behind Bob Gibson's five-hitter.

Third-place San Francisco closed to within 6½ as Chuck Hiller and Tom Haller connected for homers and Willie Mays lashed a double and triple in an 11-3 victory over Cincinnati and 18-game winner Jim Maloney.

Fourth-place Philadelphia, only 7½ back, defeated Pittsburgh 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs snapped a three-game losing streak by edging the New York Mets 6-5.

The American League leading New York Yankees belted the Chicago White Sox 7-2, Baltimore crushed Minnesota in a twi-night doubleheader 14-4 and 6-2, Detroit walloped Kansas City in a pair 17-2 and 6-2, the Los Angeles Angels thumped Washington 17-0 and Boston defeated Cleveland 3-2 in 13 innings.

For a while at Los Angeles, it looked like father and son night, with Spahn making his 601st major league start against Dick Calmus, a 19-year-old Dodger rookie starting for the first time. Calmus lasted less than an inning as Mathews chased him with home run No. 19. Aaron connected in the ninth for his 33rd homer. Spahn, now 16-5, was touched for the Dodgers' only run in the first on a single by Maury Wills, an infield out and Tommy Davis' single.

White Sox Well-Laid Plans Foiled By Yanks

NEW YORK (AP)—The trouble with those Yankees, you can't trust 'em.

Al Lopez, the ever-optimistic manager of the Chicago White Sox had it all neatly planned.

His team was going to beat Ralph Houk's league leaders four straight right here at Yankee Stadium. The sweep would trim the Yankees' first place margin over the Sox from 10 to six games.

"Wouldn't that make Houk's stomach churn, though," chortled Lopez. "Now wouldn't it?"

It all sounded fine except for one thing. You can't trust the Yankees. They nipped Al's well-intended plans in the bud in their very first encounter, beating the White Sox Friday night, 7-2 and now lead Chicago by 11 games.

Things went all right for Lopez and the Sox for four innings. Chicago scored a run in the third against Jim Bouton and Hoyt Wilhelm with his baffling knuckleball held the Yankees hitless.

But hits by Joe Pepitone, Elston Howard, Hector Lopez and Phil Linz gave the Yankees two runs in the fifth and, after the White Sox had tied the score in the sixth, the Yankees came back with a run in their half of the inning on a double by Bobby Richardson and a single by Pepitone to regain the lead 3-2. With Jim Brosnan on the mound in the seventh, the Yankees tallied four times to put the game beyond reach.

500 See Fair Racing Card; Pony Event

Only 6,865 See Chiefs Win; Packers Face Bears

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Looks like the same situation for the Kansas City Chiefs as they had when they were the Dallas Texans.

Lots of talent, not enough fans.

Only 6,865 turned up Friday night at their new rent-free diggings in Kansas City to see the defending American Football League champions rip the Denver Broncos 30-16 behind the eye-popping play of a couple of rookies and a bright sophomore quarterback.

In two home exhibition appearances, the Chiefs have drawn slightly more than 12,500—approximating the number of ticket requests the Green Bay Packers, the "other" champs, had to refuse for tonight's sell-out game with the Chicago Bears at Milwaukee.

Last week it was Eddie Wilson, the second-year quarterback from Arizona, with a 23 for 32 passing show in a 35-21 victory over Oakland. This time it was two lightning-fast rookies, former Olympic sprinter Stone Johnson of Grambling and Charlie Warner of Prairie View College in Texas.

With the Broncs leading 7-0 in the first quarter, Warner grabbed the Denver kickoff four yards deep in his end zone and flashed all the way for the matching touchdown. Then, after Gene Mingo's field goal had shoved Denver in front again, Wilson clicked with Johnson on a 32-yard pass play for the go-ahead Kansas City touchdown. By the time the Broncos scored again, there was one second left in the game and Kansas City had a 30-10 lead.

Action—and attendance—picks up tonight.

The National Football League, heading for a pre-season record with 507,697 already logged for 13 playing dates, has five games headed by the Bears-Packers showdown before 46,000 at Milwaukee's County Stadium.

Tigers, Birds Rip Athletics, Twins In Two

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

No race, but a lot of running.

That was it in the American League Friday night as Detroit, Baltimore and Los Angeles scored runs like they were going out of style while the New York Yankees routinely added another length to their already commanding lead.

The Tigers battered Kansas City 17-2 and 6-2, the Orioles clouted Minnesota 14-4 and 6-2, and the Angels smothered Washington 17-0. Meanwhile, the Yanks pushed 11 games ahead with a 7-2 victory over their nearest challenger, the Chicago White Sox.

In the AL's other game, Lu Clinton's 13th-inning homer gave Boston a 3-2 decision over Cleveland, pinning a tough loss on Pedro Ramos.

Milwaukee clipped Los Angeles 6-1 behind Warren Spahn, cutting the Dodgers' National League lead to 5½ games. St. Louis' second-place Cardinals whipped Houston 4-1; San Francisco clobbered Cincinnati 11-3; Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 4-2; and the Chicago Cubs nipped the New York Mets 6-5.

The Tigers collected 27 hits in the sweep over the Athletics, with Norm Cash the big belter. He had two homers in the opener, two singles in the second game, and finished with five runs batted in. Dick McAuliffe accounted for five Detroit hits, including a homer.

Baltimore broke loose for 30 hits against Minnesota and climbed over the Twins into third place, only two percentage points behind the White Sox.

Luis Aparicio and Jackie Brandt led the attack in the first game with four hits each as the Orioles knocked off left-hander Dick Stigman for the fifth straight time this season. Russ Snyder rapped a pair of homers and beat out a bunt single for Baltimore in the second game, chasing in four runs, and Jim Gentile also homered.

Milt Pappas and Robin Roberts each gained his 12th victory.

Ken McBride pitched six no-hit innings and wound up holding the Senators to three singles while the Angeles pounded a quartet of Washington pitchers for 19 hits. Felix Torres paced the winners with two doubles and two singles.

Joe Pepitone was the key man as the Yankees hung a loss on flutterball artist Hoyt Wilhelm in one of his infrequent starts. The knuckleballer went four perfect innings before Pepitone led off the fifth with a single, triggering a rally that produced two runs. Pepitone also singled in the clinching run after a double and stolen base by Bobby Richardson in the sixth, and banged a two-run single as the Yanks made it a breeze with four runs off Jim Brosnan in the seventh.

Pott Leads In American Golf Event By 3 Strokes

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Lanky Johnny Pott, the only player to tie together sub-par rounds, hoped his red-hot putter would ward off the big-name challengers today in the third round of the $50,000 American Golf Classic.

The 27-year-old graduate of Louisiana State University, who has been on the tournament trail for seven years but has only three victories to show for his efforts, compiled a three-stroke lead over Bobby Nichols in the first two rounds of the 72-hole tournament.

Dropping birdie putts of 55 and 60 feet, Pott mastered the 7,165-yard Firestone Country Club course with a 32-36—68 Friday following an opening 67 for a five-under-par 135.

Miller Barber, who was tied with Pott for the first-round lead, had a 36-36—72 and dropped into a three-way tie for third place with Australian Bruce Crampton and 26-year-old Dave Hill.

Julius Boros, the U.S. Open champion, also in a tie for the lead after the first round, fell back with a 36-37—73 for a 140 total.

Jack Nicklaus, the PGA and Masters champion, could do no better than another par to tie Boros, Dave Marr and Gay Brewer Jr., while Arnold Palmer, still faced with putting problems, found himself six strokes off the pace with a 70-71—141.

The tournament's final two rounds will be televised nationally in part by ABC—today from 5 to 6 p.m., EDT, and Sunday from 4:30 to 6 p.m., EDT.

The leaders:

Johnny Pott 67-68—135
Bob Nichols 61-67—138
Miller Barber 67-72—139
Bruce Crampton 69-70—139
Dave Hill 69-70—139
Dave Marr 69-71—140
Jack Nicklaus 70-70—140
Julius Boros 67-73—140
Gay Brewer Jr. 69-71—140
Arnold Palmer 70-71—141

Bucks Open Grid Drills On Sept. 1

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—King Football returns to Ohio State University Sunday, Sept. 1, as the Buckeyes open four weeks of fall practice sessions. The season opens Sept. 28 with Texas A & M.

W. W. (Woody) Hayes, launching his 13th year as head coach faces his biggest rebuilding job since coming to Ohio State in 1951.

Only three regulars from last year's offensive unit are among the 72 players, including 19 lettermen, who report Sept. 1, principally for news photographers to get individual pictures of the players.

They are end Ormonde Ricketts, Guard Tom Jenkins and speedy halfback Paul Warfield, an All-America hopeful.

Hayes probably will pin his hopes for a successful season on a strong defensive corps.

Returning from the 1962 squad that won six and lost three are ends Matt Snell and Bill Spahr, tackles Ed Orazen and Dan Porretta and backs Arnie Chonko and Steve Dreffer.

Hayes says the Bucks are green "up the middle," having lost all their centers, quarterbacks and fullbacks.

Highly touted Tom Barrington, being counted on at either quarterback or fullback, is recovering from an industrial accident suffered in his home city of Lima.

Barrington, considered the No. 1 player from last fall's freshman team, may be available for duty.

Hayes figures sophomores will play a prominent role on the 1963 team with 27 of the 72 candidates making their first bid for a varsity spot.

Orchard Grove Wins Playoff Series Opener

Orchard Grove hung a 6-1 defeat on Calvary Methodist as the best of three game series for the playoff title of the YMCA Church Softball League started Friday at Chester City Park.

Cunningham had two hits for Orchard Grove, one a triple, and Schoolcraft fired a four-hitter.

Cannon was the losing pitcher. McCuen had a homer for the losers. The second game will be tonight at 6:30.

Giants Won't Say Die; Hitting Ball Hard Now

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Battered but finally batting with some authority, the San Francisco Giants refuse to be counted out of this National League pennant.

Twenty-six hits in their last two games, including 16 Friday night in an 11-3 whipping of Cincinnati, gave an indication the Giants are awake at the bat.

Tom Haller and Chuck Hiller each homered while Willie Mays and Felipe Alou contributed triples in the assault against starter Jim Maloney, the loser, and his reliever, Jim Coates.

The two victories parlayed with losses by the Los Angeles Dodgers left the Giants 6½ games behind the league leaders and one in back of the second-place St. Louis Cardinals.

Hiller's hitting the past two games has been the best of the season for him with five hits in eight official trips, including his fifth homer of the campaign.

Royal Mac Spencer Wins Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Royal Mac Spencer came from seventh at the half-mile pole Friday night and won the featured $1,500 handicap pace at Scioto Downs. The 6-year-old black stallion owned by Roy Butt of Columbus finished a head in front of Meadow Dean and paid $16.60.

Wampum, a bay mare owned and driven by Herman Scott of Xenia, won the co-featured seventh race, a $1,500 handicap trot, and returned $7.

Ohio Girl Loses

OTTAWA (AP)—Connie Capozzi, the U. S. and Canadian 12-and-under tennis champion from Middletown, Ohio, has been defeated in the singles finals of the U. S.-Canadian championships, 14-and-under division. Vickey Rodgers of Rye, N. Y., defeated Connie Friday, 6-4, 6-0.

Mid-Season Checkup Important

By JOHN BOHANNAN

About this time of year a boat can get a tired and neglected appearance unless the owner takes just a little time off from his fun to put her shipshape again. The effort will pay off.

An epoxy plastic patching kit can be used to fill the gouges and deep scratches in either a wood or plastic hull. First clear out the damaged area and allow it to dry throughly. Then mix up just enough of the epoxy with its catalyzer, according to directions, to fill the depression.

WORK FAST once the mix has been completed because it sets up rapidly. Use a putty knife or the end of a large screw driver to spread the compound smoothly until it is slightly above the level of the surrounding surface. Before the plastic sets up completely, sand it smooth. If you wait too long, you'll have to use a file. Give it a chance to cure, then paint to match the rest of the hull.

All varnished surfaces should be sanded lightly and give a coat to preserve the finish and maintain the gloss.

Change your dock lines end for end so the wear will come at different places. Any cowtails should be cut off and the ends whipped, using waxed whipping cord.

Now is a good time to give your engine a thorough cleaning. It's easy, thanks to a degreaser available in pressure cans. The oil solvent is sprayed on the engine, then allowed to soak for about 15 minutes. Wash it off with clear water from a hose.

If you have an inboard, this will be washed into the bilge, which probably already is covered with a film of dirt and oily deposits. Just add a can of bilge solvent to the water, use a bucket to add more water to the bilge until it is above the greasy area, then allow it to work around from the rolling motion of the boat.

POINTS TO WATCH for wear on docklines are: (A) at the mooring post, or where the lines pass through chocks or over the rail; (B) at cleats; (C) where lines pass over the edge of a pier or catwalk.

THE SOLVENT will emulsify the grease, holding it in suspension in the bilge weater. After you pump the bilge, it will be clean.

Check over your canvas covers (and sails). If there are any holes or ripped places, they should be patched now before they become enlarged. Use the same kind of material and the same kind of thread. If the material is heavy duck, you'll find a sailor's palm handy for pushing the needle through the canvas.

Run the thread across a ball of beeswax first. It will draw up tighter and hold better.

After checking or repairing a navy top or cockpit cover, you can apply a water repellent. This thin liquid can be obtained from most marine dealers or awning makers. It will serve the double purpose of lengthening the life of the fabric by making it more resistant to mildew and rot.

Check your steering gear, taking the slack out of the cable and examining all connections. If your boat steers by tiller, you may want to add some thin brass shims around the bolt to take out any play.

Go over all of your wiring and equipment to make sure everything is in good condition and functioning properly.

When you have finished, you'll have a safer, better-looking, more enjoyable boat.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q.When should a rope be thrown away?

A.—If it's manila discard it when, opened up for examination, the fibers appear hard, brittle and dusty. Nylon rope should be replaced when it shows excessive wear and fraying.

Q.—Some of the Lift-a-Dot fastenings have pulled out around the coaming of my boat. How can they be made to hold?

Indiana Machinist, 61, Wins Trapshoot Crown

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — The 64th Grand American Trapshoot winds up today with its tradition of "the little fellows win the big ones" still intact.

Albert G. Kees, a 61-year-old Richmond, Ind. machinist, kept the legend alive Friday as he outshot a field of 2,530, largest in history, to take the Grand American Handicap and some $8,000 in prize money.

Kees broke 100 straight to top the huge field, only the seventh time since 1900 that a perfect score has taken the annual classic. Until he took a day off from work to drive the 39 miles to the big trapshoot, Kees had never won anything anywhere.

He had shot 15 times in the handicap feature and had never scored better than 94. His score Friday erased the hopes of four earlier shooters who had turned in scores of 99.

The new champion was born in Middletown, Ohio, but his family moved to an Indiana farm when he was a child.

Kees came close to dropping back with the four second-placers when he fired at a broken target on his 94th try. However, he chipped a piece of the defective clay and was credited with a hit.

Indiana also took the women's title as 18-year-old Sharon Kingen of McCordsville defeated another Hoosier, Elizabeth Dickey of Anderson, in a shootoff after they had tied at 97. The sub-junior honors for youngsters 14 and under went to Frank R. Fincel, an 11-year-old from Dubuque, Iowa, who fired a sensational 98.

D. A. Flewelling of Harvey, Ill. topped the professionals with 95.

In the shootoff for runner-up spot among the 99 shooters, Richard Welsch of Trinway, Ohio, finished second.

Bridgeport Wins Spot In World Series

Bridgeport, Conn., gained a berth in the Pony League World Series next week at Washington, Pa., by scoring a 7-3 victory over West Columbia, S. C., Friday night.

The triumph provided Bridgeport with the Eastern Division championship.

One of the other four teams in the World Series will be Marietta, Ga., winner of the Southern Division championship.

The Western Division champ will emerge from a tournament at National City, Calif., and the fourth team will come from the Central Division tournament at Kankakee, Ill.

Bridgeport, Conn., will play the second game of the World Series Monday night at 8:30, with the opponent undetermined as yet. The first game starts at 6.

The Eastern Division champs, who defeated East Liverpool on the way to the division title, forged to an early 4-3 lead last night and won decisively with a three-run burst in the seventh inning.

Beats 1962 Champs

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP) — Phoenix, Ariz., started the 1963 Women's World Softball Tournament off with a bang Friday night by defeating the 1962 champions from Orange, Calif., 1-0.

Finals Set In Women's Golf Event

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (AP) —A gum-chewing high school student and a high school history teacher—both from the Pacific Northwest—square off today in the 36-hole final of the Women's National Amateur Golf Championship.

Making her first bid for the crown is 16-year-old Peggy Conley of Spokane, Wash., a candid little teen-ager who calmly fired a one-over-par 73 in her semifinal match Friday as she became the youngest finalist since 1896, when the national amateur was in its second year.

Her opponent is effervescent, dark-haired Anne Quast Welts, 25, of Mt. Vernon, Wash., who is aiming for her third title in 11 tries.

Mrs. Welts' semifinal victim on Taconic Golf Club's exacting, 6,195-yard course was defending queen JoAnne Gunderson, also a native of Washington State but now living in Providence, R.I.

Rivero Tests Punch In TV Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—A power-puncher from the land of the Pampas, Juan (Rocky) Rivero of Argentina, tests his wallop tonight against ever dangerous Jose Gonzalez of Puerto Rico at Madison Square Garden.

The 10-round middleweight bout will be nationally televised over the ABC network at 9 p.m. EST and will be the last Saturday night TV fight from the famed Eighth Avenue arena. When boxing returns to the Garden in October, the TV bout of the week will be back on a Friday night basis.

Rivero has knocked out 35 opponents while compiling an overall record of 38-7-1. He has been working out the last week under the watchful eye of Rocky Graziano, the former middleweight champion and knockout specialist. Graziano is listed as the co-manager of Rivero who expects to weigh around 157 pounds at the noon weigh-in.

Gonzalez, a 23-year-old from Arroyo, P.R., may be more than Rivero can handle, however.

Captures Colt Title

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)—Charlotte, N.C. defeated San Jose, Calif., 5-3, Friday night and won the 1963 Colt Baseball League World Series.

Browns Arrive On Coast For Game With Rams

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Cleveland Browns arrived here Friday and set up training headquarters at Palo Alto in preparation for exhibition games against the San Francisco 49ers Sunday afternoon and the Rams at Los Angeles next Saturday night.

There is a possibility they will have a new starter on the offensive line before they leave here Thursday.

Coach Blanton Collier is expected to make an attempt to obtain Ted Connolly, veteran 49er guard who has not reported to camp because of a feud with Red Hickey, San Francisco coach.

Connolly, 31, is an eight-year pro. He is 6-foot-3 and weighs 240.

Both the Browns and 49ers are winless in two exhibition games, but San Francisco showed scoring punch in losing to the Minnesota Vikings 43-28 and the St. Louis Cardinals 24-22. Cleveland scored a total of only 17 points in two losses.

Waterford Gives Its Appreciation

Friday was "Appreciation Day" at Waterford Park, with 8,112 fans present for the free admission occasion.

Jockey Raymond Cooper, who piloted five winners yesterday, again was the riding star with a triple—Scooter T in the third paying 13.60, 7.20 and 3.80, William L in the fourth returning 8.20, 4.40 and 3.60, and in the seventh Shenorock at 3.80, 3.40 and 2.80. The 25-year-old native of Somerset, Ky., now has 52 winners at the meeting and is in second place, closest to Floyd Green.

The tenth event, titled the "Appreciation Day Purse," went to front running Beowulf, owned by Marvin Brinkley. The four-year-old scooted to the front with the start, quickly lengthened out on rivals and scored easily with nine lengths to spare over runner-up Mayor Man. Third position went to Lincoln. In the role of second choice in the wagering to Lincoln, who made up ground when too late, a winning mutuel was worth 6.40, 4.80 and 2.60. Time for the mile and 70 yards was 1:43 3-5 over a fast track.

Dash to win, winner of the opener, and second race hero Hasty Zayin, combined for a 1-10 daily double that paid 63.60 for 2.00.

The loon is able to swim much faster under water than on the surface.

Mid-Season Checkup Important

By JOHN BOHANNAN

About this time of year a boat can get a tired and neglected appearance unless the owner takes just a little time off from his fun to put her shipshape again. The effort will pay off.

An epoxy plastic patching kit can be used to fill the gouges and deep scratches in either a wood or plastic hull. First clear out the damaged area and allow it to dry throughly. Then mix up just enough of the epoxy with its catalyzer, according to directions, to fill the depression.

WORK FAST once the mix has been completed because it sets up rapidly. Use a putty knife or the end of a large screw driver to spread the compound smoothly until it is slightly above the level of the surrounding surface. Before the plastic sets up completely, sand it smooth. If you wait too long, you'll have to use a file. Give it a chance to cure, then paint to match the rest of the hull.

All varnished surfaces should be sanded lightly and give a coat to preserve the finish and maintain the gloss.

Change your dock lines end for end so the wear will come at different places. Any cowtails should be cut off and the ends whipped, using waxed whipping cord.

Now is a good time to give your engine a thorough cleaning. It's easy, thanks to a degreaser available in pressure cans. The oil solvent is sprayed on the engine, then allowed to soak for about 15 minutes. Wash it off with clear water from a hose.

If you have an inboard, this will be washed into the bilge, which probably already is covered with a film of dirt and oily deposits. Just add a can of bilge solvent to the water, use a bucket to add more water to the bilge until it is above the greasy area, then allow it to work around from the rolling motion of the boat.

POINTS TO WATCH for wear on docklines are: (A) at the mooring post, or where the lines pass through chocks or over the rail; (B) at cleats; (C) where lines pass over the edge of a pier or catwalk.

THE SOLVENT will emulsify the grease, holding it in suspension in the bilge weater. After you pump the bilge, it will be clean.

Check over your canvas covers (and sails). If there are any holes or ripped places, they should be patched now before they become enlarged. Use the same kind of material and the same kind of thread. If the material is heavy duck, you'll find a sailor's palm handy for pushing the needle through the canvas.

Run the thread across a ball of beeswax first. It will draw up tighter and hold better.

After checking or repairing a navy top or cockpit cover, you can apply a water repellent. This thin liquid can be obtained from most marine dealers or awning makers. It will serve the double purpose of lengthening the life of the fabric by making it more resistant to mildew and rot.

Check your steering gear, taking the slack out of the cable and examining all connections. If your boat steers by tiller, you may want to add some thin brass shims around the bolt to take out any play.

Go over all of your wiring and equipment to make sure everything is in good condition and functioning properly.

When you have finished, you'll have a safer, better-looking, more enjoyable boat.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q.When should a rope be thrown away?

A.—If it's manila discard it when, opened up for examination, the fibers appear hard, brittle and dusty. Nylon rope should be replaced when it shows excessive wear and fraying.

Q.—Some of the Lift-a-Dot fastenings have pulled out around the coaming of my boat. How can they be made to hold?

Finals Set In Women's Golf Event

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (AP) —A gum-chewing high school student and a high school history teacher—both from the Pacific Northwest—square off today in the 36-hole final of the Women's National Amateur Golf Championship.

Making her first bid for the crown is 16-year-old Peggy Conley of Spokane, Wash., a candid little teen-ager who calmly fired a one-over-par 73 in her semifinal match Friday as she became the youngest finalist since 1896, when the national amateur was in its second year.

Her opponent is effervescent, dark-haired Anne Quast Welts, 25, of Mt. Vernon, Wash., who is aiming for her third title in 11 tries.

Mrs. Welts' semifinal victim on Taconic Golf Club's exacting, 6,195-yard course was defending queen JoAnne Gunderson, also a native of Washington State but now living in Providence, R.I.

Indiana Machinist, 61, Wins Trapshoot Crown

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — The 64th Grand American Trapshoot winds up today with its tradition of "the little fellows win the big ones" still intact.

Albert G. Kees, a 61-year-old Richmond, Ind. machinist, kept the legend alive Friday as he outshot a field of 2,530, largest in history, to take the Grand American Handicap and some $8,000 in prize money.

Kees broke 100 straight to top the huge field, only the seventh time since 1900 that a perfect score has taken the annual classic. Until he took a day off from work to drive the 39 miles to the big trapshoot, Kees had never won anything anywhere.

He had shot 15 times in the handicap feature and had never scored better than 94. His score Friday erased the hopes of four earlier shooters who had turned in scores of 99.

The new champion was born in Middletown, Ohio, but his family moved to an Indiana farm when he was a child.

Kees came close to dropping back with the four second-placers when he fired at a broken target on his 94th try. However, he chipped a piece of the defective clay and was credited with a hit.

Indiana also took the women's title as 18-year-old Sharon Kingen of McCordsville defeated another Hoosier, Elizabeth Dickey of Anderson, in a shootoff after they had tied at 97. The sub-junior honors for youngsters 14 and under went to Frank R. Fincel, an 11-year-old from Dubuque, Iowa, who fired a sensational 98.

D. A. Flewelling of Harvey, Ill. topped the professionals with 95.

In the shootoff for runner-up spot among the 99 shooters, Richard Welsch of Trinway, Ohio, finished second.

Bridgeport Wins Spot In World Series

Bridgeport, Conn., gained a berth in the Pony League World Series next week at Washington, Pa., by scoring a 7-3 victory over West Columbia, S. C., Friday night.

The triumph provided Bridgeport with the Eastern Division championship.

One of the other four teams in the World Series will be Marietta, Ga., winner of the Southern Division championship.

The Western Division champ will emerge from a tournament at National City, Calif., and the fourth team will come from the Central Division tournament at Kankakee, Ill.

Bridgeport, Conn., will play the second game of the World Series Monday night at 8:30, with the opponent undetermined as y e t. The first game starts at 6.

The Eastern Division champs, who defeated East Liverpool on the way to the division title, forged to an early 4-3 lead last night and won decisively with a three-run burst in the seventh inning.

Beats 1962 Champs

Browns Arrive On Coast For Game With Rams

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Cleveland Browns arrived here Friday and set up training headquarters at Palo Alto in preparation for exhibition games against the San Francisco 49ers Sunday afternoon and the Rams at Los Angeles next Saturday night.

There is a possibility they will have a new starter on the offensive line before they leave here Thursday.

Coach Blanton Collier is expected to make an attempt to obtain Ted Connolly, veteran 49er guard who has not reported to camp because of a feud with Red Hickey, San Francisco coach.

Connolly, 31, is an eight-year pro. He is 6-foot-3 and weighs 240.

Both the Browns and 49ers are winless in two exhibition games, but San Francisco showed scoring punch in losing to the Minnesota Vikings 43-28 and the St. Louis Cardinals 24-22. Cleveland scored a total of only 17 points in two losses.

Rivero Tests Punch In TV Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—A power-puncher from the land of the Pampas, Juan (Rocky) Rivero of Argentina, tests his wallop tonight against ever dangerous Jose Gonzalez of Puerto Rico at Madison Square Garden.

The 10-round middleweight bout will be nationally televised over the ABC network at 9 p.m. EST and will be the last Saturday night TV fight from the famed Eighth Avenue arena. When boxing returns to the Garden in October, the TV bout of the week will be back on a Friday night basis.

Rivero has knocked out 35 opponents while compiling an overall record of 38-7-1. He has been working out the last week under the watchful eye of Rocky Graziano, the former middleweight champion and knockout specialist. Graziano is listed as the co-manager of Rivero who expects to weigh around 157 pounds at the noon weigh-in.

Gonzalez, a 23-year-old from Arroyo, P.R., may be more than Rivero can handle, however.

Captures Colt Title

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)—Charlotte, N.C. defeated San Jose, Calif., 5-3, Friday night and won the 1963 Colt Baseball League World Series.

Waterford Gives Its Appreciation

Friday was "Appreciation Day" at Waterford Park, with 8,112 fans present for the free admission occasion.

Jockey Raymond Cooper, w h o piloted five winners yesterday, again was the riding star with a triple—Scooter T in the t h i r d paying 13.60, 7.20 and 3.80, William L in the fourth returning 8.20, 4.40 and 3.60, and in the seventh Shenorock at 3.80, 3.40 and 2.80. The 25-year-old native of Somerset, Ky., now has 52 winners at the meeting and is in second place, closest to F l o y d Green.

The tenth event, titled the "Appreciation Day Purse," went to front running Beowulf, owned by Marvin Brinkley. The four-year-old scooted to the front with the start, quickly lengthened out on rivals and scored easily with nine lengths to spare over runner-up Mayor Man. Third position went to Lincoln. In the role of second choice in the wagering to Lincoln, who made up ground when too late, a winning mutuel was worth 6.40, 4.80 and 2.60. Time for the mile and 70 yards was 1:43 3-5 over a fast track.

Dash to win, winner of the opener, and second race hero Hasty Zayin, combined for a 1-10 daily double that paid 63.60 for 2.00.

The loon is able to swim much faster under water than on the surface.

LEGAL NOTICE
In The Court Of Common Pleas
Case No. 48801
THE STATE OF OHIO, COLUMBIANA COUNTY, SS.
J. S. GLEASON, JR., ADMINISTRATOR OF VETERANS AFFAIRS, VETERANS ADMINISTRATION UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Plaintiff, vs. PAUL R. SMITH, ET AL, Defendants.
Paul R. Smith, whose last known place of residence was Wick, West Virginia, and whose mailing address was P. O. Box 169, Wick, West Virginia, whose present place of residence is not in the State of Ohio, will take notice that on the 26th day of July, 1963, the plaintiff, J. S. Gleason, Jr., Administrator of Veterans Affairs, filed his petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Columbiana County, Ohio, the same being Case No. 48801 in said court, for the foreclosure of real estate mortgage and the marshalling of liens on certain real estate in said petition described, to wit:
Situated in the Township of Liverpool County of Columbiana and State of Ohio: Known as and being Lot 128 on the recorded plat of LaCroft. Being the same property recorded in the name of the Grantor on April 22, 1958, in Book 741 and Page 160.
Situated in the County of Columbiana in the State of Ohio and in the Township of Liverpool and bounded and described as follows: Known as and being all of Lot 129 and part of Lot 130 as said lots are numbered and distinguished on the recorded plat of LaCroft Addition and being bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the Northeast corner of Lot 129 and running thence with the east line of said lot, South a distance of 120 feet to the southeast corner of Lot 129; thence with the south line of lots 129 and 130, West a distance of 53 feet to a point; thence on a line parallel with the West line of Lot 130, North a distance of 120 feet to a point; thence with the North line of 130 and 129 East a distance of 53 feet to the place of beginning.
The prayer of said petition is for the foreclosure of the real estate mortgage and marshalling of liens against said property and for other equitable relief. Said defendant is required to answer said petition on the 28th day of Sept., 1963, or judgment will be taken against him.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Louisa Brooks, who passed away 2 years ago today, August 26.
No one knows the silent heartaches. Only those who have lost can tell. The grief that is borne in silence, for the one we loved so well. From her loving sons, daughters, & grandchildren.

IN loving memory of our dear sweet mother who passed away 7 years Ago today.
We miss her still, and loved her so much. Her daughters and families; Evelyn Broadbent, Dolores Gacesa and Iladene McHenry

IN loving memory of Evelyn Bush who passed away one year ago today. Sadly missed by her family and loved ones.

IN loving memory of Elizabeth Ann (Butch Baker) Roberts who passed away Aug. 25, 1963. Gone but not forgotten. — Dad, Mom, Janie, Kathy and Rosie.

3 CARDS OF THANKS

WE wish to thank all of our kind friends and neighbors for their many kind expressions of sympathy and condolence during our recent bereavement.
The Family of Alice L. Chandler

The gratitude in our hearts can never be fully expressed, but we want our friends, relatives and neighbors to know how much their kind words and expression of sympathy have meant to us during our recent times of sorrow, the sad loss of our husband, son, and father, Harold Applegate. — Wife, mother & children.

Junior Editors Quiz on CARDS

QUESTION: Who invented playing cards and why are there 52 cards in a deck?

ANSWER: Some experts think playing cards originated in India about 400 A. D. (1). Cards were probably introduced into Europe by the returning crusaders. The eastern cards had numbers, but picture cards called "tarots" originated in Italy, and soon tartots and numbers both appeared in the same deck.

The four suits started in France in the 1500's and the French made symbols for them with the names we show in our picture. "Pique" meant "pike," but the English thought it looked like a spade and called it that; "trefle," which meant "clover leaf," they changed to "club." "Carreau" had meant "square," but the English, by mistake, translated this into "diamond" and so it has remained.

When eastern cards were combined with tartots, making a 78-card deck, it was cumbersome to play with. The French started using 32-card and 52-card decks. Thirty-two cards are still used in the European game of pique, but the English took up whist, using 52 cards. From this came many other games including bridge. The 52-card deck is standard in English speaking countries.

FOR YOU TO DO: Draw the shape of a spade, a club, a heart and a diamond, as used on cards, from memory — without looking at our picture or a deck of cards. Then check your drawings — you may find there is more to these shapes than you imagined.

Labor Opposes Arbitration Bill

Prospects Termed Cloudy In Bid To Nip Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prospects for congressional action in time to prevent a nationwide rail strike were cloudy today. A bill providing for binding arbitration of the dispute over mass job cuts promptly ran into opposition from labor.

The bill, approved by the Senate Commerce Committee Friday, was denounced by the presidents of the five operating unions involved in the four-year-old work rules dispute as "compulsory arbitration, and in violation of all tenets of free collective bargaining."

A spokesman for the carriers said they would have no immediate comment.

The bill would set up a seven-man board, composed of two representatives each from the railroads and the unions and three from the public, to settle the dispute within six months in the absence of a negotiated agreement.

The bill is to be brought up in the Senate on Monday. The House is awaiting Senate action before moving on the bill.

Congress is up against a deadline of one minute after midnight Wednesday. This is the time the railroads have announced they will put the new job-cutting work rules into effect—an action the unions have said will mean an immediate strike.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., who conducted the commerce committee's hearings on the dispute, said he still hoped the railroads and the unions would resolve their differences without congressional action. This seems unlikely. Negotiations ended in a deadlock Wednesday.

If no agreement is reached and Congress is in the process of passing the bill, Pastore said he hoped the railroads would delay the posting of the new rules for a few days.

Under the bill, the arbitration board would be required to begin hearings within 30 days on the two chief issues in dispute and make a decision within 60 days thereafter.

These issues involve the elimination of 32,000 firemen jobs on diesel freight and yard service trains and a reduction of the size of train crews. The carriers say they have to remove costly and unnecessary labor from their payrolls. The unions contend manpower cuts would impair operations.

The bill provides for immediate resumption of collective bargaining on lesser issues in dispute. But if no agreement is reached on these within 30 days after the board decides the firemen and crew-size questions, they too are to be arbitrated by the board.

The board would have to rule on these subsidiary issues within 60 days after taking jurisdiction.

The rulings of the board would be effective for such period as it designated up to a maximum of two years, unless extended by mutual agreement of the parties.

However, a decision on the two main issues would not be effective until resolution of all issues. Under the timetable set out in the bill, this could not be later than March 1, 1964.

In approving the bill, the commerce committee rejected the recommendation of President Kennedy that the dispute be turned over to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Under Kennedy's plan, the commission would have been empowered to issue work rules binding for two years unless supplanted by agreements reached through collective bargaining.

Slash Of Foreign Aid Cited

Chances Of Tax Cut Bill Boosted In House Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

Taxes: The House's slash of $585 million from the foreign aid authorization bill boosts considerably the chance that it will pass tax cutting legislation, Rep. Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., said today.

Baker is a leader in a Republican movement to write an economy requirement into President Kennedy's proposal for a $10.8 billion net tax reduction.

He said in an interview Friday's action "makes it a lot easier to pass a tax cut bill — and if we had cut out another billion it would be easier still."

To pass a tax reduction bill Baker said, "we need several more indications of intention to economize, like this one."

Radiation: The Public Health Service is trying to determine if there is any connection between certain types of cancer and birth deformities in Nevada and Utah and radiation from the Nevada nuclear test site.

The study may lead to a nationwide investigation of the relationship between radiation exposure and thyroid cancer, bone cancer, leukemia and congenital malformations.

Surgeon General Luther Terry announced Friday the health service is stepping up investigations of death rates from these causes in Nevada and Utah in cooperation with the health departments of the two states.

The stepped-up investigations were prompted by recent reports that Nevada and Utah had been exposed to far higher levels of radioactive iodine than previously thought.

Terry said that so far, no significant differences have been discovered between leukemia death rates in Nevada and Utah and other parts of the country over the past 13 years.

Satellites: The United States and Canada have agreed on a joint program for testing experimental communications satellites launched by this country.

The tests will be made by temporary communications connections in each country, limited to experimental purposes and not for commercial exploitation.

The agreement was made in an exchange of notes putting into operation a memorandum signed last April by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Canada's Department of Transport.

The agreement provides that information from communications tests by the two countries will be made freely available to scientists of all nations.

Stock exchange: The New York Stock Exchange says a proposed tax on some U.S. investments overseas is a departure from this country's long-standing policy of encouraging free international money markets.

"Such a change in policy could conceivably lead to a weakening of New York and the United States as the financial capital of the world," the exchange said in a statement filed with the House Ways and Means Committee.

The committee is considering legislation to impose a tax on certain foreign investments as a measure designed to discourage the flow of U.S. capital abroad.

The New York exchange said that, in any event, the tax should not be applied to present investments.

Indians' War Dance Dramatizes Plight

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Omaha has seen something different in the way of a racial demonstration.

It was a war dance staged Friday by Indians of the Omaha tribe to dramatize the plight of the red man in the white man's cities.

Two Indians in feathers and paint danced. Two others thumped war drums for them. A spokesman said about 100 more turned out to support the demonstration on Omaha's downtown courthouse lawn.

Newell IOOF 'School' Held

A school of instruction was conducted by two officers when Clark Odd Fellows Lodge 447 of Newell met Friday night in the Newell IOOF Hall.

Participating were Charles P. Wilhelm of Kingwood, grand master, and Harold Neely of Weirton, district deputy grand master.

Neely outlined a history of the order, which started abroad in the 1700's and later spread to this country. New members were advised of places to obtain literature on lodge functions.

Wilhelm has been a school teacher, minister, lawyer and circuit judge in Putnam County.

They were introduced by Tom Dover of Pennova Lodge 880, grand lodge representative. Among the other guests was Hays Cullem of Weirton, grand warden of Patriarchs Militant.

Twenty - seven attended, including 11 guests. Lunch was served by Al Thornberry and Harry Messenheimer. The lodge presented Wilhelm with a gift of dishes. William Gamble is noble grand. Next meeting is Friday night.

State Librarian Eyeing New Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Librarian Walter T. Brahm starts a new job Jan. 1 as $15,000-a-year executive secretary for the Ohio Library Trustees and Ohio Li-

Reports that the "Little Hoover" commission studying state government will recommend relocation of most State Library operations triggered rumors that Brahm might resign. He has been state librarian nearly 21 years.

Neither association has made official announcement of his hiring, which was decided upon Friday, and Brahm says any comment must come from the two groups.

The 1,600-member Ohio Library Association dates back to the last century. The 2,100-member Ohio Library Trustees Association also has been in existence many years.

Neither group has an executive secretary as such, although legal counsel is retained. Although separate, the two associations perform many functions jointly because of similar interests.

Rules Against Bingo

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Robert L. McBride has ruled against so-called legalized bingo here. The ruling Friday nullified a decree by City Manager Herbert Starick which permitted bingo if played for charitable purposes.

Hemorrhage Fatal

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—Wesley E. Lucas, a salesman from Fremont, Ohio, suffered a brain hemorrhage and died in a bathtub at his hotel Friday.

Renovations Finished For Police Room

With the exception of a few minor jobs, revamping of the radio room of police headquarters has been completed at slight cost to the city, Police Chief Americo Radeschi announced today.

The remodeling of the radio room, "nerve center" for police operations, included a new floor, a chest - high counter, lowering of the ceiling about 2½ feet and installation of acoustical material to muffle sounds, a new exhaust fan and revamping of the fluorescent lights, Chief Radeschi said.

Walls were cleaned and old cabinets discarded. The radio operator's desk was relocated against one wall and telephones will be rearranged.

Chief Radeschi said the counter will be more convenient for visitors. Only a narrow passageway permits visitors behind the counter and is expected to discourage loafing, he said.

Most of the work was done by off-duty patrolmen, Chief Radeschi and Fred Kane, city electrician. Officers worked until early Friday morning to lower the ceiling and install the acoustical block.

Materials were donated by Berman and Gregory, Fred Winland, King &Eells, Thomas Doland and Sayre Electric Co., the chief said.

Sheriff's Posse Calls Off Colorado Manhunt

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—A sheriff's posse called off a manhunt today in central Colorado mountains around a girl scout camp where Margaret Beck, 16, was strangled.

"We didn't find any fresh tracks," Sheriff's Capt. Al Pedrett said. Rain hit the rugged area Friday night.

A bearded man reported seen by several persons was sought by the 25-man posse.

The slain girl was from Denver. She was a counselor's assistant and was alone in her tent although 105 other Girl Scouts and 27 supervisors were sleeping close by.

Scientists are measuring the flow of the Amazon River, taking its temperature and determining the amount of sediment it carries to the sea.

Adoula Orders Troops, Tanks To Leopoldville

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—Fearing that a threatened civil service strike may spark a general anti-government uprising, Premier Cyrille Adoula has ordered troops and tanks into Leopoldville.

A government announcement Friday said the army units would conduct training maneuvers in the heart of this city of 800,000.

It was apparent Adoula feared that his political opponents might attempt to capitalize on a strike civil servants have called for Monday and try to topple him in the same manner Fulbert Youlou was ousted as president of the neighboring Congo Republic 11 days ago.

Adoula's political enemies have been whipping up anti-government sentiment among Africans in the teeming townships surrounding Leopoldville.

Labor Opposes Arbitration Bill

Prospects Termed Cloudy In Bid To Nip Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prospects for congressional action in time to prevent a nationwide rail strike were cloudy today. A bill providing for binding arbitration of the dispute over mass job cuts promptly ran into opposition from labor.

The bill, approved by the Senate Commerce Committee Friday, was denounced by the presidents of the five operating unions involved in the four-year-old work rules dispute as "compulsory arbitration, and in violation of all tenets of free collective bargaining."

A spokesman for the carriers said they would have no immediate comment.

The bill would set up a seven-man board, composed of two representatives each from the railroads and the unions and three from the public, to settle the dispute within six months in the absence of a negotiated agreement.

The bill is to be brought up in the Senate on Monday. The House is awaiting Senate action before moving on the bill.

Congress is up against a deadline of one minute after midnight Wednesday. This is the time the railroads have announced they will put the new job-cutting work rules into effect—an action the unions have said will mean an immediate strike.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., who conducted the commerce committee's hearings on the dispute, said he still hoped the railroads and the unions would resolve their differences without congressional action. This seems unlikely. Negotiations ended in a deadlock Wednesday.

If no agreement is reached and Congress is in the process of passing the bill, Pastore said he hoped the railroads would delay the posting of the new rules for a few days.

Under the bill, the arbitration board would be required to begin hearings within 30 days on the two chief issues in dispute and make a decision within 60 days thereafter.

These issues involve the elimination of 32,000 firemen jobs on diesel freight and yard service trains and a reduction of the size of train crews. The carriers say they have to remove costly and unnecessary labor from their payrolls. The unions contend manpower cuts would impair operations.

The bill provides for immediate resumption of collective bargaining on lesser issues in dispute. But if no agreement is reached on these within 30 days after the board decides the firemen and crew-size questions, they too are to be arbitrated by the board.

The board would have to rule on these subsidiary issues within 60 days after taking jurisdiction.

The rulings of the board would be effective for such period as it designated up to a maximum of two years, unless extended by mutual agreement of the parties.

However, a decision on the two main issues would not be effective until resolution of all issues. Under the timetable set out in the bill, this could not be later than March 1, 1964.

In approving the bill, the commerce committee rejected the recommendation of President Kennedy that the dispute be turned over to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Under Kennedy's plan, the commission would have been empowered to issue work rules binding for two years unless supplanted by agreements reached through collective bargaining.

Slash Of Foreign Aid Cited

Chances Of Tax Cut Bill Boosted In House Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

Taxes: The House's slash of $585 million from the foreign aid authorization bill boosts considerably the chance that it will pass tax cutting legislation, Rep. Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., said today.

Baker is a leader in a Republican movement to write an economy requirement into President Kennedy's proposal for a $10.8 billion net tax reduction.

He said in an interview Friday's action "makes it a lot easier to pass a tax cut bill — and if we had cut out another billion it would be easier still."

To pass a tax reduction bill Baker said, "we need several more indications of intention to economize, like this one."

Radiation: The Public Health Service is trying to determine if there is any connection between certain types of cancer and birth deformities in Nevada and Utah and radiation from the Nevada nuclear test site.

The study may lead to a nationwide investigation of the relationship between radiation exposure and thyroid cancer, bone cancer, leukemia and congenital malformations.

Surgeon General Luther Terry announced Friday the health service is stepping up investigations of death rates from these causes in Nevada and Utah in cooperation with the health departments of the two states.

The stepped-up investigations were prompted by recent reports that Nevada and Utah had been exposed to far higher levels of radioactive iodine than previously thought.

Terry said that so far, no significant differences have been discovered between leukemia death rates in Nevada and Utah and other parts of the country over the past 13 years.

Satellites: The United States and Canada have agreed on a joint program for testing experimental communications satellites launched by this country.

The tests will be made by temporary communications connections in each country, limited to experimental purposes and not for commercial exploitation.

THE THUNDERING HERD

When the plainsman asked Tom Doan why he wanted to hunt buffalo, Tom replied "I can ride . . . I'm quick on the draw — and I ain't seen man nor beast yet I'd run from!"

"You'll do," the plainsman said. "I reckon I'll need every hand I can get. Them Indian varmints is almin' to run every hide-huntin' white man off the plains — YOUR SCALP WILL DO AS GOOD AS ANY FOR THEM!"

ROBBERS' ROOST

The Hank Hays Gang was at large! These blood-crazed killers were wanted — DEAD OR ALIVE — for robbery . . . rustling . . . murder . . . and now for KIDNAPPING a beautiful young girl!

But the girl was doomed to perish! No one dared go near their hideout . . . where Hank Hays himself had boasted of a "Robbers' Roost whar no posse could ride in twenty years!"

THE DUDE RANGER

Ernest Howard was a new tenderfoot on the Red Rock Ranch. The ranch manager wouldn't even let him go near a horse. His daughter treated Ernest like dirt! And the foreman hated him — even tried to KILL him!

But The Tenderfoot had an ace up his sleeve. The others didn't know it, but HE was the new OWNER of Red Rock Ranch! He wanted to find out why the manager had $200,000 in the bank while the ranch itself was barely breaking even! He would find out, too — if he lived long enough!

ZANE GREY

Most beloved Western story teller of all time. The blood of Indian chiefs flowed through his veins, and he actually lived the rugged life made famous in his exciting books.

Everybody Plays in This Little League

By DON JAMES
Manager, Kankakee, Ill., Little League

Here's how Kankakee, Ill., has confounded the critics of organized baseball for youngsters

KANKAKEE ORGANIZED its Little League in 1950—and went to the World Series that first season.

We've been there twice since, finishing second last year. What's more, we've never been eliminated in any of the early rounds, even in Illinois state competition.

I understand this is one of the best records in Little League history, and we're especially proud of it because all these teams have come from just one section of Kankakee that has a population of less than 14,000.

But because of our success, we're probably a prime target for some of the criticism that has been leveled at the Little League program. That's why I'm writing this article; it's about time we cleared up a few misconceptions.

Most of the criticism centers on two issues: (1) that only good players get to play and (2) that there's too much emphasis on winning. The fact is these overpublicized conditions are not common. They certainly don't apply to Kankakee or any other well-run Little League.

In Kankakee, any boy who wants to play gets to play. We simply form more teams and more leagues until every boy has a spot. We recruit every eligible boy in our section of town, and we go out of our way to do it.

Each spring, The Kankakee Journal and the local radio stations publicize preseason tryouts. We also make speeches at schools, encouraging the boys to show up. Even then some are too shy or, worse, too poor to attempt it. When we hear of such cases, we visit the families and try to relieve their fears.

Two of our best players were in such circumstances. One came to tryouts, created a sensation, then disappeared. We found out that he got scared when he heard he'd need a glove and baseball shoes—the only equipment the boys are required to furnish. Another boy played half the season before we learned he was using a borrowed glove. Well, we saw that both got equipment of their own.

After recruiting as many boys as we can, the next step is leveling out the talent. This is important because it destroys a boy's confidence to be in a league where the level of talent is much greater—or much less—than his own.

Little League rules limit the number of teams in an official league, and the best players compete in this league. But we form unofficial "minor leagues" until each boy is placed.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce operates our league; local business and industrial firms sponsor individual teams; and our park district donates the playing fields. But three more areas need strict attention to create ideal playing conditions—parents, umpires, and managers.

THE PARENTS are probably most controversial. We've had a winning tradition in our league, so it's no real problem. But I know of one case where a father of a player socked a manager, and sometimes mothers can be even worse. One starts razzing a boy because he drops a throw from her Johnny, and the other mother has to defend her son. Soon everybody is taking sides, and you've opened a real can of worms.

In our league, the veteran spectators usually stop that nonsense at the start. But if they don't, we halt the game and explain as nicely as we can that we won't tolerate it. If the boys can behave themselves, so can the parents.

Umpires are an underrated element. We hire umpires from the state high-school association for all "major-league" games, and we give them complete charge. But since we operate so many leagues, we have to use other people in our "minor leagues." By far the best qualified are high-school baseball players. They know the game thoroughly, and the Little Leaguers respect them because they're local heroes. Also, the high-school boys are so enthusiastic about the game that they often stop to explain to a youngster why they made a call against him.

MANAGERS like myself like to work with boys. But this is incidental; the important thing is the attitude we bring to the work. Do we, as our critics claim, put too much emphasis on winning, or do we try to encourage the boys to enjoy baseball and let their talent do the rest?

In Kankakee, I know the latter is the case. Certainly we're not opposed to winning—our record proves that. But primarily we teach a boy not how to win but how to play. As his confidence grows, his talent develops. And the most talented of all ultimately rise to the top. It's boys like these that we've sent to three World Series.

I wish our critics could have stood alongside me last year during the final World Series game at Williamsport, Pa., and watched those cocky little kids of ours peppering the ball around the infield and shouting encouragement to one another. If the critics had been there, they would have thought as I did. Only a year or so before, some of those youngsters had been scared little boys who weren't even sure they could make their neighborhood team—and here they were playing for a world championship!

Well, we lost that game, but we'll be back. And some year we'll win it all. If we do, it won't be because we taught our boys fear but because we gave them confidence. I wish every American boy could be taught that before he's 12.

THE THUNDERING HERD

When the plainsman asked Tom Doan why he wanted to hunt buffalo, Tom replied "I can ride . . . I'm quick on the draw — and I ain't seen man nor beast yet I'd run from!"

"You'll do," the plainsman said. "I reckon I'll need every hand I can get. Them Indian varmints is aimin' to run every hide-huntin' white man off the plains — YOUR SCALP WILL DO AS GOOD AS ANY FOR THEM!"

ROBBERS' ROOST

The Hank Hays Gang was at large! These blood-crazed killers were wanted — DEAD OR ALIVE — for robbery . . . rustling . . . murder . . . and now for KIDNAPPING a beautiful young girl!

But the girl was doomed to perish! No one dared go near their hideout . . . where Hank Hays himself had boasted of a "Robbers' Roost whar no posse could ride in twenty years!"

THE DUDE RANGER

Ernest Howard was a new tenderfoot on the Red Rock Ranch. The ranch manager wouldn't even let him go near a horse. His daughter treated Ernest like dirt! And the foreman hated him — even tried to KILL him!

But The Tenderfoot had an ace up his sleeve. The others didn't know it, but HE was the new OWNER of Red Rock Ranch! He wanted to find out why the manager had $200,000 in the bank while the ranch itself was barely breaking even! He would find out, too — if he lived long enough!

A NEW VALENTINO?

The screen's latest "sheik" isn't fond of camels, Cairo, or Arab roles; but, like the Latin lover of the silent days, he does have a way with women band pays alimony only if there are children and if the wife isn't working. "We have a six-year-old son, Tarek Omar, whom I love very much," Omar told me. "But as for alimony, my wife makes more money than I do, so that would take care of that."

At present, Omar and Faten have worked out an arrangement that seems to suit them equally well. Faten works in Egypt the year round and visits Omar only occasionally, usually for no more than a week at a time.

Omar's father did not approve of his marriage to Faten. "But I couldn't let my father run my life," Omar insisted. "He had interfered once before. When I was 16, I was engaged to a beautiful French girl. We went together for six years, but my father prevented us from marrying. He wanted me to marry a nice Syrian girl. He said if I married the French girl he would have a stroke. So I didn't, and he didn't."

AS FAR AS NATIONALITY GOES, Omar has a difficult time deciding what he really is. His family comes from Syria (his real name is Michel Shalhoub), and he was born in Egypt, but he refuses to consider himself an Arab. Nor does he want to live in Cairo.

"I think I would like to settle in Paris," he told me. "It's close to both the European and American movie-production centers, and that's what I'm interested in. I don't want to play Arabs any more; I want to play South Americans, Italians, or Mexicans. I want to be identified with the Western world."

He didn't quite get his wish in "The Fall of the Roman Empire," in which he plays a Near Eastern prince who woos and wins Sophia Loren. But in his next film, Columbia's "Behold a Pale Horse," he plays a Spanish priest.

Omar was disappointed when he didn't win an Academy Award for best supporting actor in the fabulous "Lawrence of Arabia."

"I never thought I'd even get a nomination," he confessed, "but everyone I worked with told me it was a sure thing. So when I got the nomination, I was convinced I would get the award. The night before the presentations I stood in front of a mirror and practiced all the expressions I planned to use when I accepted the Oscar."

Omar wasn't the only one convinced he would win an Oscar. Against the rule of the Academy, a national-magazine photographer was sneaked into the auditorium and seated in front of Omar. Using a miniature camera, he was to record Omar's expression at the moment the award for the best supporting actor was announced.

On the fateful night Omar was seated next to Mary Badham, the talented youngster who played Gregory Peck's daughter in "To Kill A Mockingbird."

With Sophia Loren in "The Fall of the Roman Empire."

"We made a pact," Omar recalled. "I told Mary that if my name wasn't called out as winner, she would hold my hand, and if she didn't win, I would hold hers. We held hands all right—close to tears!"

Omar thinks he didn't get the award because the voters thought he was playing himself. He wasn't. Actually, he had never ridden a camel before and was scared to death every time he got on one!

It is difficult to predict Omar's future. But with his popularity becoming increasingly evident, producers certainly will give him the maximum opportunity to develop into a great star—possibly even a modern Valentino.

OMAR SHARIF

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

WHEN RUDOLPH VALENTINO appeared in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," one of the greatest screen idols of the era was born.

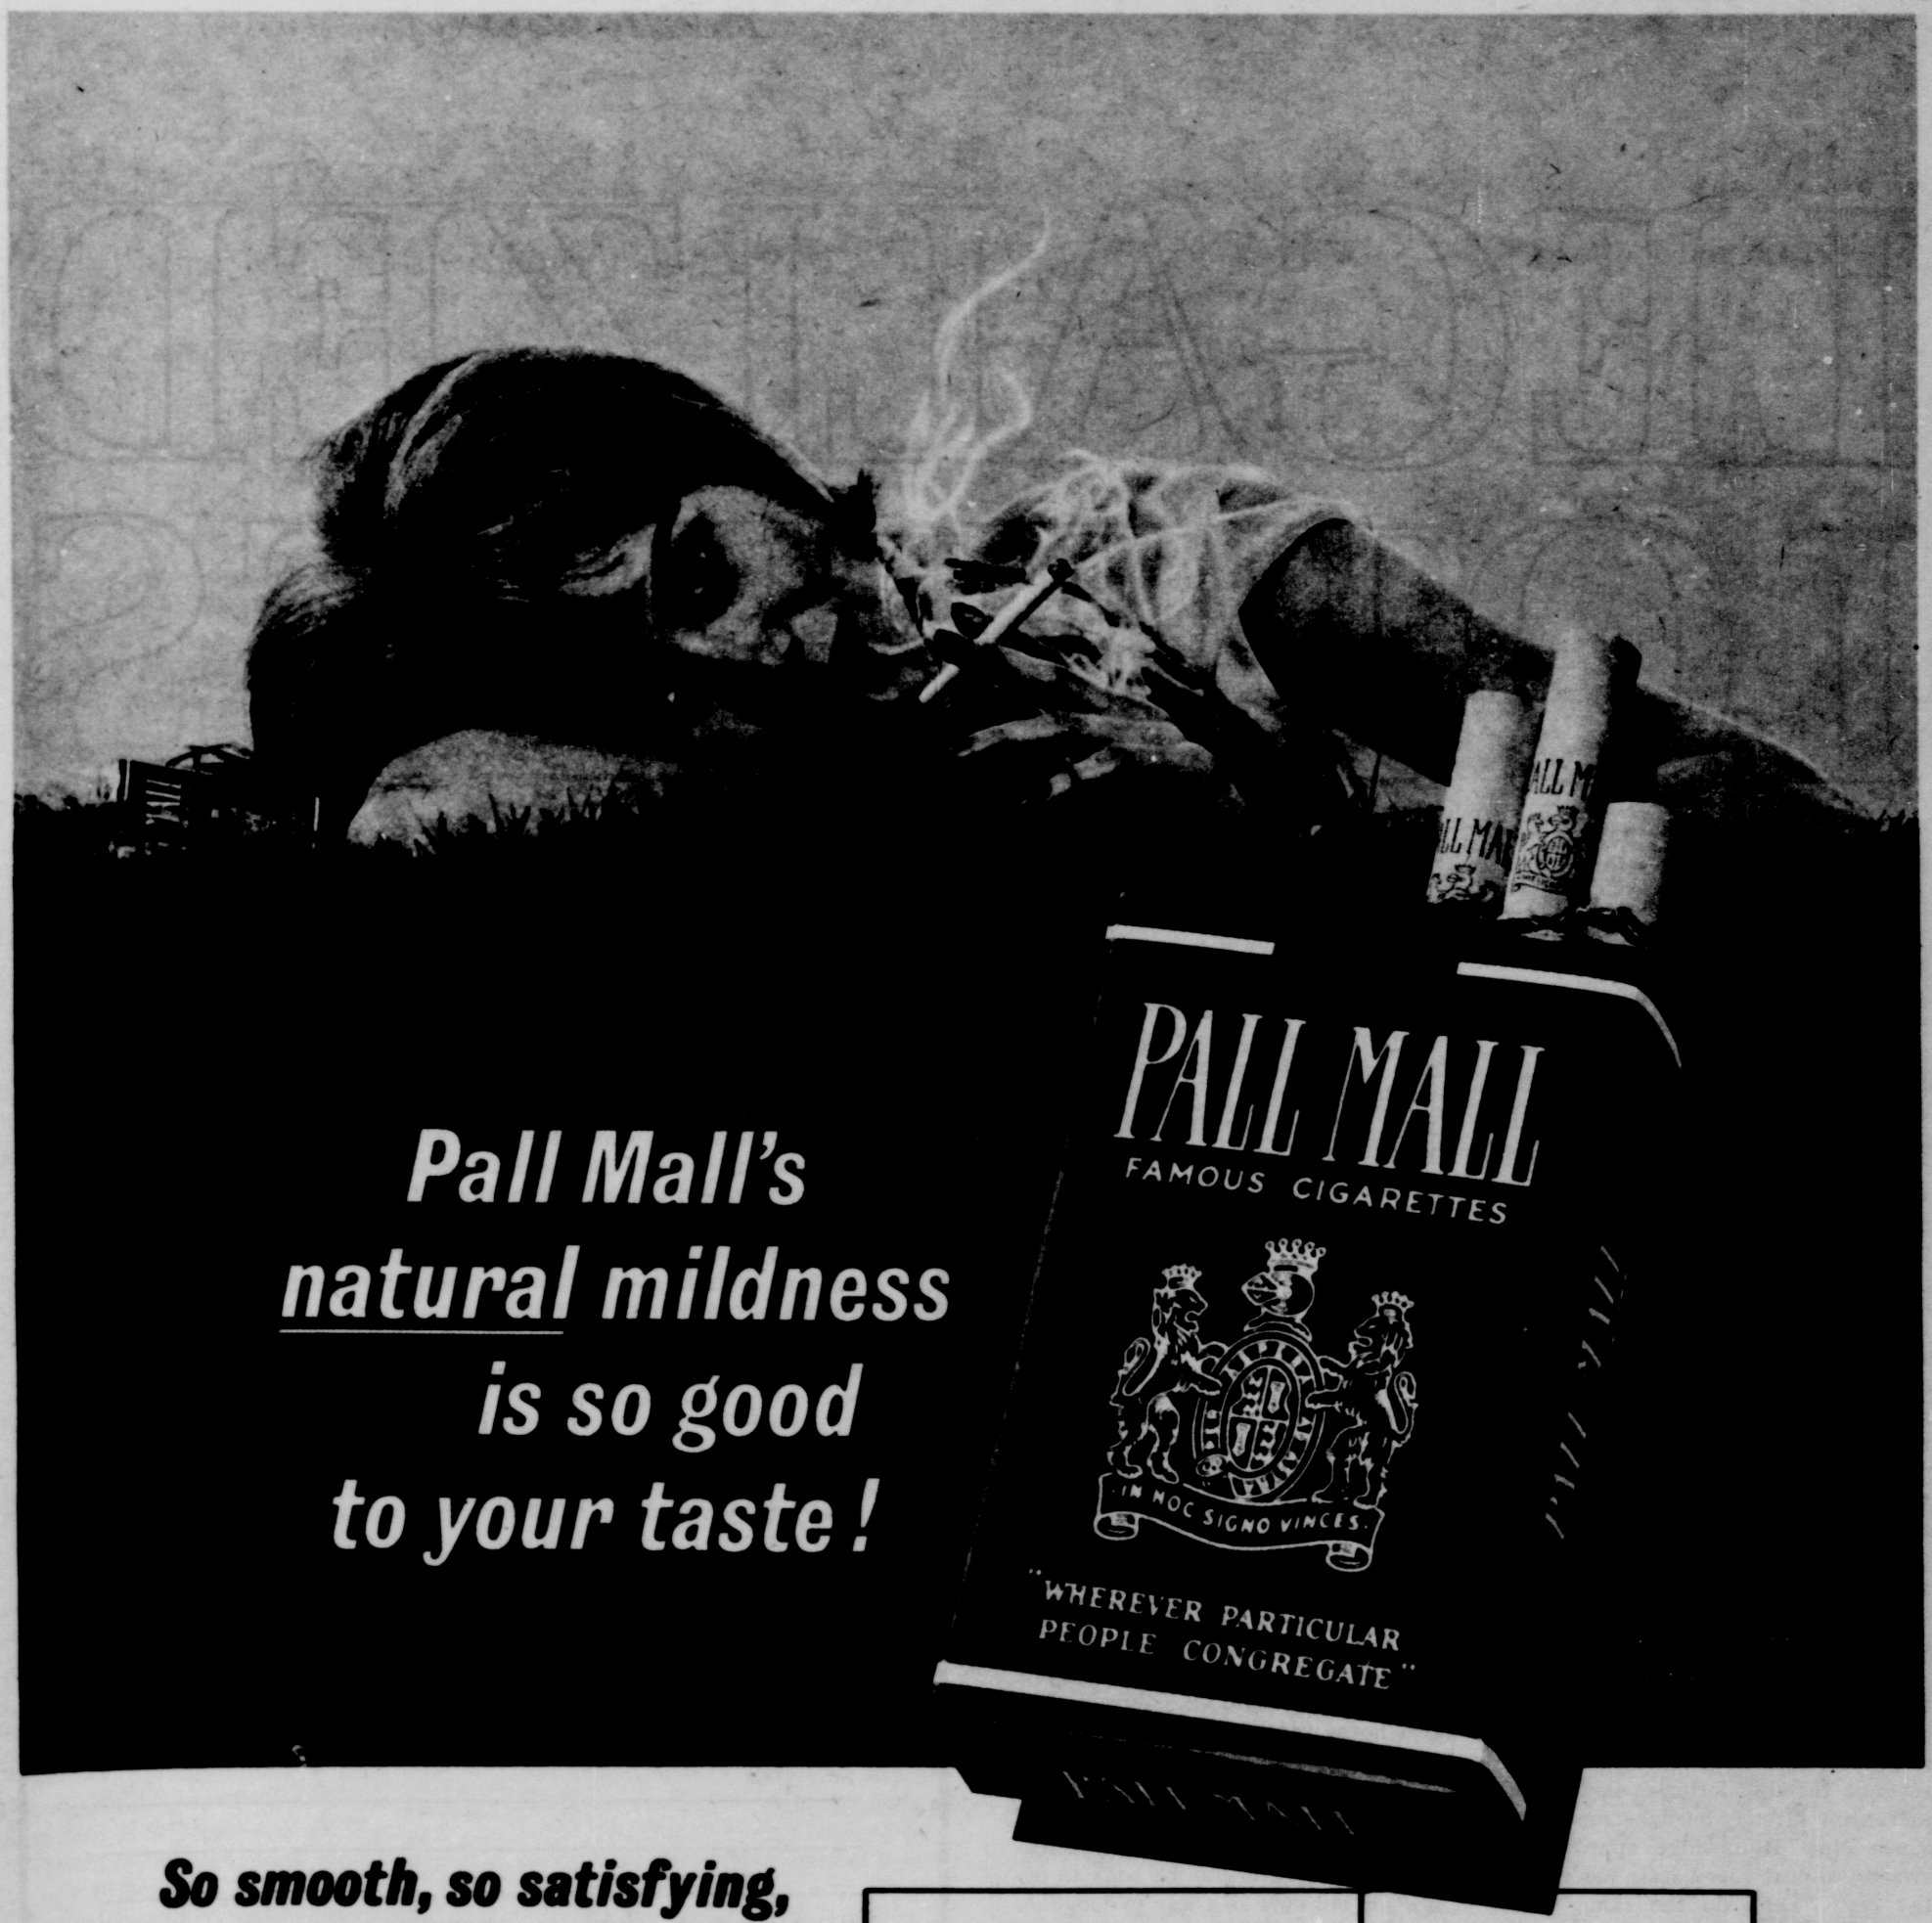

Now, some 40 years later, many observers feel that a handsome 31-year-old Egyptian named Omar Sharif may duplicate this feat with his portrayal of Sheik Ali in "Lawrence of Arabia." Even before the film was released, he was acclaimed the find of the year—and a new Valentino.

"Ridiculous," Omar commented when I talked with him in Madrid where he was costarring in "The Fall of the Roman Empire," Samuel Bronston's 16-million-dollar production. "The only comparison between the two of us is that we both played sheiks, but Valentino's style of acting went out with the tango."

But there is at least one similarity between the two "sheiks of Araby": their tremendous success with women. Valentino, however, made a mess of his private life when he married Winifred Shaughnessy De Wolf Hudnut before his divorce from his first wife, Jean Acker, was final and thus was arrested for bigamy. Omar Sharif has been much more coolheaded in his relationship with his wife, Faten Hamama, Egypt's No. 1 film star. For instance, she is the reason for his being in movies in the first place.

A director friend offered Omar the lead in an Egyptian film, dependent upon the approval of the feminine star, Faten. "After the producer okayed the test," Omar recalled, "he took me to Faten's house for a cup of tea. She told me to 'play something.' I knew she didn't know English, so I started with the soliloquy from 'Hamlet,' which I had played while at Victoria College in Cairo. Of course, she couldn't understand a word—which is what I had counted on. I figured she would be too embarrassed to admit it. She was—and I got the part."

Omar needn't worry about getting into divorce trouble as Valentino did. In Moslem Egypt, all you have to do to get a divorce is go to court and say three times that you don't want to be married any more. A divorced hus-

LEGALIZED LOTTERIES

By JOHN KENT

WHEN GOV. JOHN W. KING of New Hampshire signed into law a controversial state sweepstakes bill last spring, he expected a lot of pro and con letters. He wasn't disappointed.

One New Hampshire woman wrote King that she was "stunned and sickened" that the Granite State had resorted to gambling to educate its children, and she prayed that the governor would "see the errors of his ways."

But in the same mail came a letter from the woman's husband. He thought the sweepstakes law was a great idea and lauded King for signing it against heavy opposition. Then he added a postscript: "Governor, don't answer this letter."

The division of this couple reflects the sharply divided opinion throughout the country over the wisdom of a government body raising needed revenue through lotteries instead of increasing already-burdensome taxes. Since New Hampshire approved a sweeps, almost every state has heard the cry: "Let's do the same." Already three neighboring states have considered the feasibility of setting up lotteries of their own.

You won't be able to buy a New Hampshire sweeps ticket at least until next spring because voters first must ballot on whether they want tickets sold in their own locality. It will be the first indication on a statewide basis of how the individual New Hampshireman feels about a lottery.

If you were voting, how would you cast your ballot? It is a question that may be raised in your state soon. Would you be in favor of a state-sponsored lottery to raise money if you knew defeat of the measure would mean new or added taxes for you? Before you vote in the FAMILY WEEKLY poll presented on this page, let's review the history of the New Hampshire sweepstakes and the pro and con arguments advanced during the legislative debate there last spring.

New Hampshire has a $94-million budget—but no state income tax or sales tax. Most of its revenue, $26 million, comes from levies on liquor, tobacco, and horse racing. Schools are supported almost entirely by local property taxes and are in desperate need of more state aid.

Sweepstakes proponents claim they can raise at least $4 million a year for education by selling sweeps tickets for no more than $3 apiece on prizes which would total $200,000. The winners would be determined by two horse races run in New Hampshire each year.

NOW HERE ARE the pros and cons: First, New Hampshire educators see the lottery as no boon to education but only as a way to dodge an income tax. Franklin Hollis, chairman of the board of education, says that New Hampshire schools need $20 million, not a possible $4 million, and that a lottery is just a "stopgap measure."

Governor King replies that there is no other way to raise money since a progressive income tax is unconstitutional in New Hampshire and that educational needs are so critical it

SPECIAL FAMILY WEEKLY POLL

Are You in Favor of Legalized Lotteries?

Because of the great interest in the question of a state-operated lottery, both from a moral standpoint and from its possible value in reducing or avoiding added taxes for the individual citizen, FAMILY WEEKLY is conducting this nationwide poll on the subject. The results will be published in a forthcoming issue of FAMILY WEEKLY. OMAR SHARIF

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

WHEN RUDOLPH VALENTINO appeared in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," one of the greatest screen idols of the era was born.

Now, some 40 years later, many observers feel that a handsome 31-year-old Egyptian named Omar Sharif may duplicate this feat with his portrayal of Sheik Ali in "Lawrence of Arabia." Even before the film was released, he was acclaimed the find of the year—and a new Valentino.

"Ridiculous," Omar commented when I talked with him in Madrid where he was costarring in "The Fall of the Roman Empire," Samuel Bronston's 16-million-dollar production. "The only comparison between the two of us is that we both played sheiks, but Valentino's style of acting went out with the tango."

But there is at least one similarity between the two "sheiks of Araby": their tremendous success with women. Valentino, however, made a mess of his private life when he married Winifred Shaughnessy De Wolf Hudnut before his divorce from his first wife, Jean Acker, was final and thus was arrested for bigamy. Omar Sharif has been much more coolheaded in his relationship with his wife, Faten Hamama, Egypt's No. 1 film star. For instance, she is the reason for his being in movies in the first place.

A director friend offered Omar the lead in an Egyptian film, dependent upon the approval of the feminine star, Faten. "After the producer okayed the test," Omar recalled, "he took me to Faten's house for a cup of tea. She told me to 'play something.' I knew she didn't know English, so I started with the soliloquy from 'Hamlet,' which I had played while at Victoria College in Cairo. Of course, she couldn't understand a word—which is what I had counted on. I figured she would be too embarrassed to admit it. She was—and I got the part."

Omar needn't worry about getting into divorce trouble as Valentino did. In Moslem Egypt, all you have to do to get a divorce is go to court and say three times that you don't want to be married any more. A divorced hus-

LEGALIZED LOTTERIES

By JOHN KENT

WHEN GOV. JOHN W. KING of New Hampshire signed into law a controversial state sweepstakes bill last spring, he expected a lot of pro and con letters. He wasn't disappointed.

One New Hampshire woman wrote King that she was "stunned and sickened" that the Granite State had resorted to gambling to educate its children, and she prayed that the governor would "see the errors of his ways."

But in the same mail came a letter from the woman's husband. He thought the sweepstakes law was a great idea and lauded King for signing it against heavy opposition. Then he added a postscript: "Governor, don't answer this letter."

The division of this couple reflects the sharply divided opinion throughout the country over the wisdom of a government body raising needed revenue through lotteries instead of increasing already-burdensome taxes. Since New Hampshire approved a sweeps, almost every state has heard the cry: "Let's do the same." Already three neighboring states have considered the feasibility of setting up lotteries of their own.

You won't be able to buy a New Hampshire sweeps ticket at least until next spring because voters first must ballot on whether they want tickets sold in their own locality. It will be the first indication on a statewide basis of how the individual New Hampshireman feels about a lottery.

If you were voting, how would you cast your ballot? It is a question that may be raised in your state soon. Would you be in favor of a state-sponsored lottery to raise money if you knew defeat of the measure would mean new or added taxes for you? Before you vote in the FAMILY WEEKLY poll presented on this page, let's review the history of the New Hampshire sweepstakes and the pro and con arguments advanced during the legislative debate there last spring.

New Hampshire has a $94-million budget—but no state income tax or sales tax. Most of its revenue, $26 million, comes from levies on liquor, tobacco, and horse racing. Schools are supported almost entirely by local property taxes and are in desperate need of more state aid.

Sweepstakes proponents claim they can raise at least $4 million a year for education by selling sweeps tickets for no more than $3 apiece on prizes which would total $200,000. The winners would be determined by two horse races run in New Hampshire each year.

NOW HERE ARE the pros and cons: First, New Hampshire educators see the lottery as no boon to education but only as a way to dodge an income tax. Franklin Hollis, chairman of the board of education, says that New Hampshire schools need $20 million, not a possible $4 million, and that a lottery is just a "stopgap measure."

Governor King replies that there is no other way to raise money since a progressive income tax is unconstitutional in New Hampshire and that educational needs are so critical it

New Hampshire recently adopted a state-run sweepstakes rather than impose new taxes, and other states are considering a similar step; here are the pros and cons— and a chance to voice your opinion

But is it moral?

Protestant ministers overwhelmingly opposed the measure. The Rev. Hartley T. Grandin, executive director of the New Hampshire council of churches, said the sweeps "put New Hampshire in front in the practice of fiscal irresponsibility."

Episcopal Bishop Charles F. Hall described the measure as a "cheap expedient that would tarnish" the state's good reputation.

WILLIAM LOEB, publisher and president of the Manchester (N.H.) Union Leader, contends that there is nothing immoral about "voluntary taxation"—which includes levies on liquor, horse racing, and tobacco. "No one has to go to the track and bet. No one has to smoke tobacco. No one has to drink. Betting at tracks, smoking, or drinking are not necessities of life . . .

"But how do those who oppose the sweepstakes propose to raise this money? By an involuntary forced tax, of course—either a sales tax, an income tax, or some other kind of levy that people will have to pay, even though it will hurt them dreadfully to do so."

Besides, sweepstakes defenders ask, is gambling itself "immoral"? Lotteries are common in Europe. There's the famous Irish Sweepstakes, for example, and lotteries also are held throughout Scandinavia, in France, Austria, Spain, and Italy. Our own forefathers tried to finance the American Revolution with a lottery. George Washington was an inveterate ticket buyer. When Thomas Jefferson was in financial straits, he proposed a lottery on part of his Monticello estate.

Ah! sweepstakes opponents exclaim. Glad you brought up history—let's look at lottery history in the U. S. Many states had lotteries in the 1800s but ended them because they caused corruption. Louisiana is the most famous case. Lottery officials there grew so powerful they controlled the police, the legislature, and a vice syndicate. Federal regulations had to be enacted to free the state of its sweepstakes masters.

True, but so what? ask the proponents. Louisiana franchised private operators to run its lotteries. Under the New Hampshire setup, a governor-appointed board would run the sweepstakes and be answerable to state authorities.

AND, PROPONENTS add, what about the corruption caused by illegal gambling? Federal authorities believe that $7 billion annually is wagered illegally in this country.

This money helps racketeers to buy into legitimate corporations. It helps them finance a growing narcotics trade and loan-shark businesses. Legal lotteries siphon off some of this corrupting money and channel it into constructive uses.

Publisher Loeb recalls that as a trustee of his church he once asked his minister if he would accept a contribution from a gambling club. The minister replied, "Why, of course! It's been in the devil's hand long enough. It's time that we put it to good use."

But aren't lotteries a form of "soak-the-poor" taxes?

That's what opponents of the sweepstakes claim. Those who can least afford to gamble are most tempted by a lottery and its promise of a "pot of gold." Gambling investigations prove that the numbers racket and similar types of lotteries are most popular in economically depressed neighborhoods; the well-to-do gamble at clubs or on trips to Nevada, the Riviera, or swank race tracks. The opponents claim, therefore, that the rich will get out of paying added taxes by shifting the fiscal burden to those who are least able to shoulder it.

Backers of the sweeps have arguments against all these points. First, they believe that poor people who insist on wagering seek a form of gambling with a quicker payoff than lotteries. Secondly, they point out that the same persons who deride lotteries often advocate a sales tax as an alternative, and they ask: "Is a sales tax any easier on the poor? The poor pay as much tax on bread, milk, and other necessities of life as the rich man. At least under a lottery, the poor have the option of not paying the tax."

ARE LOTTERIES LEGAL? That is the crucial question of the future. Ministers have threatened to test New Hampshire's law in the state courts. But interstate legal problems may present New Hampshire with an even greater headache. The state has only about 350,000 residents eligible to buy sweeps tickets (you must be 21 or over), hardly enough to raise a net profit of $4 million. Obviously, the state expects most of its money to come from out-of-staters.

Yet New Hampshire cannot mail tickets to out-of-state buyers because it is against Federal postal regulations. Its newspapers cannot carry information about the lottery if they are to be mailed; even its radio stations are hamstrung by law from promoting the lottery. Both Federal and state officials in the New England area have promised to prosecute any person carrying lottery tickets across state lines. And in Washington, D.C., there looms Attorney General Robert Kennedy, a relentless foe of gambling. These problems lead Reverend Grandin to say: "I only hope the inherent difficulties and pitfalls of a state-operated sweepstakes will become so apparent that it will never be put into operation."

BUT LOTTERY backers are equally hopeful that these problems can be solved. Attorney General Kennedy has never prosecuted individual holders of Irish sweeps tickets, for example. Governor King has suggested that out-of-staters could visit New Hampshire, buy a lottery ticket, and deposit it with the state. And even if they did carry the ticket across state lines, how could authorities set up roadblocks and search travelers without acting unconstitutionally?

These are some of the lottery arguments that made New Hampshire a hot spot during the past cold winter. And they are bound to steam up tempers across the land as other states consider adopting a lottery as a possible solution to their growing financial problems. How do you feel about it? How would you vote on the question of a legalized lottery if your state ever considers the possibility of following the example set by New Hampshire?

By The Rev. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Author of "The Power of Positive Thinking," "Stay Alive All Your Life," "A Guide to Confident Living," and "The Amazing Results of Positive Thinking"

THERE HAVE BEEN many inspirational moments in my life, some of which have been re-created in Frank Ross' biographical film, "The Story of Norman Peale," and in my book, The Power of Positive Thinking.

But, ironically, it was the great success of that book which caused me my greatest suffering—and led to the most inspirational moment of my life. Because of what I said in the book, I was accused of sugar-coating religion. And since the most vitriolic and hostile reactions came from ministers and professors of theology, the pressure on me mounted to the point where I decided I should quit the ministry.

Filled with doubts, I went to visit my father, who was a country preacher. "Don't be a fool," he told me. "I know that church-going people in small towns need you. Don't let the stuffed shirts in the big city drive you away from the church."

My father died a short time later. As we stood in front of his grave, my stepmother remarked, "Before he died, your father said: 'Tell Norman that he preaches true Christianity. Tell him to give no heed to those jackasses who are simply jealous of the fact that he sells some books. Tell him to get himself out of the picture and get Jesus Christ back into it. Tell him a Peale never quits!' "

But I was still ready to quit. His words had given me only a temporary lift; in my heart the doubts continued. I felt rejected, a discredit to my church, no longer fit to serve God. Unless I quit I would give a bad reputation to the ministry as a whole.

This was still my attitude a couple of weeks later. It was late on a Saturday night. I was still up but hadn't even prepared a sermon for the following morning. Instead, I was thinking how I should go about resigning. In fact, I was actually drafting a letter of resignation! About 3 a.m. I received a call from a stranger. This seemed odd because I had an unlisted telephone number.

The man's voice was insistent. "I hate to call you at this time of night, but my wife would like you to come over here. I'm a doctor, but we need a spiritual doctor."

I thought to myself: it doesn't make much difference anyway because I'm all through, but aloud I said, "If I called you and said a member of my family was sick, I'm sure you would come to see him. I'll be right over."

I threw on my coat and didn't even bother to put on a tie, which is quite unlike me. When I arrived at the doctor's house, he said in a very unemotional way, "My little girl is going to die. I'm a medical man, and I know there's no hope. But my wife has a lingering belief in prayer, and this is pretty hard for her to take. So I agreed that you could come here to say a prayer."

I asked if he had any faith in prayer, and he said, "Not in circumstances like this."

I went upstairs to his little girl's room—she was about 9 or 10. I was very unsure of myself: I'm no wonder worker, no healer.

BUT THE DOCTOR'S WIFE believed I could heal the child. I told her we were just going to put the little girl in the hands of God and that she had to let the child go and not hang onto her, even in her own mind. "Actually the child doesn't belong to you at all. She belongs to God. You are only an agent into whose care she has been placed. Whatever God's will is for the child, accept it and try to realize that He can do no wrong."

The mother knelt down by the bed, and I knelt down with her. The husband sat off to one side. To my surprise, after a while I became aware that he was kneeling by the bed, too. The three of us joined hands. I have always noticed that when people join hands in a crisis like this, they seem to create a circuit with God in the midst of them. I suddenly had a feeling of God's presence.

Hour after hour the woman stayed on her knees. I remained with her most of the time. After a while, the husband got up again and walked around restlessly. Finally it was morning. The mother went over to the window and opened the curtains, letting sunshine pour into the room. As she did this, the little girl stirred. Quick as a flash the father shot across the room to examine her.

"SOMETHING has happened," he exclaimed, tears streaming down his cheeks. "She has taken a turn for the better!" He was so elated that he hit me on the shoulder and punched me in the chest.

Then he looked at me in a curious way. "No matter what happened tonight, I still don't believe in your God," he said.

"But I believe in Him," I answered. Suddenly my faith had been restored.

Then I realized that it was morning and that I should be getting down to the church even though I had a stubbly beard and looked terrible. "Is there anything—anything at all I can do for you?" the father asked.

"Yes," I said. "You can lend me a necktie."

My heart was ready to overflow as I left that happy family and headed toward my church. I hadn't prepared a sermon, but under what better conditions could I preach than when my heart was so full of gratitude? I felt inspired, exalted.

That day I decided I had been foolish to let criticism get under my skin.

From then on, I banished all thought of giving up the ministry.

I asked if he had any faith in prayer, and he said, "Not in circumstances like this."

I went upstairs to his little girl's room—she was about 9 or 10. I was very unsure of myself: I'm no wonder worker, no healer.

BUT THE DOCTOR'S WIFE believed I could heal the child. I told her we were just going to put the little girl in the hands of God and that she had to let the child go and not hang onto her, even in her own mind. "Actually the child doesn't belong to you at all. She belongs to God. You are only an agent into whose care she has been placed. Whatever God's will is for the child, accept it and try to realize that He can do no wrong."

The mother knelt down by the bed, and I knelt down with her. The husband sat off to one side. To my surprise, after a while I became aware that he was kneeling by the bed, too. The three of us joined hands. I have always noticed that when people join hands in a crisis like this, they seem to create a circuit with God in the midst of them. I suddenly had a feeling of God's presence.

Hour after hour the woman stayed on her knees. I remained with her most of the time. After a while, the husband got up again and walked around restlessly. Finally it was morning. The mother went over to the window and opened the curtains, letting sunshine pour into the room. As she did this, the little girl stirred. Quick as a flash the father shot across the room to examine her.

"SOMETHING has happened," he exclaimed, tears streaming down his cheeks. "She has taken a turn for the better!" He was so elated that he hit me on the shoulder and punched me in the chest.

Then he looked at me in a curious way. "No matter what happened tonight, I still don't believe in your God," he said.

"But I believe in Him," I answered. Suddenly my faith had been restored.

Then I realized that it was morning and that I should be getting down to the church even though I had a stubbly beard and looked terrible. "Is there anything—anything at all I can do for you?" the father asked.

"Yes," I said. "You can lend me a necktie."

My heart was ready to overflow as I left that happy family and headed toward my church. I hadn't prepared a sermon, but under what better conditions could I preach than when my heart was so full of gratitude? I felt inspired, exalted.

That day I decided I had been foolish to let criticism get under my skin.

From then on, I banished all thought of giving up the ministry.

GUESTS with a Trout Catch

Fiesta Melon Mold

1 cup orange juice
5 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
½ cup water
½ cup sugar
¼ cup lime juice
1¾ cups watermelon juice (press pulp against sides of a fine sieve to extract juice)
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ to 1 cup cantaloupe balls
¾ to 1 cup honeydew melon balls

1. Soften gelatin in the orange juice; set aside.

2. Mix water and sugar together in a small saucepan. Bring rapidly to boiling, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Boil 3 min.

3. Remove from heat; add softened gelatin and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Blend in the remaining fruit juices and salt.

4. Chill gelatin until slightly thicker than the consistency of thick, unbeaten egg white.

5. Mix in the melon balls. Turn mixture into a 1½-qt. mold, which has been rinsed with cold water. Chill until firm.

6. To serve, unmold onto a chilled plate and, if desired, accompany with bowls of sweetened whipped cream and chopped salted pecans.

About 8 servings

Lemon Sponge Cake Squares

6 egg yolks (about ½ cup)
1 teaspoon lemon extract
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1½ cups sugar
1½ cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup water
6 egg whites (about ⅞ cup)
½ teaspoon cream of tartar

1. Line bottom of a 13x9½x2-in. pan with waxed paper; set aside.

2. Beat egg yolks, lemon extract, and grated peel with one-third of the sugar until blended. Add remaining sugar gradually, beating thoroughly after each addition. Beat until very thick and lemon colored.

3. Sift the flour, baking powder, and salt together. Alternately add dry ingredients in fourths and water in thirds to egg yolk mixture, beating only until blended after each of the additions.

4. Using clean beater, beat egg whites until frothy; add cream of tartar and beat until stiff, but not dry, peaks are formed (peaks remain standing when beater is slowly lifted upright). Gently fold into egg yolk-flour mixture and turn batter into pan.

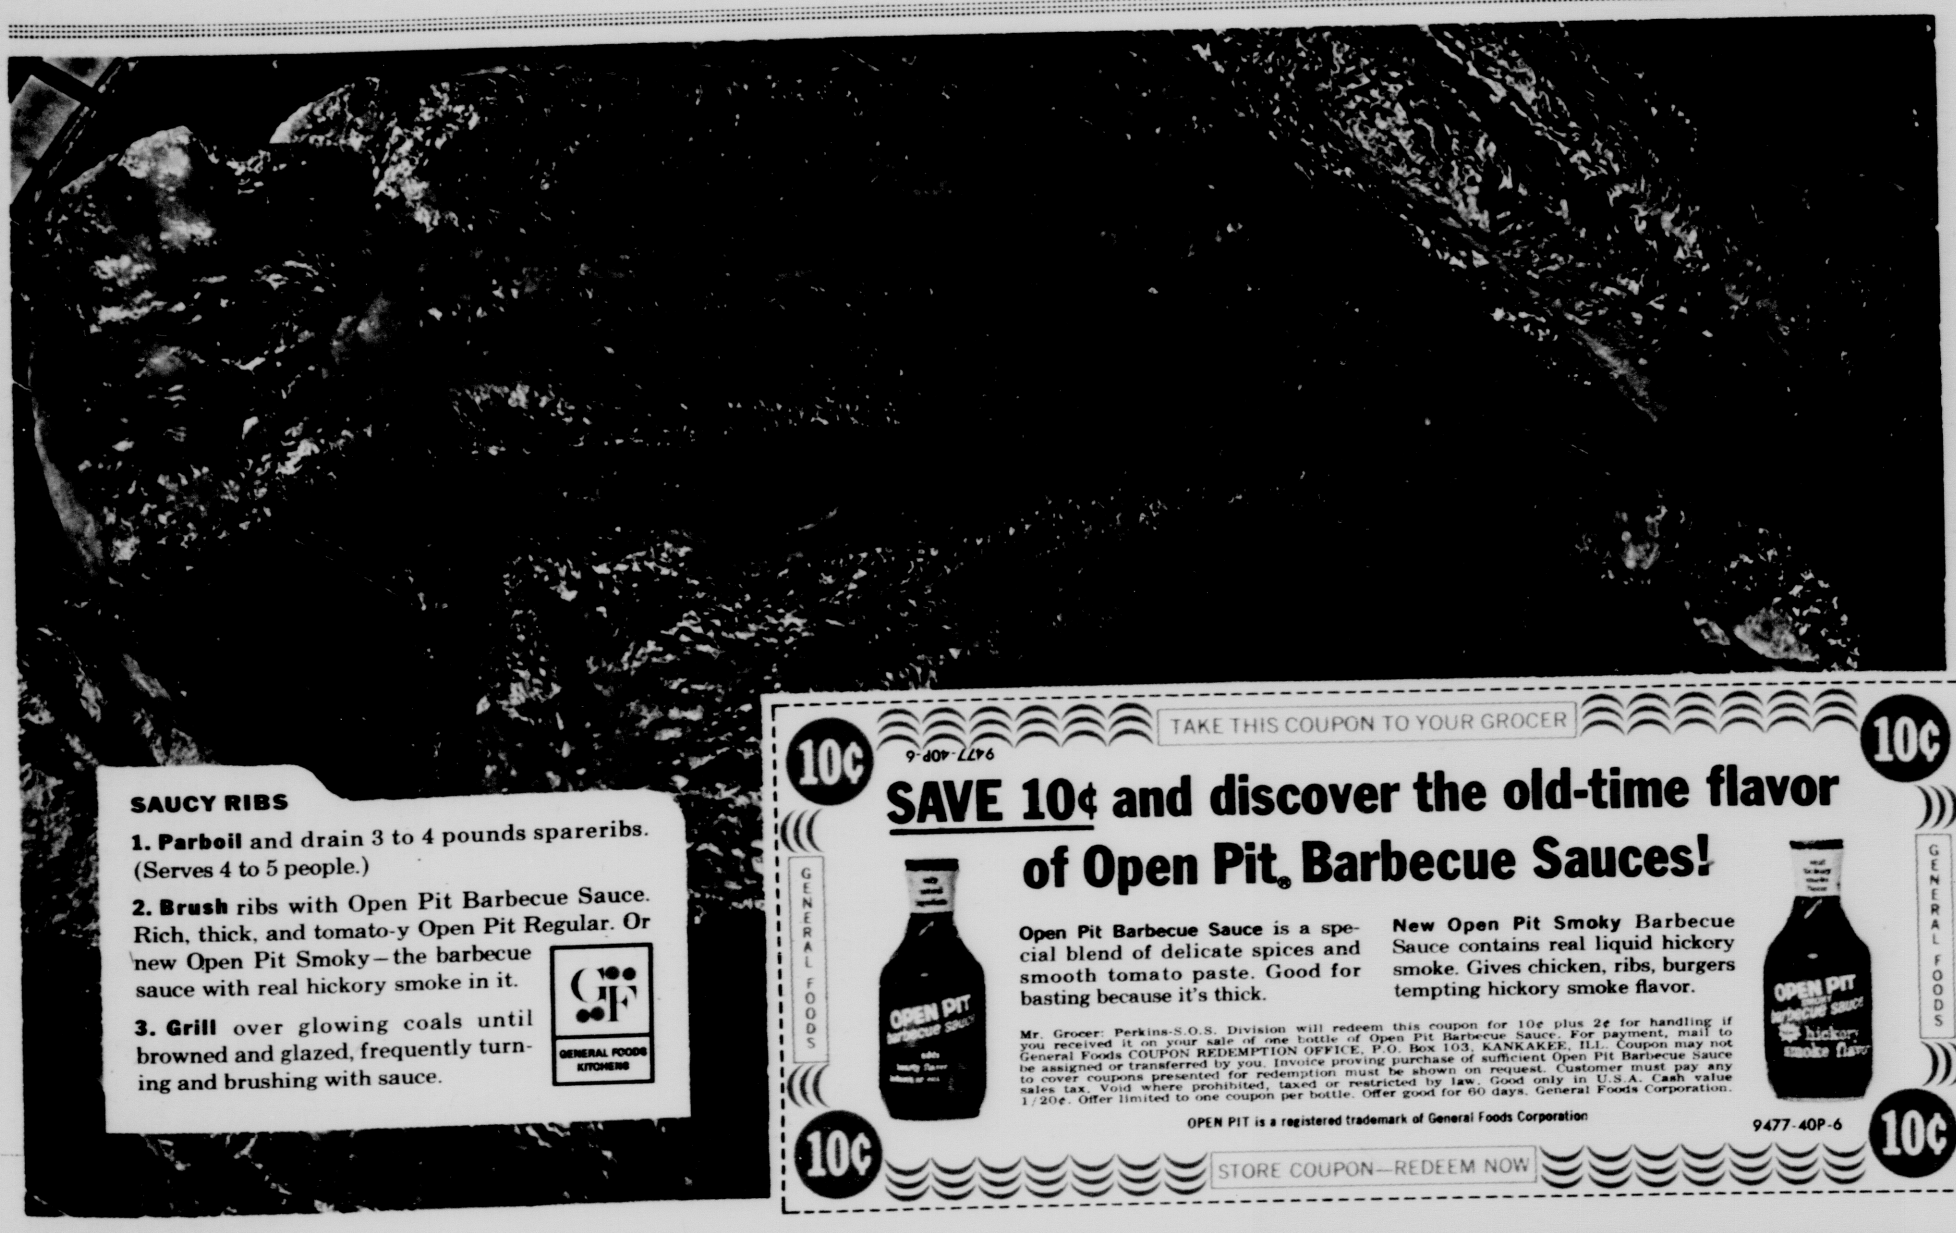

5. Bake at 325°F 35 to 40 min., or until cake surface springs back when lightly touched at center. Remove from oven to cooling rack and let stand 10 min. in pan.

6. Run a knife around sides of pan to loosen cake. Turn onto cooling rack and immediately peel off waxed paper. Cool completely. Cut into squares for serving. One 13x9-in. cake

Lemon Sponge Layer Cake

Line the bottoms of three 9-in. round layer-cake pans with waxed paper. Follow recipe for Lemon Sponge Cake Squares. Divide batter equally in pans. Bake at 325°F 15 to 18 min. Fill and frost the cooled layers. Three-layer 9-in. cake

For Filling and Frosting: Blend fresh or frozen (thawed and well drained) raspberries with sweetened whipped cream. Spread generously between cake layers. Frost sides and top of cake with additional sweetened whipped cream and decorate with a circle of raspberries, if desired.

SAUCY RIBS

1. Parboil and drain 3 to 4 pounds spareribs. (Serves 4 to 5 people.)

2. Brush ribs with Open Pit Barbecue Sauce. Rich, thick, and tomato-y Open Pit Regular. Or new Open Pit Smoky—the barbecue sauce with real hickory smoke in it.

3. Grill over glowing coals until browned and glazed, frequently turning and brushing with sauce.

Are They Really "FOLK SINGERS"?

The purists say no, the public says yes, and it all makes for a box-office boom

By JACK RYAN

MORE THAN 10,000 persons left a large Eastern stadium on a recent summer night. Most were college types with a sprinkling of well-dressed teenagers and a few "older people"—30ish, you know.

They had just heard a concert, but from the peevish arguing it might well have been a closely fought football game or heated political rally. The music, however, was folk, and it is sometimes difficult to determine which folk-music fanatics enjoy most, listening to it or debating it.

"Peter, Paul, and Mary? Bah, strictly commercial. Songs aren't from the people, not grass roots. Just a good show-biz trio put together by a booking agent!"

That is a folk-music argument not only about Peter, Paul, and Mary but about many of the new faces and new sounds in the oldest of musical genres. Folk music started catching on more than a decade ago, but until recently the public was satisfied with traditional singers—Burl Ives, the Weavers, Josh White—and traditional songs passed down through generations from Elizabethan England, Appalachia America, and other national or ethnic groups.

Nowadays, though, the public can't get enough of the music, so innovators both in style and content have come on the scene. With them has come the "purist-versus-popular" debate at teen-agers' soda fountains, college rathskellers, and in the big-city coffeehouses.

In many ways, Peter, Paul, and Mary typify the focal point of the discussion and the "new look." In the No. 1 musical fad, they rank No. 1 in popularity with such hits as "Puff, the Magic Dragon" (written by Peter), "The Lemon Tree," and "Five Hundred Miles." But a highly articulate and intelligent trio, they don't need their millions of fans to defend them. If Mary's winsome charm and Paul's comic flair can't win you over, Peter's polysyllabic dissertations will overwhelm you:

"FOLK MUSIC is communicable emotion allowing the audience to participate in a richly rewarding interpersonal relationship with the performer, rather than remain spectators . . . Yes, we translate songs into terms of today but without destroying their feelings. Folk music has always undergone in transmission certain mutations . . . Ethnic groups, for instance, lost individual fusion in America's culture because of the dispersion of common ideas through communications; their music, too, changed, but essential authenticity remained."

In other words, Mary says, "We sing for the times. Folk singers always have been contemporary and popular—balladeers, minstrels, street singers. They made the music fit the time and audience. So do we."

Paul adds: "There are 'reporters' who bring a tape recorder into the mountains to capture an age-old song, then sing it almost exactly as the mountaineers sang it. They are 'reporters' and good ones. But we are interpreters, creators. We believe in doing more than imitating."

What the purists sometimes overlook is the fact that while Peter, Paul, and Mary have brought something new to folk singing, they are not newcomers themselves. They learned the rules of their art before tampering with them.

As the precocious son of a New York City attorney and schoolteacher, Peter Yarrow's interest in music was so great his mother had to discourage it. "She wanted me to go out and play ball—but I wanted only to play the violin," Peter says. "I began playing the guitar in high school because everybody else did, but it wasn't until I got to Cornell University that I discovered I was a good folk singer.

"On one occasion, Josh White was late for a concert, and I filled in. This gave me a chance to compare my performance with that of a professional. The result was not unfavorable to me. Later I left Cornell and got my first job in a Greenwich Village coffeehouse by simply telling the manager I could make money for him. I did."

Paul Stookey's father was a salesman who often took his wife and son on road trips. To pass the time, Mr. Stookey would sing. One day little Paul joined in in perfect harmony, although he'd never heard harmony. "My dad wasn't especially musical, but he gave me my first guitar, and we'd sing together. When I started writing songs, my mother, a writer, would be my critic."

PAUL PERFORMED in high school and at the University of Michigan and organized a rock 'n' roll band for tours. After college he settled in New York City as a young business executive who visited the Village for coffeehouse chess games. One night, almost on impulse, he asked the manager if he needed entertainers. The answer was yes, and soon Paul was performing nightly and dragging himself to work during the day. "I had to decide on entertaining or business. It was entertaining." Soon he was appearing with such headliners as Joan Baez and doing comedy at a good salary in Village clubs.

Mary Allin Travers first remembers singing on a Louisville picket line when she was five. Both her parents were newspaper workers who later moved to Greenwich Village, where kids sang folk music instead of playing hopscotch. "Every Sunday I'd take my collie to Washington Square, where everybody sang. I would have little wars trying to outsing them. I knew Josh White's kids, and I'd go home with them after school and dig the whole folk scene. In high school I sang with Pete Seeger and made three records with him."

She was a "victim of progressive education," however, and seemed lost in young adulthood. Friends literally dragged her to a Broadway tryout, where she won a job in a short-lived musical. This brought an offer for a folk-singing job but, because she couldn't play the guitar, the manager called in a partner. He was Paul Stookey.

About this time Peter Yarrow was looking for a girl singing partner, and Al Grossman, one of the behind-the-scenes masterminds of the folk-singing business, suggested Mary. The result was not a duo but Peter, Paul, and Mary.

Despite new riches, Peter still lives with his mother in the Manhattan apartment he grew up in. Mary, divorced and the mother of a three-year-old daughter, Erica, lives in an expensive East Side apartment and buys clothes at the exclusive shop where she was once a switchboard operator. Paul, bon vivant of the group, also has elaborate "diggings" and an even more stylish wardrobe than when he shocked Village beatniks by appearing in Brooks Brothers apparel.

All three appear totally undisturbed by success ("I'm not a star," says Mary indignantly, "I'm a folk singer!") or the controversy they excite. They are doing what they like best—and, more important, what audiences like best.

Late Vacation Memo from Mom

Boys, up till now I've been a sport;
Fired the missiles, launched the rockets,
Reloaded carbines in the fort,
Rescued soggy frogs from pockets.

I've baited hooks beside the lake,
And meekly served as substitute
For children wild enough to take
An early-morning paper route.

I've kept a black snake for a pet
With equanimity and grace—
But kids, you're going to have to get
Somebody else for second base.

Golfers were astonished to see a young girl in a wedding gown run across the fairway and berate a man on the 15th green. "George," she said, tears in her eyes, "how could you? Why did you leave me waiting at the church?"

Very patiently the golfer replied, "I told you—only if it rains!" —John Shotwell

A man spotted a piece of string tied around his neighbor's finger and asked what it was for.

"My wife put it there so I wouldn't forget to mail a letter," he replied.

"And did you mail it?"

The neighbor shook his head. "She forgot to give it to me." —V. D. Palat

A father was shopping for a birthday present for his little daughter. "Here's a remarkable doll," the saleslady said. "All you have to do is lay her down and she closes her eyes just like a real little girl."

"I can see you've never had a real little girl," the father sighed.

Doctor-approved bulk stimulant helps keep you comfortably on schedule as no ordinary laxative can!

As we grow older, our systems may often need outside aid to help maintain a normal regularity pattern. Continued use of strong drug laxatives can be irritating, even dangerous. That's why many doctors recommend SARAKA, the pure, all-vegetable bulk stimulant laxative for middle age and over. SARAKA supplies the moist, bland bulk that is so essential to healthy bowel function. And only SARAKA has a gentle stimulant action to help ease this bulk through your system plus Vitamin B_1.

Special note to weight watchers: Lack of sufficient bulk in 900 calorie liquids can lead to constipation. If this occurs, supplement your daily diet with all-vegetable SARAKA.

Trout Amandine with Pineapple

Brush 6 whole trout inside and out with lemon juice. Coat with flour. Heat 6 tablespoons butter or margarine in a large skillet. Add trout and brown on both sides. Season with salt and pepper. Meanwhile, heat 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in another skillet over low heat. Add ½ cup slivered blanched almonds and stir occasionally until golden. Sprinkle 6 canned pineapple slices with paprika. Place pineapple in skillet with almonds and brown lightly on both sides. Arrange trout on a warm serving platter and top with pineapple slices and almonds. Garnish platter with water cress sprigs and lemon wedges. 6 servings

Bacon-Nut Corn Sticks

- 1 cup flour
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup yellow corn meal
- ⅓ cup coarsely chopped pecans
- 8 slices bacon, diced, pan-broiled, and drained on absorbent paper
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 5 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted and cooled

1. Blend the first five ingredients together. Thoroughly mix in the corn meal, nuts, and pan-broiled bacon pieces.
2. Blend the egg, buttermilk, and butter or margarine together.
3. Make a well in the center of the dry ingredients and add the liquid all at one time. Stir until dry ingredients are just moistened.
4. Spoon mixture into 12 hot, greased cornstick pan sections.
5. Bake at 425°F about 15 min., or until golden brown. 1 doz. corn sticks

Hot Potato Salad

- 6 medium-sized potatoes, cooked, peeled, and cut in ¼-in. slices
- 12 slices bacon, diced
- 1½ cups chopped onion
- 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 1½ tablespoons sugar
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon Accent
- ¼ teaspoon black pepper

1. While preparing potatoes, pan-broil the bacon in a large skillet, reserving 6 tablespoons of the drippings. Set the bacon pieces aside.
2. Return reserved drippings to skillet. Add the onion and cook until transparent, stirring occasionally. Stir in the last five ingredients and heat mixture to boiling.
3. Add the bacon to the potato slices and pour the hot dressing over all; toss lightly to coat evenly. About 6 servings

When your Hartford Agent comes calling

YOU CAN BE SURE HE'S A GOOD MAN REPRESENTING A GOOD COMPANY

What's a good agent? A good agent isn't just a salesman, he's an advisor. He takes the time to sit down with you and go over your personal situation. He explains the types of insurance available and shows you how the newest kinds of coverage can help you get the most protection for your dollar. After delivering the policies you select, he doesn't stop serving you. He checks with you periodically to make sure your coverage is up to date, and he's just a phone call away when you have a claim or a question.

What's a good company? A good insurance company has a reputation for handling claims fairly and promptly. It can give you service in every state and Canada. A good company offers all the kinds of insurance you need—for your home, car, life and health. It has the facilities to provide and properly service "package" plans that can give you more protection for your money.

When you do business with The Hartford Group through a Hartford Agent, you get the ideal combination of insurance coverage supported by personal service from an established local businessman. When you travel, you will have at your service Hartford offices in every state and Canada.

You will find a well-insured feeling waiting for you at the nearby Hartford Agents who are listed below.

Quips and Quotes

Late Vacation Memo from Mom

Boys, up till now I've been a sport;
Fired the missiles, launched the rockets,
Reloaded carbines in the fort,
Rescued soggy frogs from pockets.

I've baited hooks beside the lake,
And meekly served as substitute
For children wild enough to take
An early-morning paper route.

I've kept a black snake for a pet
With equanimity and grace—
But kids, you're going to have to get
Somebody else for second base.

—Betty Billipp

Golfers were astonished to see a young girl in a wedding gown run across the fairway and berate a man on the 15th green. "George," she said, tears in her eyes, "how could you? Why did you leave me waiting at the church?"

*Very patiently the golfer replied, "I told you—*only if it rains!" —John Shotwell

A man spotted a piece of string tied around his neighbor's finger and asked what it was for.

"My wife put it there so I wouldn't forget to mail a letter," he replied.

"And did you mail it?"

DAVE HUFFINE

"Mr. Harrison is giving me a dime for every day I water his lawn while he's away."

A father was shopping for a birthday present for his little daughter. "Here's a remarkable doll," the saleslady said. "All you have to do is lay her down and she closes her eyes just like a real little girl."

"I can see you've never had a real little girl," the father sighed.

SARAKA SOLVES THE PROBLEM OF "AFTER 45" IRREGULARITY

Doctor-approved bulk stimulant helps keep you comfortably on schedule as no ordinary laxative can!

As we grow older, our systems may often need outside aid to help maintain a normal regularity pattern. Continued use of strong drug laxatives can be irritating, even dangerous. That's why many doctors recommend SARAKA, the pure, all-vegetable bulk stimulant laxative for middle age and over. SARAKA supplies the moist, bland bulk that is so essential to healthy bowel function. And only SARAKA has a gentle stimulant action to help ease this bulk through your system plus Vitamin B_1.

Special note to weight watchers: Lack of sufficient bulk in 900 calorie liquids can lead to constipation. If this occurs, supplement your daily diet with all-vegetable SARAKA.
